

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

ARRIVAL OF THE "ASIA."

St. John's, N. E. Sept. 27.
The "Asia," from Liverpool 17th Queenstown
18th, at Cape Race 4 p.m. on Tuesday.

The London Herald, alluding to the Presidential election, says:—"We believe all negotiations must fail, as all force has failed. We believe a separation to be just and wise and to have become inevitable, but readily admit that if re-union were possible, the Democratic plan offers the only chance of its accomplishment."

Active operations have commenced for the manufacture of the Atlantic Telegraph cable.

The Times lectures the Australians who talk of separating from England to indulge in its taste for military glory, and proceeds to show the Australians that had England gone to war for Poland, Russia, expecting the outbreak, had instructed her Admirals on the American coast to blockade the coast, and to send troops by different routes for a common rendezvous, ascertained to be mid-ocean. The fleet thus assembled was to hold itself in readiness and hear down on Australian colonies. The assemblies (7) would be fully adequate to the service.

The Bank of France returns show a falling off of $320,000 in bullion.

It is stated that Napoleon is about to join the Emperor in Germany. This would probably lead to an interview between the French, Russian, and Prussian sovereigns.

London flat rents 65.95. Exchange different. BRAZIL AND MONTENEGRO.—A late telegraph states that the Government of Montenegro refused the ultimatum addressed to them by Brazil, with a view to the evacuation of the Republic of Montenegro, and that armed intervention by Brazil is consequently expected.

JAPAN.—The Paris Monitor reports that the English consul in Japan had summoned the Japanese Government to remove within 20 days, all obstacles to the navigation of the Straits of Nankai, caused by the fortifications Prince Nangate erected; if the command would not be complied with the fortifications would be attacked.

London. Money Market.—Demand for discount at the Bank on the 16th was unimportant. On open market business was rather active. Stocks less animated owing to unfavourable returns of the Bank of France. Short loans 6 per cent.

London. Telegraph.—Sept. 17th.—Evening.—The China reached Liverpool this afternoon.

Politics unimportant. Mr. Baxter, in addressing his constituents at Montrose, repeated sentiments heartily sympathizing with the Government.

The Paris Monitor gives rumors that negotiations were progressing at Vienna with the object to prolong until the 15th of December, the armistice which expired on the 15th of September.

Supposed new privateer Alabama, at Bremerhaven has been purchased by Prussia for the purpose of attacking the Crown Princess of Prussia has given birth to a son.

Captain Speke, the African traveller, was accidentally killed.

London. Sept. 28. 88½. Provisions heavy.

The Asia has 124 passengers. She experienced westerly winds during the entire passage.

UNITED STATES.

THE FAULTLESS ACCIDENT ON THE PENNSYLVANIA CENTRAL RAILROAD.—Many persons burned to death. The telegraph has given a brief narration of a terrible disaster which occurred on the Pennsylvania Central Railroad about half past four o'clock on Wednesday morning, in consequence of the collision of two trains.

The following additional particulars are from the Philadelphia Press:

"The morning being quite cold, about half an hour before a fire had been kindled in the first car. The stove was instantly extinguished, and the flames burst up and soon enveloped it. The flames were made by the passengers to escape. They rushed to the doors, but found them locked. The key was probably in the pocket of the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

Some endeavored to get out of the windows, but this was difficult, and in some cases impossible. Some, after having thrust their head and shoulders through the windows, were unable to get further, and found a slow and torturing death from the flames. Others held their limbs braced while getting out. By continued efforts, to which the Conductor, who was on this car, and who must have been killed instantly. Many of the passengers were stupefied at the immensity of the danger, and made but feeble efforts to escape.

successes of the season. The effect is not simply limited to the defeat of one of the rebel generals, but involves a change of the rebel tactics, which must ultimately prove fatal to the rebellion of Maryland and Pennsylvania, gives us the free control of the valley in which we had hitherto been nearly as unfortunate, and opens to us the road to Lynchburg. This city, under our possession, or simply invested, we can force General Lee to evacuate Richmond, and to seek a refuge somewhere else. At the same time, the small force sent by the rebels to invade Kentucky, being left without support, will be compelled to fall back, and free the State from their presence, an advantage which, considering the depredations committed by the rebels, and the large number of recruits, horses and cattle have been gathering, cannot be over-estimated.

General Early, I understand, has been made so confident by his past successes, and so sure of repelling every attack of the Union armies, as to venture in presence of an enemy stronger than he was, and to weaken his army by detaching General Gordon and sending him to the pursuit of General Averell. This decision was a fatal error. He directed the Sixth corps in front of the enemy, ordered the Nineteenth to take a circuitous route, which brought it right to Early's flank, so as to make a junction at the foot of Bunker's Hill, where the rebel general was encamped and fortified, whilst General Crook, commanding the army of Western Virginia, was held in reserve. It is to the support given by the latter to the Nineteenth corps, and to the brilliant charge of the cavalry, that the victory is mainly due. Gen. Early, attacked at different points at once and nearly surrounded, was after a desperate resistance, compelled to give up and to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

The strategy which achieved this brilliant success is no less remarkable than the gallantry and firmness of our soldiers under fire. It places Gen. Sherman very high in the opinion of military men, and adds greatly to the fame already acquired by our arms. As to General Early, who had actually under his command 15,000 men, all told, his discomfiture is complete. Those who know his resources, say it will be impossible for him to remain in the valley unless he is strongly reinforced. Unfortunately for him, reinforcements cannot be had at present, except from the army of the Potomac, which is now engaged to fly in disorder, leaving three thousand prisoners in our hands, five guns, fifteen flags, and an immense material.

ture the State to the Union. The situation in that direction is considered critical, and Davis's presence is required.

Hood's army too is greatly demoralized. Gold 100.

AN ARTICLE OF THE MOST INTEREST.—Brown's Bronchial Troches are the most popular article in this country or Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs, and its popularity is based upon real merit, which cannot be said of many other preparations in the market which are really but weak imitations of the genuine Troches.

SPEDDY BUT EFFECTUAL.—Be warned in season—prevention is better, perhaps easier than cure. Most of our young men and women, from the ages of 25 to 35, begin to part with their hair. Little by little it begins to drop out. Without delay procure Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer and Zytobalsam, or Hair Dressing; they act directly on the roots of the hair, invigorating them, rendering the hair soft, silky and glossy. Every Druggist sells them.

OUR FUTURE TERMS
On and after the 1st day of October next (1864), the price of this paper will be

TWO DOLLARS A YEAR,
PAYABLE IN ADVANCE.
Parties paying One Dollar and Fifty Cents previous to that time, will be credited for ONE YEAR from the time their present terms expire.

Persons who fail to pay for the renewal of their papers previous to October 1st, will, after that time, be charged at the rate of Two Dollars per annum. Subscriptions may be paid as usual at the Book Store of Messrs. Barnes & Co., St. John, or remitted to ourselves at Fredericton, or when more convenient, paid to local agents.

DISTRICT MEETINGS
The following District Meetings will all be held in the course of a few weeks:—

1st. With the Church in Perth—the first Saturday in October.

3d. With the church in Douglas—the second Saturday in October.

4th. With the church at Upper Hamstead—the third Saturday in October.

5th. With the Church at Bellisle, "Lake Meeting House"—the fifth Saturday in October.

7th. With the first church in St. John, the fourth Saturday in October.

FREE BAPTIST EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY.
Notice is hereby given that a public meeting will be held in the Vestry of the Free Baptist Church, Fredericton, on Thursday, the 6th of October next, at 9 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of organizing an Educational Society, having for its object the promotion of Education in the Free Baptist Denomination of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. It is proposed, if found expedient, to adopt a Constitution and Bye Laws at this meeting, and to elect officers for the ensuing year. The friends of a Free Baptist Denominational School, and all persons friendly to the promotion of the educational interests of that body, are requested to be present.

Persons in either Province favorable to the organization of a FREE BAPTIST EDUCATIONAL SOCIETY, but who may be unable to attend the meeting herein called, would confer a special favor by addressing a letter to the Rev. E. McLeod, Fredericton, previous to the 6th proximo, expressing their approval, and signifying their wish (if they so desire), to be enrolled as members.

By Request,
September 12th, 1864.

Receipts for the "Religious Intelligencer" to Sept. 30.
Subscribers will please see that their money is correctly acknowledged. The whole number of the paper to which they pay, follows the amount paid.

NEW BRUNSWICK.—J. W. Higgins, $1.50, 50¢; J. Fowler, 1.50, 50¢; A. Machon, 1.50, 50¢; J. Lewis, 1.50, 50¢; John Crossman, 1.50, 50¢; J. Joseph, 1.50, 50¢; W. H. Whetton, 1.50, 50¢; A. Machon, 1.50, 50¢; Walter Crossman, 1.50, 50¢; A. Carpenter, 1.50, 50¢; Geo. Morrow, 1.50, 50¢.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Life boats are not more necessary at sea than this Lifeboat. The exemption from scurvy, and other scourges, and the recovery of health, is constantly, is attributable to the antiseptic action of Holloway's Pills.

Sold at the manufacturers, No. 50 Maiden Lane, N. York and No. 24 Strand, London, and by all Druggists. If the reader of this notice cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the Drug Store in his place, let him write to us, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' medicine. 25c. 62c. and $1.00 per box.

LOVE POINT, N. S., March 8th, 1864.
I had been afflicted with Rheumatism for twenty four years, and for the last year it had become so violent, that I was unable to move, and was in great pain, which had rendered me for six months unable to work, until I commenced the use of GRAY'S Ointment, which I used for a few days, and I was able to move, and to my own astonishment, as well as that of others, I have remained free of pain, and from this time to this I am able to do all my own work, and I consider this medicine a blessing to mankind.

Price 25 Cents per bottle. Sold by Druggists and Dealers in Pat. Meds. THOMAS GRAHAM.

MARRIAGES.
In Portland, on the 27th inst., by Rev. William Harrison, to Mr. William Britain, to Miss Mary Jane Lambert, both of Carleton.

On the 2