THE CHBISTIAN LIFE.

FROM THE GERMAN.

48

It is not difficult for thee A follower of Christ to be ! "Tis true that with the Christian life The natural heart is e'er at strife, Yet grace divine the path will show, Wherein thy faltering feet must go.

Only a little child become As when, within thy carly home, A helpless thing, thy heart did move Responsive to a mother's love; Away with vain complaint and strife, It is not hard, the Christian life !

Thy Father asks alone thy heart, That He may of his grace impart; He wills not thou should'st suffer so, But loooks with pity on thy woe; 'Tis self opposes him alone, This put away-and all is done.

Thus comfort take into thy breast, And calm each anxious doubt to rest; Have faith, and when dark cares arise, And tears of serrow dim thine eyes, Cry_"Father, help my misery !" And He will hear and pity thee.

But patient hold thy soul if thou No instant help receivest now : Though failing oft, believe at length Thou wilt obtain the needed strength ; God will thy child-like faults torgive, And thou his pardoning grace receive.

When darkness covers all the way, On faith alone thy spirit stay, And terrors of the darkest night Shall hever move the or affright; Though all the way seems lost, yet still He will protect thee from all ill.

It is true they do, for the want of a medicine which they are unable to purchase.--The proprietor of the Vegetable Cough Candy has obviated this difficulty by inventing a Medicine compounded of twenty-nine different ingredients, extracted from the Vege-table Kingdom, and sold at a price which will place it with-in the reach of all. It is well known that many ingredients when used singly are inefficacions, but when combined with others are highly salutary. Macer's Vegetable Cough Candy '

Press onward to the light above. So will thy vision clearer prove, And thou in every truth shalt see All thou believest granted thee. O soul, how is the Christian blest, Permitted thus on God to rest !

Awake, my soul, nor more delay Child-like to give thyself away ! My heart, this heavenly rest receive, In peace before thy Maker live ; Throw all thy cares on Him, and he Thine everlasting Friend shall be!

'Tis not an easy thing for thee A follower of Christ to be! So surely with the Christian life The natural heart is e'er at strife, And though we conquer day by day, Yet lurks the foe within alway.

Where'er on earth his feet are led, On serpents must the Christian tread, And ceaseless watch still keep around, Lest they inflict some dead'y wound ; Who dares with careless steps to go, Must pain and disappointment know.

Yet who the toilsome fight would shun, Gr fear the heavenly course to run, Seeing what joy doth here attend. What prize awaits him at the end? Set high your aim, and grace indeed Shall give the skill, the strength you need

Here shalt thou see by faith, and find How love to God can fill the mind ; From earthly bondage break away, And nearer live to God each day; Till even here thy face shall shine With gleams of radience divine!

There shall at once to thee appear What tender love hath led thee here, And God that crown of life shall give, Which they who win the fight receive ; And mortal sense can never know The joys which there forever flow.

Awake, my soul, no more delay From error's night to flee away ! Say not that thou art weak and poor, God is thy strength forevermore. Sweet is the rest that to lows pain-How sweet the rest of Heaven to gain ! W. W. CALDWELL.

Is it Right.

There are some very subtle destinctions made in life, some curious and rather waving lines drawn between questions of right and wrong and expediency. There are also very few who are really willing to test life and actions by the simple question with which we set out, Is it right ? "I don't know as u is best; but I do it." " I know it is rather imprudent; but then I must." "I know it was not exactly best; but still I ventured." So there is some hesitation and doubt, yet be well made; for if a flaw can be picked

Dr. Radway's experience in the treatment of malorious and infectious diseases n touly in our own country, but in South America and the West Indies, and the wonderful achievements of his Ready Relief, both as a preventative and cure of Yellow Fever, Cholera, and other diseases of a violent character, entitles his prediction to the serious consideration of the people. It is well known in this City that in 1849 Radway's Ready Relief was the most successful remedy employed in the treatment of Cholera, and that in 1853, when Yellow Fever raged in its most violent form in the State of Mississippi, Dr. Fred B Page, with the use ef this remedy, gained a complete victory over the pestilence. There are certain laws of life and health given to us; laws of God, binding as the moral taw, and almost as plainly written. We generally know when we transgress them, but as a rule, the conscience is not awake to these transgressions, as to many others. The results are often sad, dangerous, fatal, and the blame is laid on Providence.

Some of these things puzzle me. Through sheer neglect of the common, obvious laws of prudence in a house, the health of a whole family suffers. A fa:al fever breaks out, the natural consequence of breathing poisonous exhalations. One after another dies, in the triumphs of faith ; and the bereaved mourners are wonderfully sustained, and glorify the grace of God, who has sent (permitted ?) this visitation, and then upheld them in the furnace of affliction. Yet the direct cause lay in neglect and carelessness. Was it
