LET HIM ALONE.

BY REV. S. COWELL.

Ephraim is joined to his idols: let him alone.—Hosea x. 17.
"Let him alone!" God speaks from his throne;
Bewildered seizes the sky:
He is joined to his idols: let him alone!"
Let him alone to die.

Full long hath he heard the tidings of grace,
The tidings that whisper, "To-day—
But from heaven's own land he hath turned his face,
He hath turned his heart away;
And the knell of the lost hath smote on his ear,
And the sound of their heavy wail;
But he slumbers, he sleeps, he fears not fear,
And the holy warnings fail.

Sweet spirits surround him, a shadowy band,
And in voices soft and low,
Tell of flowers that bloom in the far-away land,
Where the fountains immortal flow;
And softer than dew are the tears they weep,
And sweeter than Eden their sigh,
He heareth not, heareth not: Why doth he sleep,
And why is he left to die?

The word hath gone forth, the word from the throne—
The throne with the rainbow above:
"He is joined to his idols: let him alone,"
He hath hardened himself against love.

And yet the Lord's grace is as wide as the sea,
And deep as the ocean's cave;
And it cometh like billows, as strong and as free,
When it cometh the soul to save.
But, "Thus far shalt thou go," said God to the sea,
As it surges on many a shore;
And thus to his grace hath he made a decree,
When quenched, it returns never more.

O hasten then, sinner, and come to the throne,
While the day of salvation is nigh,
Lest of you God shall say, "Let him alone—
Let him alone to die!"

MINERAL RESOURCES OF THE PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

We willingly comply with the request to publish the following remarks drawn up by Prof. Bailey, of King's College, Fredericton, on the present state of our knowledge of the mineral resources of the Province.

"As the subject of the mineral resources of this Province is at the present time absorbing a large proportion of public attention, and as a very general interest seems to be manifested in almost all parts of the Province, in searching for and developing our metallic wealth, I have thought that a brief list of the ores already known and their localities, together with a few simple directions for the discrimination of future specimens, might possibly prove interesting to the public generally. I have therefore prepared and given below a short list of the principal ores known to exist in the Province, with a few observations appended upon their quantity, quality, and facility of working, so far as has been hitherto ascertained. My authority for the greater part of the facts mentioned below, are the labours of the late Dr. Robb, the metallurgical collection of the University, and statements, published or otherwise, of the late M. H. Parley, Esq., Dr. Gesner, and other gentlemen in various parts of the Province."
