On the death of David, second Son of William and Sarah Dickey, of Cornwallis N. S., aged one year and ten months.

Little flowret, thou hast vanished From this world of grief and gloom; Fled from storms of pain aud anguish To the peaceful sheltering tomb. And thy Mother's fondly dreaming Of the time so swiftly flown, A babe they laid thee on my bosom, My beautiful-my own.

Oh, how deeply thou wert cherished In thy Mother's loving heart; Dark and bitter is the trial-Called my boy from thee to part. I am thinking of thy gambols, Of thy merry childish tone, All thy sweet, thy playful fancies, My beautiful-my own.

Thinking of thy laughing glances, Cheeks bright with the roses bloom, Of thy cherub face so gladsome Not a shade of grief or gloom, Of thy clustering golden ringlets, All thy ways so winning grown I ne'er knew a joy without thee, My beautiful—my own.

They have laid thee down to slumber, But a few brief weeks ago; And they tell me to forget thee, But it never can be so. No, I'll wander broken-hearted, Through this wilderness alone ; All my hopes with thee, have perished, My beautiful-my own.

But if there's a happier climate, Far away from this I ween. A home of peace and joy and gladness Which no mortal eye hath seen; Whence all pain and grief are banished, And where partings are unknown, In that spirit-world I'll claim thee, My beautiful-my own.

Good, peaceful, Christian Mrs. Colton looked anxiously at her husband without divining the cause of his emotion. The young gentlemaa glanced from their father to each other, and were silent.

" In a little while your visit with us will end. and you will leave us, and-I am grow. ing old-Time's hand is heavy upon mewe-may not meet again."

"Say not so, dear father, you are still strong, and we shall meet many times,' pleaded the eldest son-the express image of the father.

"Well, well, William, listen to my words now, and heed well my advice." His tone grew less tremulous, "Boys, I want you to marry Christian women." These were s range words for Esq. Colton to speak, and his persecuted wife looked sadly perplexed. He noticed it and said humbly, "I mean it, Madeline, so do not fear me, for I have hurt your feelings upon religious subjects-the last time. A wicked skeptic I have been, but am not now. O boys, boys, I would to Heaven that I could wipe away the false, wicked impressions, I laboured so hard to make upon your young minds."

" Father, what are you saying, what do you mean, are you going mad ?'

"O father !" exclaimed the younger of the two sons, " do you wish I was a Christian, a believer in the precious truths of God's holy word, a follower of the meek ' Prince of Peace ?' "

"You are, Alfred, you have been for years, and but for your vile old father, would have proclaimed your belief publicly, long years ago."

Alfred bowed his head upon his hand, and his mother was in tears, but William rose from his seat angrily, saying,

IF Cash and the highest Prices paid for Fu Skins. jan l HENRY ROBERTSON, Importer and Wholesale and Retail Dealer in CHINA, GLASS, and EARTHENWARE, No. 3, St. Stephens Building, King Square, St. John N. B. CORYOTYPES! CORYOTYPES!! Invented and Patented by the Subscriber. THE COLVOTYPE is a picture taken on Leather and, while it equals the Ambrotype or Daguerre otye in correctness, it far exceeds them in durability The 'Coryotype' has all the appearance, softness, and richness of an oil painting. IT WILL NEVER WEAR OUT ! The Subscriber having recently fitted up his rooms, is now prepared to take Likenesses on Leather, Glass, or in the common Daguerreotype style. He has been honored with the patronage of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor and many other dignitaries, and he assures all who may favor him with their patronage that he will give them a picture which will last for ages Call and examine specimens.
