THE SABBATH.

BY REV. DR. WORDSWORTH. O day of rest and gladness, O day of joy and light, O balm of care and sadness, Most beautiful, most bright; On thee the high and lowly, Bending before the Throne, Sing "Holy, Holy, Holy," To the Great Three in One. On thee, at the creation, The light first had its birth; On thee for our salvation Christ rose from depths of earth ; On thee, our Lord victorious The spirit sent from heaven, And thus on thee, most glorious, A triple light was given. Thou art a port protected From storms that round us rise; A garden intersected With streams of Paradise ; Thou art a cooling fountain In life's dry, dreary sand ; From thee, our Pisgah mountain, We view the Promised Land. Thou art a holy ladder. Where angels go and come; Each Sunday finds us gladder, Nearer to heaven our home. A day of sweet reflection, Thou art a day of love; A day of resurrection From earth to things above. To-day on weary nations The heavenly manna falls, To holy convocations The silver trumpet calls, Where Gospel light is glowing With pure and radiant beams,

And living water flowing With soul-refreshing streams. New graces ever gaining From this our day of rest, We reach the Rest remaining To spirits of the blest : To Holy Ghost be praises, To Father and to Son ; The Church her voice upraises

To Thee, blest Three in One.

he would not be ashamed of kneeling by his bedside, when all were his equals; and from that time he was continually holding communion with his God. He was repeatedly speaking to S ---- , and all the others too, and, in fact, made them promise to commence a new life. He said to them, 'Men may laugh at you but they can't strike you.'"

In reading this I felt how truly one of our great poets has said, "The boy is father of the man." The brave officer being ready to kneel down with the sick soldier in the surgery of a public hospital, was just what I should have expected from him who, as a boy, was not ashamed to repeat before his playmates his Starch; 10 boxes Corn Starch; 1 case Pearl Sago; 40 doz. Cox's Gelatine; 8 bags Walnuts; 20 dozen Painted Pails, own neglected prayers.

My young friends, what is prayer to you? Is it only a form of words which you repeat regularly because you have been taught so to do, and if by any chance you happened to forget it, would that give you little concern ? Or is it a real enjoyment, a blessed privilege, without which you feel you could not begin with comfort the work of the day, or close your eyes at night in peace? Can you say with the Psalmist, "It is good for me to draw near to God ?" Think over these questions, for the answer your conscience gives will show you much of your true state of heart and soul.

And are you ever ashamed to pray? Though you have done so morning and evening in your own quiet home, have you ever felt reluctant and ashamed to read your Bible, to kneel by your bed, when you have left home and gone among new and thoughtless companions? Think, then, of the poor soldier at Montreal, and his brave officer, and ask the Lord to | for sale by give you faith and courage like theirs, and to deliver you from the "snare" of the "fear of man."

THE THREE SIEVES .- "Oh mamma" !! cried little Blanche Philpot, "I heard such a tale about Edith Howard, I did not think she could have been so naughty. One day-"

"My dear" interrupted Mrs. Philpot, "before you continue, we will see if your story will pass the three sieves."

"What does that mean, mamma ?" said Blanche. "I will explain it, dear. In the first place is it true ?" "I suppose so, mamma. I heard it from Miss Parry, who said a friend of Miss White's told her the story ; and Miss White is a great friend of Edith's." " And does she show her friendship by telling tales of her? In the next place, though you cannot prove it is true, is it kind ?" "I did not mean to be unkind mamma, but I am afraid I was. I should not like Edith to speak of me as I have spoken of her." "And is it necessary !"

INSTINCT OF APPETITE.

About three years ago the little daughter of a farmer on the Hudson river had a fall, which induced a long, painful and dangerous illness, ending in blindness; medication availed nothing. By accident, a switch containing maple buds was placed in her hands, when she began to eat them, and called earnestly for more, and continued to eat them with avidity, improving meanwhile in her general health for some fifteen days or more, when this particular relish left her, and she called for candy, and as in the case of the two buds, ate nothing else for two weeks, when this also was dropped, a more natural taste returning with returning eyesight and usual health. This was instinct calling for those articles of food which contained the elements, the want of which lay between disease and recovery. A gentleman aged thirty-six, seemed to be in the last stage of consumptive disease, when he was seized with an uncontrollable desire for common table salt; he spread it in thick layers over his meat, and over his bread and butter ; he carried it in his vest pocket, which was daily emptied by eating a pinch at a time. He regained his health, and remained well for years afterwards. There are many persons who can record from their own personal experience, the beginning of a return to health from gratifying some insatiate desire. The celebrated Prof. Charles Caldwell was fond of relating in his lectures, that a young lady, abandoned to die, called for some pound-cake, which "science" would have pronounced a deadly dose; but as her case was considered hopeless, she was gratified, and recovered, living in good health afterwards. But in some forms of dyspepsia, to follow the cravings is The thirsty beasts of burden, along the dusty road, . to aggravate the disease. In low fevers, typhoid, yielding to the cravings is certain death. To know when and how to follow the instinct of appetite, to gratify the cravings of nature, is of inestimable value. flowing from the "Rock of Ages," and brought life in multitudes of cases, where the most skill fully very small quantity; if no uncomfortable feeling follows, gradually increase the amount, until no more fail, let us all hasten at once, with hearts athirst, to firmation in the large experience of that now beauti- Sunday School World. ful and revered name Florence Nightingale, whose memory will go down with blessing and honor side by side with that of John Howard. She says: "I have seen, not by one or tens, but by hundreds, cases where the stomach not only craves, but digests things which have never been laid down in any dietary for the sick, especially for the sick whose diseases were produced by bad food. Fruit, pickles, jams, gingerbread, fat of ham, of bacon, suet, cheese, buttermilk, &c., were administered freely, with happy results, simply because the sick eraved them. -Scientific American.

A BRAVE BOY.

Between twenty and thirty years ago, three little English boys were amusing themselves together in a wood, one summer afternoon. Suddenly one of them looked grave and left off playing. "I have forgotten something," he said ; "I forgot to say my prayers this

"No, of course not, mamma; there was no need for me to mention it at all." "Then, dear Blanche, pray that your tongue may be governed, and that you may not indulge in evil speaking, and strive more and more to imitate the meekness of your Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."---Children's Friend.

" IT NEVER DRIES UP."-I was staying at a village on the Welsh coast, where the people had to bring all their water from a well. Not a single house had a pump. At all hours of the day, but chiefly before breakfast and before tea-time, little feet and great, often unshod, but very active, might be seen passing along a narrow lane, with every kind of pitcher, kettle, and can, to a fresh-water well. Not a very trustworthy friend, after all, was this village well.

" Is this well ever dry ?" I inquired.

" Bry ? Yes, ma'am ; very often, in hot weather." " And where do you go then for water ?"

"To the spring, a little way out of town."

" And if the spring dries up ?"

"Why, then we go to the well higher up,--the best water of all."

" But if the well higher up fails ?"

"Why, ma'am, that well never dries up, never. It is always the same, winter and summer."

I went to see this precious well which "never dries up." It was a clear, sparkling rivulet, coming down from the high hills, not with torrent-leap and roar, but with the steady flow and soft murmur of fulness and freedom. It flowed down to the highway side. It was within reach of every child's little pitcher. It was enough for every empty vessel. The small birds came down thither to drink. The ewes and knew the way (as I could see by their tracks) to the well that " never dries up."

It reminded me of the waters of life and salvation, within reach of all men by the gospel of Jesus "exhibited" drugs have been entirely unavailing. days of drought and adversity; but this heavenly spring never ceases to flow.

Without waiting till earth's wayside brooks shall the heavenly well "WHICH NEVER DRIES UP."-

THE DRUNKARD'S GRAVE.

Dirge-like the wind moaneth, Pall-like the cloud loometh. Over yon mound, where no dark willows wave.

Sweetly the babe sleepeth, While the lone wife weepeth

Desolate tears o'er the poor drunkard's grave. Up from that vault of gloom, Sadly the warnings come, Whispering, wailing, entreating to save.

Ye who laugh merrily, Ye who sing cheerily,

Ponder awhile at the poor drunkard's grave. " Once angels were list'ning,

And dew drops were glist'ning ; Virtue and Truth their bright bao
