BEARING THE CEOSS.

The heavier cross the nearer heaven ; No cross without, no God within. Death, judgment, from the heart are driven Amid the world's false glare and din, O happy he, with all his loss, Whom God hath set beneath the cross ;

The heavier cross the better Christian; This is the touchstone God applies; How many a garden would lie wasting. Unwet by showers from weeping eyes ! The gold by fire is purified ; · The Christian is by trouble tried.

The heavier cross the stronger faith ; The loaded palm strikes deeper root ; The vine juice sweetly issueth When men have pressed the clustered fruit, And courage grows where danger comes, Like pearls beneath the salt sea foam.

The heavier cross the heartier prayer ; The bruised herbs most fragrant are. If the sky and wind were always fair The sailor would not watch the star : And David's Psalm had ne'er been sung,

If grief his heart had never wrung.

The heavier cross the more aspiring : From vales we climb to mountain crest; The pilgrim, of the desert tiring, Longs for the Canaan of his rest. The dove has here no rest in sight, And to the ark she wings her flight.

The heavier cross the easier dying, Death is a friendlier face to see; To life's decay one bids defying; To life's distress one then is free. The cross sublimely lifts our faith To him who triumphed over death.

Thou crucified ! the cross I carry, The longer may it dearer be; And lest I faint while here I tarry, Implant thou such a heart in me That faith, hope, love may flourish there, Till for the cross my crown I wear, poor victums have to be buried with their king, in the same grave, some under, some at each side of him, and some at his head and feet. But by far the most dreadful fate is that of two individuals, who have to be buried alive with him, one sitting over his head, and the other at his feet, with burning lamps in their hands. And in order that the lampholders may not escape by a bargain with the undertaker, their legs are to be broken before they take their seat near the king's body. This calamity may soon befall those poor people and children, for the king is by no means a young man. But if a missionary were there, he would no doubt prevail on the king to give up such practices, provided the under chiefs would submit to

Mr. Hinderer also says : "One of my constant visiors was the king's own son, a little boy of about four or five years old. On the first day of his visiting me, as he was sitting on the ground, looking intently on me and all I did, for hours, he was called to bis dinner, when he answered boldly, "I shall not come; I don't want to eat; here I shall sit and look at the white man till my eye is satisfied." And on my leaving Ilesa, his grandmother had to tie him on her back, for he would try and run after me, saying he must go with me."

DANGER FROM AN INFIDEL ASSOCIATE.

"I knew a youth," says Rev. A. James, " for whom his parents felt the greatest solicitude, and whom they were about to place from home. He had been carefully educated, from his earliest years, in habits of morality and piety. His school had been selected with special reference to the plan laid down at home, for the formation of his character. But now this lovely youth, for he was most lovely, must leave home, and go out into the world. How anxiously did the father read the advertisements to find one which commanded all the advantages of a pious master and a lively minister ! He succeeded, and a most excellent Christian he found, with whom to place his son. The family was what a Christian family should be; and then the other apprentice, he also was supposed to be all that could be wished as a companion for a youth just quitting the parental roof, the son of a minister, and unsuspected as to his principles. Many months, however, had not passed before the minister received a letter from the heart-stricken mother, to say she had heard from her child, stating that his soul was in Enormous religious burdens are chiefly borne by imminent peril. THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY 92. Lombard-street, London, and Royal Insurance-build ngs, Liverpool. Chairman of the London Board .- SAMUEL BAKER, Esq.

Chairman in Liverpool.-CHARLES TURNER, Esq. The Royal Insurance Company is one of the largest Offices in the kingdom. At the Annual Meeting held in August 1859, the following highly satisfactory results were shown :-FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The most gratifying proof of the expansion of the business is exhibited in the one following fact-that the increase alone of the last three years exceeds the entire business of some of the existing and of many of the recently defunct fire insurance companies of this kingdom. The Premiums for the year 1855 being......£180,060

While the Premiums for the year 1558 are 196,148

The recent returns of duty made by Government for this atter year (1858) again show the "Royal" as more than maintaining the ratio of its increase as stated in former years. Only one among the London insurance offices exhibits an advance to the extent of one-half the increase of the Company, while all the others respectively fall far short of the molety of its advance. LIFE DEPARTMENT.

The amount of new Life Premiums received this year is by far the largest received in any similar period since the ommencement of the business, and must far exceed the average of amount received by the most successful offices in the kingdom. The number of policies issued in the year was 832, the sum assured £887,752 6s. 8d., and the premiur £12,854 3s. 4d. These figures show a very rapid extension of business during the last ten years. Thus :--

Years.	10. (of Foncies.	Dunis Ast	SULL	cu.	Ticu Tici

1858	1.1.16	882	887,752	6	8	12,854	8	4

The remarkable increase in the business of the last four years is mainly consequent upon the large bonus declared in 1855, which amounted to no less than £2 per cent. per nnum on the sums assured, and averaged 80 per cent. upon the premiums paid. PERCY M. DOVE, Manager and Actuary. JOHN M. JOHNSTON, Secretary to the London Board.
