is an evil peculiar to large towns and cities. A certain amount of work is necessary to the proper education of children; their future independence and comfort depends on their being accustomed to provide for the thousand constantly recurring wants that nature entails on them. Even if this necessity did not exist, moderate employment of some kind would preserve them from bad habits; promote health and enable them to bear the confinement of the school room, and teach them more than anything else appropriate views respecting their future welfare. It is toc often the case that children after spending six hours of the day in school, are permitted to spend the rest of the day as they please. They do not consider that their success in after life depends upon the improvement of their youthful hours. They grow up in the world without a knowledge of its toils and cares. They cannot appreciate the favors bestowed on them by their parents, as they do not know the toils they cost.

Their bodies and minds are enervated, and they are constantly exposed to whatever vicious associations are within their reach. The daughter probably becomes that pitiable object, a fashionable girl. The son, if he surmounts the consequences of his parents' important objects come too late. No man or woman is thoroughly educated if not required to labor.

Whatever accomplishments they possess, whatever their mental training in the voyage of life, they require some practical knowledge and experience derived from accustoming themselves to useful labor of Alone bears up with pleasing hope,

Creatures there are most everywhere,

Whose truest name is creepers ;

More numerous far the hosts that are

In church and out, called sleepers.

On Sunday morn, with looks forlorn

You find them in the chapel,

In sermon time, like Eve sub'ime

Dreaming about that apple,

Genius and art united,

The organ's noise and human voice,

Excite them some, and going home

They say they were delighted :

Into the chapel straying ;

Pay men to do their praying.

Daily they take his potions,

Hence generally, snore merrily

This may be so on earth below,

Where Satan watch is keeping;

Not now on earth are sleeping ?

Sin ends with life where joys are rife,

And so ends true religion !

Both fare alike for ages,

So say of late, men of conceit,

Pardon me, I meant sages.

After a time, midst scenes sublime,

The sleeping soul will hear the roll

Of most tremendous thunder ;

The other part shall not depart

Or be from Jesus driven;

But in a fire they shall expire,

Ne'er see another morrow !

(Don't be o'ercome with wonder,)

All forth shall come to hear their doom,

Some welcomed home to heaven,

Five minutes end their sorrow!

Well may the bad sing and be glad,

Branches and roots, like to the brutes,

Wicked and just are in the dust,

No voice nor song from all earth's throng

But is't the case that all our race,

Next Sunday comes, they leave their homes

Thankful that still, earth's money will

The Science of Health.

DISORDERS OF THE STOMACH, LIVER, AND BOWELS.

The Stomach is the great centre which influences the health or disease of the system- abused or debilitated by excess-indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostration are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, &c.
