[Inserted in the Religious Intelligencer by special request.-ED.] LINES On the death of Miss Nancy Steves, daughter of Mr. Miles from Nancy elicited the fact that "Miss Mary" had

Steves of Dover, Westmorland BY A FRIEND OF THE DECEASED.

My theme is Nancy Steves-a lovely youth, Young people lend an ear. Early in life she sought the truth, And banished was her fear.

In youth she gave vain pleasures up, And humbly bowed to God ; Found sweet salvation in that hope

Which bore her through the flood. Can I forget that lovely face. Where beauty seemed to smile, And shed abroad the Saviour's face-Afflicted, humble child.

Gently, she drank the bitter cup Of weakness, tears, and pain ; While Jesus bore her spirit up

Nor did she e'er complain. I saw the obbing tide of life ;

Her friends stood weeping round, While life and death maintained the strife, I heard a heavenly sound.

"Glory to God," aloud she cried,

" For what he's done for me.

"I soon shall drop this mortal flesh.

"And shall my Saviour see." Rapture increased with every breath ; She bade her friends adieu, And smiled to meet the monster death, And home her spirit flew.

Upward I saw her spirit rise,-By faith's strong piercing eye,-Seated among the saints above No more to grieve nor die.

Oh parents ! hear her smiling say, "Dry up your falling tears, " I've run the race and won the prize "And banished are my fears." Brothers and sisters whom she loved, She seems to call on you, To set your hearts on things above

And bid this world adieu. You must be born of God by grace, And live at Jesus' feet ;

Or round the glorious throne above We'll surely never meet. Young people hear the solemn call, ready to forgive ourselves for our faults. Mary From God to you 'tis given, That you may be prepared when call'd

Ayer's SARSAPARILLA. THE WORLD'S GREAT REMEDY FOR

Scrofula and Scrofulous Diseases.

From Emery Edes, a well known merchant of Oxford, Main " I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, but never yet one bottle which failed of the desired effect and full satisfaction to those who took it. As fast as our people try it, they agree there has been no medicine like it before Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, Ulcera Sores, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. Robert Stratton, Bristol, England. "I only do my duty to you and the public, when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medicinal virtues, of your SARSAPARILLA. My daughter, aged ten, had an afflicting humor in her ears, eyes, and hair for years, which, we were unable to cure, until we tried your SARSAPABILLA. She has been well for some months.

From Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well known and much esteemed lady, of Dennisville, Cape May Co., N. J.

"My daughter has suffered for a year past with a scrofuous eruption, which was very troublesome. Nothing afforded any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gage, Esq., of the widely known Gage, Murray & Co., manufacturers of enamelled papere in Nashma, N. H.

"I had for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which grew constantly worse, until it disfigured my features, and became an intolerable affliction. I tried almost every thing a man could, of both advice and medicine, but without any relief whatever, until I took your SARSAPA-BILLA. It immediately made my face worse, as you told logy; Chambers' Information for the People; Chambers' me it might for a time; but in a few weeks the new skin Miscellany; Bowditch Navigator; Nautical Magazine for began to form under the blotches, and continued until my face is as smooth as any body's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and, without a doubt, owe it to your SARSAPARILLA." Erysipelas-General Debility-Purify the Blood.

From Dr. Robert Sawin, Houston-st., New York. "DR. AYER-I seldom fail to remove Eruptions and Soroulous Sores by the persevering use of your SABSAPARILLA, and I have just now cured an attack of Malignant Erysipelas with it. No alterative we possess equals the SARSA-

From J. E. Johnston, Esq., Wakeman, Ohio. The ulcers were so bad that the cords be-Thankful for the patronage that has been so liberally came visible, and the doctors decided that my arm must be amputated. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA. Took two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as any body. Being in a public place, my case is known to every body in this community, and excites the wonder of all."

afflicted.

From Harvey Sickler, Esq., the able editor of the Tunkhannock Democrat, Pennsylvania "Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded his eyes for some days. A skilful physician applied nitrate of silver and other reme-dies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear open the stering and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and applying the iodide of potash lotion, as you direct. The sore began to heal when we had given the first bottle, and was well when we had finished the second. The child's cyclashes, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as

To meet your friends in Heaven. But if you will reject his word, And trample on his grace; While saints shall triumph in the Lord You'll never see His face. You'll sink in endless torments down, Before an angry God; Forever to endure his frown-You've trampled on his blood. Farewell to al!, I drop my pen, May this a blessing prove, And may we meet that child again, In the pure realms above.

MARY FOSTER.

"Children obey your parents in the Lord : for this is right."

"It is the old story, Mary; you do not know your Foster had forbidden her ever to set the dog loose, lessons, and I cannot hear you any longer. Go back | unless he gave permission ; but no, Mary was in a to your seat, and look at them again. I wonder when self-satisfied, and consequently self-reliant, frame of my little daughter will learn the one most important mind, and away she ran, unfastened the chain, and lesson of all-to do as she is bid ?"

Mrs. Foster was a delicate-looking lady, and as den. she spoke there was a troubled shade over her face, the sign of a nervous complaint, which rendered her town to make her purchases. In punishing Mary acutely sensible of any annoyance. Mary was her only child-a fine girl, with a pleasant face, and very much preferred to have had her little daughter with good-tempered. If it had not been for her great her." Children do not think how much it pains their fault of disobedience, we might have said she was a good girl. But Mary never could learn to do as she carriage entered the town, however, before the coachwas told, and hence arose a great deal of trouble to man pulled up, and Colonel Foster came to the door. her invalid mother, and much punishment to herself In a few hurried words, he told his wife that a sudden from her father, Colonel Foster.

Look at her now, as she sits in the corner, with her book, all dog-eared and stained with ink, beside her. It is not a hard lesson-only a column of spelling ; a quarter of an hour's application would master itbut then there is pussy to watch, and the window to look out of, and the button on her pinafore to twist gentle teaching. He argued that she had much betoff. Ten minutes pass. Mrs. Foster looks round.

"Mary, let that cat alone."

"Yes, mamma;" and Puss is let go, but not without a parting pinch, which sends him mewing across the room. Mary immediatel fixes her eyes on her say when she remembered Mary's behaviour that book, as if cats and noises were miles away."

Five minutes more. Mrs. Foster looks round again. Mary has got the ink-bottle, and is trying how far her fingers can go in without getting black. " Mary !" The finger is immediately withdrawn, and the book seized, receiving a broad, black stain upon the unlucky column. Mary glances hurriedly to see that her mother has turned away, smears the blot with her hand, and finally attempts to wipe it out with # binted that no doubt, she was at some mischief or corner of her pinafore; pinafore, hand, and book are now, all three, black together. She is a little bit he said. So they drove to the house, got out, and frightened, and begins again : "A-b-b-o-double-t, abbot; w-a-t-e-r, water," in a very audible voice.

thought no longer of her morning's disobedience, or how she had vexed her mother. She had learnt all her tasks, and now what was to be done next? It looked so pleasant in the garden that she got her small, had many beds of rare flowers-geraniums, fucshias, heliotropes, and scented verbenas. They were all in full blossom, and looked very pretty indeed. For a time, Mary kept the memory of her mother's words and her own prayer in her mind, and walked soberly about from bed to bed, smelling the flowers, and plucking off the dead leaves. But the fresh air and the bright sun soon drove all serious thoughts out of her head, and she became careless

The conversation that followed was very serious. The question was whether Mary was to go with them. The colonel well knew how disobedient and troublesome she was, notwithstanding her mother's ter be left behind at a good school, where her faults would not be permitted; that so, when they came back, God willing, they might have some pleasure in their daughter. Poor Mrs. Foster ! what could she very morning? She knew, in her own heart, that severe discipline and separation from home would have a great effect; but still, in her failing health. she was unwilling to leave her child behind. She told her husband how she had spoken to Mary before she left home, and added, " Let us see how she has attended to my wishes. Perhaps she may have resolved to be a good girl, henceforth." Colonel Foster other; "But I am willing to give her the chance," walked quietly through a side-door into the garden. O Mary ! if you had but kept to your good resolu-

TUST received from Boston -- 19 dozen of the cele e brated Patent Flexure Skiars, and for sale by F. A. losgnovs. These Skirts have now been brought to such state of perfection that the manufacturer unhesitatingly offers them to the public, believing that they possess more of the desirable qualities sought for than any other Skirt in the market, and is confident that they will give entire satisfaction to all who wear them.

By the use of Joints in the Hoops of the Skirt, heavier and better quality of Steel can be used, giving to and reaining in the Skirt a more graceful and elegant form, while the flexibility of the joints permits the skirt to assume an easy and graceful position when the wearer is seated! prevents the breaking of the hoops under pressure-also that permanent flattening of the Skirt so objectionable-always allowing the Skirt to return to its original form when the pressure is removed.

The quality of the Braid and the peculiar construction of the Skirt adding so greatly to its durability, particularly commend it to the favor of those who desire to unite in their purchase elegance, convenience and economy. april 1.-wpiv F. A. COSGROVE.
