The War News.

A GREAT CRISIS AT HAND.

It is now evident that we are on the eve of a great European war-a deadly struggle, which will shake the Continent to its centre. Thrones will totter and dynasties may disappear before peace returns. Whether oppressed nationalities and prostrate freedom will rise and revive during the terrible struggle will depend on the chapter of accidents and the conduct of the people themselves. We had hopes that England would have played a dignifier part on this occasion-looked on, without committing ourselves, not ind fferent, nor yet too anxious spectators of the game. We hope that it may be so still, not withstanding Lord Derby's threat to the contrary. It is not a quarrel which concerns us. The people of this community have little sympathy with the present ruler of France, and still less with Austria's treatment of her outlying provinces. However bad the state of Italy may be, the taxwavers of England will be content to see the question settled without their purse strings being opened to mend it. Such we believe to be the general feeling in this country, and it is shared by the leading statesmen of the day, with the exception of the present Prime Minister. The impending elections will probably make this more apparent when Parliament meets. But it is now certain that our alliance with France is a thing of the past. Whatever may happen hereafter, the present relations with that country are anything but friendly, and, considering the antecedents and present tactics of Louis Napoleon, it is perhaps as well that events have taken this turn, for the character of the Imperial Government for truth and straightforwardness has been of friendship towards it was all but impossible.

speaking, of course the picture is reversed." COMMENCEMENT OF THE FRAY. certain that war is now only a question of days, it may be of hours. We learn that masses of troops are continually concentrating at Lyons, ready to pass the frontier whenever the order is given : while preparations are making to collect another army on the Rhine, in the vicinity of Strasbourg. Austria, worn out and exhausted by these delays, and knowing that the fatal blow is only withheld until it can be struck with greater as thrown on it. It is reported that Austria certainty, seems disposed to anticipate events by attacking Sardinia before ald from France can arrive. She has now 200,000 troops on cr near the banks of the Ticino, ready to pass the fron-

THE AUSTRIAN REGIONS. Austria has 200,000 men either upon the Ticino or within such a distance that they can be in the three days of grace fixed in the imperative and never failing source of consolation. demand of the Austrian General. Sardinia occupies the opposite bank with a force which could not, probably, delay for one day its own destruction by that gigantic enemy. It may be to mourn their loss. that Sardinia can show 70,000 men in arms, including her free corps, gathered from all parts of Italy, and comprehending no small portion of the discontented spirits who have passed their lives in making manifestations of the hatred to the foreigner. Of these 70,000 men perhaps, after garrisoning her great fortresses, Alexandria and Genoa, she may be able to range 40,000 in line of battle. Three days of respite are all that is given. If, as we read the telegraphic despatch, the demand has been already made, next Sunday may see an Austrian army in quick advance upon Turin. The position of Sardinia is perilous, but it is in a position she cannot escape by a tame compliance. Even if Victor Emanuel could accept the ignominy of succumbing to the first pressure of force after putting forth such oud defiances, the men he has called around him would not suffer him to retreat. It Austria and Albert Palmer, do, Sardinia are left to themselves we shall hear in a few days of an invasion and a battle. Every thing points this out as a natural sequence. The sudden ultimatum and the short reprieve are evidently part of a well-considered military policy formed by Austria. It is clearly her interest if she is resolved on war, or if she feels she will be compelled to it, to crush the Sardinian army before the French can arrive to its assistance. The her in this imminent danger, we look around their several demands. anxiously to measure how far off are her friends, and what may be the chances of timely assistance.

PRUSSIA AND GERMANY. The part which Prussia will play at this 1mportant moment has probably brought the crisis sooner than would otherwise have happened. Between the Courts of Vienna and B rlin the best understanding seems to exist, and the petty German rulers are all ready to side with the two leading powers when the occasion arises. The Germans cannot forget the doings of the accounts due the Religious Intelligencer up to Aug. By Authority. CROWN LAND OFFICE, May 3, 1859. THE undermentioned Lots of Crown Lands will be offered for sale by Public Austion, on TUESDAY, the 7th day of June next, at noon, by the respective Deputies, at their Offices, agreeably to the Regula-This world renowned limb has been in use in Europe and America for upwards of twelve years, and every succeeding year serves only to increase its popularity. The 'Great Prize Medal' was awarded to Dr. Palmer in London over thirty-five competitors from all parts of Europe, and in this country wherever exhibited, it has invariably received the highest award. Upwards of 'Four Thousand' of the Palmer Artificial Legs are now in use, and are represented by all degrees and professions,—Farmers, Mechanics, Lawyers, Saifors, adies and Children, all use this 'unequal led limb' with wonderful case and naturalness. The Palmer Leg is adapted 'to every form of amputation,' from the shortest to the longe t. The patient is enabled to walk immediately upon the application of the leg. The limb is an exact copy of its fellow, and the most critical fail to distinguish it from nature. The limbs are very durable, yet so light as to be worn with great comfort. Palmer & Co. have supplied upwards of lifty individuals with two legs each, ail of whom walk with surprising naturalness. The recently invented 'artificial arm' is regarded as a complete triumph in the art. The public are cautioned against the circulars and advertisements of charletans and pretenders, who have recently entered the field, and are endeavoring to deceive by copying the invention and the indirect use of the Palmer reputation. tions of the 30th August 1858, and no sale on credit will be made to any person who is indebted to the Crown for previous purchases.
