COBOURG, 7th May, 1858.

St. Sylvester occupies much attention at preent. Unfortunately this springs not from its worthiness, but from its disreputable election O'Farrell, the sitting member, has been proved guilty of the most barefaced fraud. The returns from the many parishes were against him. as the hour for closing the poll draw near; and his friends determined to manufacture two thousand votes in St. Sylvester. The deputy returning officer testifies that O'Farrell's supporters assaulted the polling booth and compelled him to flee for his life; that they accomplished their purpose in filling many sheets with names in his absence, and then backed by O'Farrell demanded that these sheets be certified. On his refusing to be a party to the fraud he was threatened with death .- a threat which he seemed to fear would be fulfilled. It is worth the trouble to trace backwards to its apparent origin, the shameful fraud to which we have referred. A Protestant lost his life in St. Sylvester a year or two ago, a party of Irish Roman Catholics being his murderers. After much expense to the Government several of them were apprehended, put upon trial, proved to be guilty, and-acquit ted! O'Farrell was the counsel for the murderers. Time rolled by and this lawyer becomes a candidate for the honor of representing the County in which St. Sylvester is situated. The murderers and their friends, very naturally, give him their support, which means to Irish Roman Catholics, and to some Protestants too, for that matter, the use, in favour of the candidate, of clubs, violence, threats, and such like, as well as of votes. The men of St. Sylvester are not all Romanists, and although they were, St. Sylvester is not the County of Lotbiniere. Irish clubs in Irish hands are potent persuasives, but not omnipotent. The opposing candidate has his friends greater in number. They poll more is assisted by a number of ready scribes, and two thousand names are soon written, for many raged in the St. Sylvester election? Who can wonder at O'Farrell, the defender of murde ers, becoming O'Farrell the abettor of election forgeries? Who is surprised at escaped murderers adding riot and fraud to their other crimes for the sake of their defender? But wherefore this delay on the part of the House to dismiss O'Farrell from a seat he has no right to hold? The Boston Traveller says: A few days ago one of the visitors of the Provident Association, at the West End, was applied to, to assist a man who was found in abject poverty in a miserable garret, without food or decent clothing. Food was provided for him and a change of clothing, by the benevolent visitor. Only a few years ago this same man was a New York merchant, with at least $100,000, living in a splendid residence, and riding in a princely carriage.

A QUEEN'S VISIT .- It is intimated that the Queen of England is contemplating a visit to her Canadian Possessions. In case she carries into effect this purpose, as we trust she will, the "sovereign" people of the United States, will give Her Majesty's a cordial invitation and hearty welcome to their country, to land that was once a dependency of the British crown, and is still one with England in language, freedom and religion. Our people would be proud to pay honor to a sovereign who has adorned every station she has been called to fill, and has not been more illustrious as a Queen than exemplary as 4 wife and mother. The virtues that adorn her domestic life, add lustre to her throne. We shall therefore hail with satisfaction the intelligence that the Queen is coming. - New York Observer.

The Private Life of the Queen at Balmoral. The following pleasing account of what may be called the inner life of royalty at Balmoral, was given at the annual of the Evangical Alliance in London, by Mr. J. A. Nine men belonging to one small village are now imprisoned for meeting to worship God! This is the liberty granted by Romanists when they have the power. They allege that these meetings are political under the clock of religion but are utterly incapable of proving the state of our churches and the cause generally what they say. She remained in this state until Sunday evening. She then turned to one of her friends, and ealling her by name, said, "Repent. > Alarming Signs of Sickness. A Prediction of a Sickly Summer.

WE refer our readers to the following extract from a medical journal known as the Moving World, published by Radway & Co., the inventers of the celebrated R. R. R. remedies. Dr. Radway's experience in the treatment of malorious and infectious diseases n touly in our own country, but in South America and the West Indies, and the wonderful achievements of his Ready Relief, both as a preventative and cure of Yellow Fever, Cholera, and other diseases of a violent character, entitles his prediction to the serious consideration of the people. It is well known in this City that in 1849 Radway's Ready Relief was the most successful remedy employed in the treatment of Cholera, and that in 1853, when Yellow Fever raged in its most violent form in the State of Mississippi, Dr. Fred B. Page, with the use of this remedy, gained a complete victory over the pestilence. We therefore recommend our readers to the perusal of the following article from the May number of the Moving World: AN ALARM-FORESHADOWING OF TERRIBLE SICKNESS-PREVALENCE OF MALARIOUS DISEASES.—As guardins of the Shetland, Merinos, Lambs' Wool, Regattas, and other Haif Hose;

All persons owing balances of accounts to the late firm of F. A. Cosgrove & Co., are requested to pay the same on or before the First day of August

The heavy rains which drenched the earth the past spilog, followed, as we predict by a hot scorching summer, cannot find that they can be suited in everything required for fall to create general sickness, and quicken into existence, malarious diseases of the most malignant and violent character. The hot rays of the absorbing sun will summon from its marshy bed the noxious vapors and boisonous exhalations of decayed vegetable and decomposed matter, planted in the soil, and nourished by the deluge of the waters and drenching of the rain.

In giving this warning of the sure visitation of these maladies, we likewise point out to the public the means of protection against attacks, and the method of cure. In kadway's Ready Relief and Regulators, you have a Preventive. If any or either of the diseases above-named visit your com-
