HALIFAX, Feb. 24, 1859. The Canada, Capt. Ling, from Liverpool, 2 P. M. 12th, arrived at Halifax at 6.30 P. M. Thurs-

The Session of the French Legislature opened on the 7th wi'h important speech from the Emperor. He commenced by referring to the existing agitation, stating that it was excited with s had not come up to the estimat: and upon out any apparent and imminent danger, and afthey had over-run, shewing that the expen- ter expressing regret at the disquietude and had only overrun the estimate £267 9s.9d pointing to his peaceful policy as proof of his moderation, he proceeded to the disquietation and he said he was sorry to say that the receipts it is my duty to explain again to you that which it appears to me you have forgotten-what have ever been my principles. To re-assure Europe, to restore France to her true rank a nongst nations, to cement closely our alliance with England, and to regulate with the Continental Powers of Europe the extent of our relations according to the conformity of our views and the nature of their relations with France; it was in that spirit that on the eve of my third election I made at Bordeaux this declaration, . The Empire is peace, anxious to prove by that expression that although the heir of Napoleon I. had ascended the throne he would inaugurate a system which could only be disturbed for the purpose of defending great pational interests; with respect to the alliance with England, I have used all my perseverance consolidate it, and I have found on the other side of the Channel a happy reciprocation of sentiment on the part of the Queen, as on the part of all the statesmen of every shade of opinion. Also to attain that end so valuable to the peace of the world, have I thrown sside all opportunities of reviving any irritating remembrance of the past, (notwithstanding?) the calumnious attacks directed by prejudice and even the national antipathies of my own country. This alliance has borne its fruits-not only have we acquired together a lasting glory in the East, but at the extremity of the world we have just opened an immense empire to the progress of civilization, and of the Christian religion.

Since the establishment of peace my relations with Russia have assumed the character of come stronger. frankest cordiality, because we are agreed upon all points in dispute I am equally justified in congratulating myself on my relations with Prussia, which have never ceased to be animated with mutual good will. The cabinet of Vienna and that of France on the contrary, I speak it with regret, have disagreed upon important questions, and it required a most conciliatory spirit to succeed in arranging them, for instance, the reconstruction of the Danubian Principalities has not been completed without many difficulties, which diminished the full satisfaction of their most legitimate desires, and it I were asked what interest France has in those distant countries watered by the Dauube, I should reply, that the interest of France is everywhere where there is a just cause and where civilization ought to be made to prevail. In this state of things there is closer to Piedmont. which proved herself so de- cheers. voted during the war, so faithful to our policy during peace. The happy union of my well loved cousin, Prince Napoleon, with the daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, is not one of those unusual facts to which some hidden reason must be attr-buted; but 'a natural consequence of the commurity of interests of two countries, and of the friendship of two Sovereigns.' For some time past the state of Italy and her abnormal position, where order cannot be obtain. rty-two individials from whom he had received ed except by foreign troops, gives just cause of anxie y to diplomacy; this, however, it not a sufficient motive to give rise to a belief in war; some may invoke it with all their heart without legitimate reason; others may in their exaggerated fears endeavour to show to France the danger of a new coalition. I shall remain firm and invulnerable in the path of right and justice and dull and lower. On the 11th the market was of national honor, and my government will not dull and depressed. allow itself to be either led away or intimidated, because my policy will never be either provocative or pusillanimous.-Far be from us then ness. these false alarms, these unjust suspicions, these not be disturbed.-Resume then calmly the usual course of your labours. I have frankly exand this explanation corresponds with all that I have made known during the last two months both at home and abroad You will, I flatter artillery. myself, find that my policy has never ceased to be otherwise than firm but conciliatory; therefore I confidently rely upon your support as well as upon that of the nation which has entrusted its fate to me. It is well known that never shall personal interest or a petty ambition guide my actions. When supported by popular sentiment we ascend a throne and acquire so grave a responsibility, we rise far above that infamous region where vulgar interests are debated, and the first motives of our actions as our last judges are good conscience and posterity." The speech is variously commented on by the press. Notwithstanding its pacific language, its effect on the funds was not tavourable. Prior Bourse was excited and buoyant, and rentes advanced 12 per cent., subsequently a decline took place, and after the publication of the speech rentes were quoted only one quarter higher than on the previous day. THE GREAT WONDER

OF THE MINETPENTH CENLURY, PROFESSOR WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Says the St. Louis, (Mo.) Democrat: Below, we publish a letter to Dr. Wood, of this city, from a gentleman in his hair tonic. Such evidence must have its effect, when coming from a reliable source. If certificates are guarantees of truth, the Dr. needs no enconiums, nor useless puffery from the press :

BATH, MAINE, Jan. 20, 1856. Professor O. J. Wood & Co. ; GENTLEMEN: Having my attention called a few months since to the highly beneficial effects of your hair restorative, I was induced to make application of it upon my own hair, which had become quite gray, probably one-third white my whiskers were of same character. Some three months since I have the state of the same character. white my whiskers were of same character. Some three months since I procured a bottle of your hair restorative, and used it. I soon found it was proving what I had wished. I used it about twice a week I have since procured another bottle, of which I have used some. I can now certify to the world that the gray or white hair has totally disappeared, both on my head and face, and my hair has resumed its natural color, and I believe more soft and glossy than it has been before for twenty-five years. I am now sixty years old; my good wife at the age of fifty-two, has used it with same effect. The above notice I deem due to you for your valuable discovery. I am assured that whoever will rightly use, as per directions, will not have occasion to contradict my statements. I am a citizen of this city and a resident here for the last fifteen years, and am known to nearly everyon here and adjoining towns. Any use you make of the abeve with my name attached, is at you seruice, as I wish to preserve the beauties of nature in others as well as myself. I am truly, yours,

A. C. RAYMOND. am truly, yours, WOOD'S HAIR RESTORATIVE.

Professor Wood-Dear Sir: Having had the misfortune. ose the best portion of my hair, from the effects of the ye low fever, in New Orleans in 1854. I was induced to make a trial of your preparation, and found it to asswer as the very thing needed. My hair is now thick and glossy, and no words can express my obligations to you in giving to the afflicted such a treasure.

The undersigned Rev. J. K. Bragg, is a minister in regular standing, and pastor of the Orthodox Church at Brookfield, Mass. He is a gentleman of great influence and universally beloved. Brookfield, January 12, 1858.

Professor Wood—Dear Sir: Hav ag made trial of your Hair Restorative, it gives me pleasure to say, that its effect has been excellent in removing inflammation, dandruff and a constant tendency to itching with which I have been troubled from my childhood; and has restored my hair, which was becoming gray, to its original color. I have used no other article with anything like the same pleasure or
