From foes within, and foes without, Gradually he worked his way down through these things and got pretty well to the bottom. Of course The storm though threatening to o'erwhelm, he could breathe well enough, yet he pulled the things so well about him that he could only be seen with difficulty, especially as the box was still on top of the barrel. He then began to think about his watch, until he got more angry than ever. He took it out and tried to look at it, but it was too dark. While he was handling it the cracked pieces of glass fell out and one of the hands dropped off. This only increased his passion. He now blamed the boys for all this, though he was injuring his watch far more than they had done in only breaking the glass. As the barrel was standing not far from the back door of the shop he could hear some things that were said. He heard the grocer say to a customer :---

Poetry.

Like the expiring thief I cry,

To thee, when lifted up on high,

Deign to remember me!

Lest I a murmurer be;

O Lord, remember me!

Lord, my director be;

In mercy deign to be my guide,

Oh! suffer not my feet to stray,

But arm with fortitude to bear

Save me from unbelief and sin,

Often I do the thing I hate,

And thus remember me!

From this rebellious heart within,

And bid the tempter flee ;

Canst thou remember me?

Lord my restorer be ;

Will soon subside into a calm,

Thy garden visit once again,

Lord, for the honor of thy name,

Then glorying in Omnipotence,

Ever remember me!

I'll cast my all on thee ;

In all things may thy will be done,

Hear but my prayers, comprised in one.

Wilt thou remember me!

And be my shield, my strong defence,

If thou remember me!

Each grace requires a heavenly shower,

That bloomed in sad affliction's hour,

Now withering seems to be;

Dear Lord, remember me!

Thinking from grief to flee ;

In every place, in every stage

Of life's eventful pilgrimage,

He poured his humble plea ;

ALBERT IN THE SUGAR BARREL A STORY FOR PASSIONATE BOYS.

One day Albert and his sister were quietly playing in the sitting-room. A kind aunt who lived in the family had taught them many pleasant little games, and at these they often spent a pleasant hour. Sometimes Albert would grow angry and say unkind things. After a little while he would get over it, and then he felt grieved. He would say inwardly. "Now what have I gained by my anger ? I have made my sister cry and spoiled her pleasure for half a day. My mother has taken me up-stairs in our little bedroom and made me kneel down by her bed-side. There she prayed God to make me a better boy, and every time she said a word to our heavenly Father over myself." it seemed as if my heart would break. I would soonpray ten words after I have offended her."

These and many like reasonings he would have to out from the hiding place, for then he would be into a passion again. But just as soon as something -you may be sure of that. crossed his path, even if his sister Mary-one of the school-house was about the centre of the town, and shops and dwellings were all up and down the street. There was not a vacant spot to be seen. There was recess for a half hour in the middle of the forenoon, and as the boys had been pretty well housed up through the winter you may know that they enjoyed getting out of doors and having a good time at play whenever the weather permitted. As soon as the teacher gave the signal for recess out the boys ran as fast as their feet could carry them. In their haste they ran against each other, as boys have often done before. Some were a little pressed by the crowd, but still there was no occasion for any one to get offended. Not a boy there intended to hurt another, and for this, if for no other reason, none should have got offended.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS. HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!

DISORDERS OF THE STOMACH, LIVER, AND BOWELS.

The Stomach is the great centre which influences the health or disease of the system-abused or debilitated by excess-indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostra tion are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver, becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, &c. The Bowels sympathise by Costiveness, Diarrhoea and Dysectery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach, and the liver, lungs, bowels and kidneys participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.

"Hide-and-seek ?" So shouted they all, and that was the game to be played. I said all shouted "Hide and seek !" No, there was one exception. Albert said nothing; for as the crowd came rushing up he was pushed against the elbow of the boy before him, and fearing the worst, he looked at his new watch, and behold, the glass was broken ! It was a beautiful watch, and he had received it as a birth-day gift only the week before. He began to cry, and if it had not been for his pride he would have wept aloud. He was a boy of spirit, however, and he did not wish He was a boy of spirit, however, and he did not wish to be thought a baby. So he brushed away the W red, 150 dozen Kid Gloves, wholesale and retail, at ears and said, "Never mind; I'll spite them. I know I due 2 .- wpi

THE POWER OF A GODLY LIFE .- " She never spoke to me on the subject of religion, but her life was always speaking, and I could never put it away from my thoughts till I came to the cross of Christ.' Such was the declaration of a young man with regard to an older sister, whose life of consistent spirituality was the means of leading him to the Saviour, a minister of whose Gospel he has now been for years. In times of revival, and at all times when Christians are urged to renewed faithfulness, do they not often think that such faithfulnesss is to be put forth chiefly in talking to others? It is true indeed that we should "speak from one to another," and that we should at proper times say to the impenitent, 'Come with us, and we will do thee good ; for the Lord hath spoken good concerning Israel." But it is not at all times we must speak, and some have not the judgment always to speak wisely and profitably. If we speak only from a sense of duty, and when the heart does not feel what the lips express, it is generally in vain that we speak. If our life is inconsistent, it will counteract the most eloquent speaking,

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The most gratifying proof of the expansion of the busi-ness is exhibited in the one following fact—that the increase lone of the last three years exceeds the entire business of some of the existing and of many of the recently defunct fire insurance companies of this kingdom. The Premiums for the year 1855 being.....£130,060 While the Premiums for the year 1558 are 196,148 Showing an actual increase of 66,088 upwards of 50 per cent. in three years.

The recent returns of duty made by Government for this latter year (1858) again show the "Royal" as more than maintaining the ratio of its increase as stated in former years. Only one among the London insurance offices exhibits an advance to the extent of one-half the increase of the Company, while all the others respectively fall far short of the nety of its advance.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

fhe amount of new Life Premiums received this year is by far the largest received in any similar period since the commencement of the business, and must far exceed the average of amount received by the most successful offices In the kingdom. The number of policies issued in the year was 832, the sum assured £387,752 6s. 8d., and the premium £12,354 3s. 4d. These figures show a very rapid extension of business during the last ten years. Thus :—

ears.	No.	of Policies.	Sums Assured.		New Premis

The remarkable increase in the business of the last for rears is mainly consequent upon the large bonus declared 1855, which amounted to no less than £2 per cent. per annum on the sums assured, and averaged 80 per cent. upon the premiums paid. PERCY M. DOVE, Manager and Actuary. JOHN M. JOHNSTON, Secretary to the London Board. All descriptions of property taken at fair rates, and Fire tosses paid promptly on reasonable proof of loss—without reference to the head Establishment.
