Trust bim when the skies are lowering-When no star of hope shall rise,-When the floods of grief are pouring, O'er thy soul, then lift thine eyes; See the bow of promise glisten In the distance—far away; Harken! to thy Saviour listen, "Strength is equal to thy day."

Worldly prospects all may fail. If Jehovah's banner's o'erthee, His kind promise will prevail Though thy heart may beat with sorrow. Every comfort flee away, Trust him, for the comming morrow May be ht by heaven's own ray!

What can darken souls enightened With the Spirit of his love? What can cloud the bosom brightened By the presence of the Dove? Friends may fail and hopes beguile us,-All our sunshine turn to night, But the star of hope will find us, Beaming with eternal light.

Trust ye, then, in God's own promise,-Trust him in life's darkest hour .-Trust him when the storm is raging,-Trust in his almighty power; Waves may roll, and billows meet thee, Here's a solace for thy grief, "I will not forsake-forget thee Through the pilgrimage of life."

> Up the hill of Zion glisten Brighter stars as high ye rise To the spirit voices listen, Whispering sweetly from the skies; Angel voices! they will cheer thee Through the valley dark and gloom, "I am with thee, I am with thee," Shedding radience o'er the tomb.

Listen! hear them softly singing, When the last cold waves shall roll; Balm from Gilead kindly bringing dassol as To revive thy fainting soul; They will come, heavenly convoy ! To convey thee to the skies; They will come, to open for thee The bright gates of paradise !

The Uses of Trials Illustrated.

A LESSON FOR EVERYBODY.

Once on a time a small bit of stone was lying on the ground at the foot of a mountain. "Dear me," said the little unshapely thing to uself, "it's dreacfully stupid lying here year after year and never growing any bigger or more beautiful. I think there must have been thousands of winters and summers coming and going while I lay underground in the dark; and since I came up into the daylight, the sun has risen and set more times than one small pebble can calculate. Other things, now, are not so stupid. That young upstart of an acorn that I knew a few years ago underground, has come up wonderfully since. He bends over me in the most patronizing manner, and shakes his green head as much as to say, 'Ah! my dear little fellow, times change and we change with them. Some of us outgrow our baby clothes very rapidly; but really I don't see but your'e much the same as ever!'-What is more, I seem to see the same law all around me. Everything that God has made, seems designed to grow into something better than it was at first. The smallest seeds come up into flowers or shrubs or even trees; little cold, black, ugly grubs expand into beautiful insects that rejoice in the sommer air; but what in the world is there for a poor shapeless peoble to do?" "Much, every way," said a sharp, cliking voice, and awedge faced instrument advanced, giving our pebble a hard thump of recognition, "Why, my friend, you have the ring of the true metal in you, and with the sanction of my learned master here, who is well acquainted with the genealogist of our race, I shall claim you as an own cousin of

"You have the advantage of me," said Mr. Pebble; "I don't even know your name." "Is it possible," rejoined Mr. Pickaxe, "you don't know that we all belong to the great Iron family, the most potent on the globe at the present day. Branches of our stock exists in all parts of the world, and by our powerful connections and our substantial worth, we have made ourselves necessary to the existence of every civilized state. Our line can be traced as far tack at least as Tubal Cain, and from that day to this no great work has been accemplished, no temples or aqueducts built, no land tilled or harvest gathered, without the assistance of some members of our family. Complaint was useless, for a wiser head had the management of the pebble now. He was subjected again and again to the fire, caming out every time still brighter, and to down to dinner alone. He was a quick eater, the water, to emerge yet harder than before. At last heat and cold had done their work, and he was ready for the anvil. Now came appeared, when he arose to meet them, and hard times indeed.

Keep Your Watches Right.

Every man in business should always carry a watch, and always keep it right. It should never be ahead or behind the stroke of the bell. Most men's watches run too slow, or e se the men are slower than their watches : for certainly a majority of business men are Merchant's Exchange at one o'clock, it is safe to say, usually, that he will not be there till about five minutes past. You may also think well of yourself, if you are not at least three minutes late. But if the old proverb he true that " Time is Money," you should know the time of day, for it belongs to the

Captain Cuttle had a famous watch of which he said that, " if he only could remember to set it ahead half an hour in forenoon, and quarter of an hour in the afternoon, it would keep time with anybody's watch." Now, a good many merchants run by Captain Cuttle's time, forgetting to set it ahead! They miss their engagements at the board of directors, at the committee on finance, at the

NURSING SORE MOUTH. is cured as if by a miracle; your own temper is restored to its natural sweet oss, and your babe from a short an fretful naps to caim and sweat slumbers; and the Medica Discovery becomes a fountain of blessings to your husband In the more advanced stages of CANKER

it extends to the stoma DYSPEPSIA, which is nothing but cauker on the stomach; then to the KIDNEYS, creates a sinking, gone feeling, and an indifference even to the cares of your family

RAW AND INFLAMED, your food distressed you, and you can only take certain kinds and even of that your system does not get half the nourisoment it contains, as the acrimonous fluid of of the canker eats it up then your complexion looses its bloom and becomes shallow and greenish and your best day is zone. For want of nourishment your syste Lecomes loose and dabby and the fibers of your body become relaxed. Then follow a train of diseases which the Medi al Discovery is peculiarly adayted to. CURE;

Palpitation of the heart, poin in the side, weakness of the spine, and small of the back, pain of the hip joint when you retire, irregularity of the bowels, and also the most ex cruciating of diseases, the PILES. How many thousands of poor women are suffering from this disease and pin ng away a miserable life, and their next door neighbor does not know the cause i wish to impress on your mind that good old proverb, "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." In the

MEDICAL DISCOVERY. you have both the preventative and the cure, with his great and good quality, that it will never, under any cir cumstances, do you an injury. DONALDKENNEDY. F. EVERETT & CO., Agent for St. John

A compound remedy in which we have I bored to produce the most effectual altern tive that can be made. It is a concentrate extract of Para Sarsaparilla, so combined with other substances of still greater alterative power as to afford an effective antidute for the diseases Sarsaparilla is reputed to cure. It is beleived that such a remedy is wanted by those who suffer from Strumous complaints and that one which will accomplish their ous complaints and that one which will accomplish their sure must prove an immeuce service to this large class of our afflicted fellow citizens. How completly this compound will do it has been proven by experiment on many of the worst cas sto be found in the following complaints—Scorfula and Scrofilous complaints, Eruptions, and Eruptive Diseases, Uterrs, Pimples, Blotches, Tomors, Sait Rheum Scald Head, Syphilis and Syphitic Affections, Mercural Disease, Dropsey, Neuralzia or Tic Doulouroux, Debility, Dy-pepsia, and indigestion, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Authony's fire and indeed the whole class of complaints arising from Impurity of the blood.

This compound will be found a great prometer of health when taken in the spring, to expel the foul humors which tester in the blood at that season of the year by the timely expulsion of many of them rankling disorders are nipped in the bud. Multitudes can by the aid of this remedy spare thems ives from the endurance of foul eruptions and ulcerous sores through which the system will strive to rid ulcerous sores through which the system will strive to rid itse f of corruptions, if but ass sted to so through the natural channels of the body by an alternative medicine. Clense out the vitivated blood whenever you find its impuriti bursting through the skin in pimples, eraptions, or sore clease it when you find it obstructed and singgish in voins; clease it whenever it is foul and your feelings voins; tell you when. Even where no particular disorder is a people enjoy better health and lives longer for clesing eople enjoy better health and lives longer for clesing a lood. Keep the blood healthy and ail is well; but withis pallium of life disordered there can be no lastificalth. Cooner or later something must go wrong and t great machinary of life disordered or overthrown Sarsaparilla has and deserves much the reputation, accomplishing trassends. But the world has been egre reusly deceived by preparations of it, partily because drug alone has not all the virtue that is claimed for it, nore because many prepara ions, protending to be concen-rated extracts of it contain but little of the virtue of Sarsaaring late years the public have been misled by lar bottles, preten ing to give: quart of extract of Sarsapari for one dollar. a ost of these have been frauds upon t but often no curative proportions whatever. Hense and painful disappointment has to lowed the use of t various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the mark until the name of itself is justly despised, and has bec synony mous with impositive and cheet. Still we call the compout d Sarsaparilla, and intend to supply such a reme as shal rescue the name from the load of obliquy will rests upon it. And we think we have ground for heleiv it has virtues which are resistables by the ordidary run of the diseases it is intended to cure. In order to secure their complete eradication from the system, the remedy should be judiciously taken according to the directions on the bottle.
