While the working men are doing wonders on the outside, the soldiers within are by no means idle. Field pieces have been placed in position upon the green within the fort, and none of the expedients of military engineering have been neglected to make the positious as strong as possible. It is said that the greatest vigilance is observed in every regulation at this time, and that the guas are regularly shotted every night. It is very certain that ingress is army. It is at present without any regular garrison. There is a large force of workmen some one hundred and fifty in all-busily emplayed in mounting the guns and otherwise putting his great strategic point in order. The arm ment of Fort Sumter consists of 140 guns, many of them being formidable ter-inch " Columbiads," which throw either shot or snell, and which have a fearful range. Only a few of these tility of shot and shell. The workmen engaged here sleep in the fort every night, owing to the want of any regular communication with the city. The wharf or landing is on the south side, and is, of course, exposed to a cross fire from all the openings on that side.

CASTLE PINCKNEY is located on the southern extremity of a narrow slip of marsh land, which extends in a no therly direction to Hog Island channel. To the harbor side the so-called castle presents a circular front. It has never been considered of much conse quence as a fortress, although its proximity to he city would give it importance, if properly armed and garrisoned. From hasty observation we find that there are about fifteen guns mounted on the parapet; the majority of them are eighteen and twenty four pounders. Some "Columbiads" are however within the walts. There are also sup plies of powder, shot and shell. At present there is no garrison at the post; the only residents are one or two watchmen, who have charge of the harpor light. Some thirty or furly day laborers are employed repairing the cisterns and putting the place generally in order.

This concludes our sketch of the present aspect of affairs at the three forts, which were meant to be, and which should always remain, at once the pride and the safeguard of our city.

Doctor Ayer, Lowell: I feel it a duty and a pleasure to inform you what your Cherry Pectoral has done for my wife. She had been five months laboring under the dangerous symptoms of Consumption, from which no aid we could procure gave her much relief. She was steadily failing, until Dr. Strong of this city, where we have come for advice, recommended a trial of your medicine. We bless that day. She is not yet as strong as she used to be, but is free from her cough, and calls herself well.
