

HOME THOUGHTS.

BY LEANDER S. COWAN

O home ! give me a home, with dear ones there, Who my sorrows can comfort, my joys can share; Give me these with the warm heart's affectionate

And I'll give the broad world with its tinsel and show:

All its glare and its glitter, its granduce and pride,

For the swest joys of home I will gladly lay aside.

Other climes may be fair, other friends may be kind.

Yet never throughout the wide world will you find, Those climes where the sun with such heart cheering rays,

Is eager to bless us with joy-freighted days; Nor meet friends who will love with that fervor and truth

We loved with, --- were loved by the friends of our youth.

O the joy of the heart in those bliss-laden bowers! Will it come not again with life's later hours ? May it not as an echo dwell with us once more? As a refluent wave reach this care-beaten shore? Like a strain that is lost from some ravishing song,

These memories haunt me and will not begone.

What though it be changed 'round that loved cottage door,

Though the willow has died that once shaded it o'er;

Though others have bowed before the fierce storms. Aud saplings hale sturdier, statelier forms;

There still are the rocks, the rills, and the dells, And amid them my memory joyfully dwells,

I know that a dear mother's voice is not there ; Yet still I can stroll to her quiet home, where, Alone by the side of her grass-covered grave. I'll return her the blessing her dying breath gave. Yes, I'll murmur the prayer she taught me to say Ere our father had called her pure spirit away.

But the voices of living loved ones I hear, They shall smile through tears when I meet them for three years. The firing ceased and Joseph minuts; then he rolled his head back upon his heard no more: people spoke and though he saw

SCROFULA, OR KING'S EVIL

SCROFULA, OR KING'S EVIL Is a constitutional disease, a corruption (-the blood, by which this fluid becomes vi-tiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circu-lation it pervades the whole body, and may burst out in disease on any part of it. No organ is free from its attacks, nor is there one which it may not destroy. The scrofu-lous taint is varionaly caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered or unhealthy food, impure air, tilth, and filthy kabits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever he its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parents to children unto the third and fourth gene-ration;" indeed, it seems so be the rod of thim who says, ration ;" indeed, it seems so be the rod of flim who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their chil-

Its effects commence by deposition from the blood of corrupt of ulcerous matter, which, in the lungs, liver, and in ternal organs, is termed tubercles; in the glands, swellings; and on the surface, eruptions of sores. This foul corruption, which genders in the blood, depresses the energies of life, so that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scroful-one constitutions not only suffer from scrofulso that scrofulous constitutions not only suffer from scroful-ous complaints, but they have far less power to withstand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast humbers perish by disorders which, although not scrofulous in their nature, are still rendered fatal by this taint in the system. Mostof the consumption which decimates the human family has its origin directly in this scrofulous contamination; and many destructive diseases of the liver, kidneys, brain, and indeed of all the organs, arise from or are aggravated by the same cause. same cause.

One quarter of all our people are scrofulous; their per-sons are invaded by this forking infection, and their health is underminded by it. To cleane it from the system we must renovate the blood by an alternative medicine, and in-vigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in

CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT.

MY DEAR LITTLE FRIENDS,-It has been a very long time since I had the pleasure and satisfaction of addressing you, and by this time I suppose you have about concluded that the "Childrens Department" of the Intelligencer has been entirely forgotten by me, as well as those to whom that department is dedicated ; but not so ; although old winter, white bearded winter has for the last four or five months concealed you all from my eyes, yet it requires a stronger than he to exclude you from my thoughts. Yes, I have been thinking about you. And about any thing else? Yes! I have been thinking all winter about Sabbath Schools and children.

What a subject, what a theme is that; Sabbath Schools and Children. But, says some little bright eyed boy with pouting lips, "just thinking don't do any good." Yes it does Charley, thinking does some good, for without "thinking" there would be no doing ; and that which we do without thinking about I fear is not done as it should be, and indeed if we would only do as good old David once did, "Think upon our ways and turn our feet in the testimonies of the Lord," we would not so often stray from the right path.

Well then my little friend, " thinking you see does some good: And I have been "thinking" also about Spring, and then I though of those beautiful lines written by H. Kirk White, when he was quite young, they are composed on "Spring," and I wish some little boy would learn them and then recite them in a Sabbath School Concert. Perhaps some little Henry will, in memory of the dear boy who wrote them, but now a Saint in heaven! yes, crowned a King and a Priest unto God. A joint heir with Jesus Christ in glory. Emblem of Life ! see changeful April sail, In varying vest along the shadowy skies, Now biding Summer's softest zephyrs rise, Anon recalling winters stormy gale, And pouring from the cloud her sudden hail, Then smiling through the tear that dims her While Iris with her braid the welkin dyes, Promise of sunshine, not so prove to fail,

So, to us, sojourners in Life's low vale; The smiles of Fortune flatter to deceive. While still the Fates the web of misery weave So Hope exultant spreads her airy sail, And from the present gloom the soul conveys To distant summers and far happier days."

Yes, my dear children I have been thinking about Spring, and these thoughts invited other and happier ones.

First from the gloom of cold icy winter I looked on and on to Spring, and now Spring is here with its "varying vest," that conveys my soul on to summer days, when the the very air will be vocal with the merry, happy voices of children and birds. And then on Sabbath morning thousands and tens of thousands of little boys and girls will leave their fathers house an hour or two, repair to the Sabbath School and sing about, pray to, and talk of their Father which art in Heaven, and then I was thinking about the time when this wintry journey will be ended, and that long, long pleasant and happy Summer of Eternity with Jesus will commence away up in Heaven. God bless you my little friends, Amen,
