JACK, THE SHOE-BLACK.

Some time ago a christian gentleman in London, in walking home one evening, found himself in a group of ragged lads-beggers, thieves, or both-who were talking, laughing and swearing. He longed to do them good, so he stopped suddenly, put his back against the wall, and said "Boys, listen to me. I have something to tell you-a sort of story."

They were all silent for a moment, partly from astonishment, partly from curiosity. And then in the plainest language he could use, he told them the story of the life, sufferings and death of Jesus Christ. Not a word or sound interrupted him. Then, as the end came nearer, and he tried with all his might to make the end seem true to them, he heard an occasional shuffle as one and another tattered figure pushed nearer to hear how the Saviour suffered for him. They listened with faces of awe, dirty enough, but solemn, to hear of the agony that made drops of blood roll down his face; and when they heard of how he died, hanging by nails on a wooden cross, because they were wretched and wicked, sobs of uncontrolable emotion burst forth. Dirty hands wiped dirty faces, as he told them that now while he spoke to them, He was standing among them, and that He loved them just as much as when he died upon the cross for them.

He finished his story, and no one said a word. Suddenly he said, " Now, lads, Jesus loved us very much, ought'nt we to love him? Who loves him? Let every one who wishes to love him hold up his hand. I do;" and he held up his own. They looked at one another; and one held his up. A little mass of rags with only one shoe, and a little grimmy face, half hidden in a ed hat, with no rim, held up his dirty little hand. It was a touching spectacle! One and another followed, till all the hands-just twelve in number-were up.

Then the gentlemad said, "You all wish to love him. Now, dear boys, hear what he says to those who love him: " if ye love me keep my | straight up to him who had first held his hand up, and holding out his, said, "Shake hands on it that you will promise me to try to keep his acter, and fixedness of purpose to perform all commandments." Unhesitatingly the little black known duty, at all times, and under all circumit that you will promise me to try to keep his hand was put in his, and he shook it hard, saying, "God bless you." So he went round to all.

Before he parted from them, he gave them each some money to get a bed and penny loaf with. About three weeks afterward, as he was going under an arch-way, a little ragged shoe black was cleaning at one side. After the customary "clean your boots, sir," the boy made a dive forward, and stood chuckling with delight in front of him. The gentleman had not the least idea who he was and said with surprise, "Well, my boy, you seem to know me and who are you?"

" Please sir, I am Jack." "Jack! Jack who ?" " Only Jack, please sir." All at once it flashed across him who the lad

Oak Grove, S. C., June 24th, 1859.

Prof. O. J. Wood—Dear Sir—Your Hair Restorative is rapidly gaining popularity in this community. I have had occasion to lay prejudice a-ide, and give your Hair Restorative a perfect test:—
During the year 1854, I was so unfortunate as to be thrown During the year 1854, I was so unfortunate as to be thrown from my sulky against a rock near the roadside, from which my head received a most terrific blow; causing a great deal of irritation, which communitates to the brain and external surface of the head, from the effects of which my har was finally destroyed over the entire surface of the head. From the time I first discovered its dropping, however, up to the time of its total disappearance, I employed everything I could possibly think o', being a professional man myself, and, as I thought, understanding the nature of the disease, but was finally defeated in every prescription advanced.

These and no other circumstances induced me to resort to your worthy Hair Restorative, which I have every reason to belive, produced a very happy result: two menths after the first application, I had as beautiful a head of young hair as I ever saw, for I certainly owe you my most since thanks. Rest assured, dear sit, I shall r commend your remedy to all inquirers; moreover, I shall use my influence which I flatter myselve to say, is not a little.

You can publish this if you think proper.

Office of the Jessersonian, Philippi, Va., Dec. 12th, 18ts.

Deat Sir-I feel it my cuty as well as my pleasure to state to you the following circumstance, which you can use as you think proper. A gentleman of this place, (a lawyer) has been bald ever since his early youth; so much so that he was compelled to wear a wig. He was induced to use a bottle of your "Hair Restorative," which he liked very much; and after using some two or hree bottles his hair grew out quite luxuriantly, and he now mas a handsome head of hair. The gentleman's name is Bradford, and as he is very well known in our adjoining counties, many persons can testify to the truth of this statement; I give it to you at the request of Mr. Bradford. You could sell a great deal of your Hair Restorative in this and the adjoining counties if you have the proper agents.

counties if you have the proper agents. Yeurs, &c., THOMSON SURGHNOR. Pr. Wood,—Dear Sir—Permit me to express the obligations I am under for the entire restoration of my hair to its original color; about the time of my arrival in the United States it was rapidly becoming gray, but upon the application of your "Hair Restorative" it soon recovered its original hue. I consider your Restorative as a very wonderful invention, quite efficaciaus as well as agreeable.

S. THALBERG.

The Restorative is putup in bottles of 3 sizes, viz: large medium, and small; the small holds 1-2 a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent. more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bot le; the large holds a quart, 40 per cent. more in proportion, and retails for $3.

SCROFULA, OR KING'S EVIL is a constitutional disease, a corruption of the blood, by which this fluid becomes vi the blood, by which this fluid becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrott lous taint is variously caused by mercarial disease, low living, disordered or unacally vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation;" indeed, it seems so be the rod of flim who says, "I will visit the inequities of the fathers upon their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and in ternal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, emptions or sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of rife, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scroful-ous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Mostof the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this sero ulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys brain, and indeed of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the
