ARRIVAL OF THE "AFRICA."

HALIFAX, June 7. The Africa, Capt. Anderson, left Liverpool at 10 past 6 o'clock, on the morning of the 7th. She has They go in about equal number East and West. 17 Halifax and 89 Boston passengers.

In the House of Commons on the 26th, Sir J. Walsh asked Lord Palmerston whether the Governsation to American subjects for losses sustained by alleged to have been equipped in British ports. for some time between the two governments on subject of prizes taken by Alabama and other vessels of the same kind. We had received within the last few days, correspondence on the subject through Mr. Adams, but there had not yet been time to reply to it. He might add that in that correspondence, in which each government had stated its views of the case, the question had been discussed in the most friendly and amicable terms. Mr. Baxter asked Palmerston whether, looking at the changed aspect of affairs in America. Her Majesty's Government either seperately or in conjunction with United States, would consider the propriety of sending a squadron to the coast of Cuba to effectually terminate the slave trade.

Palmerston said, twelve months ago Government invited the co-operation of United States in measures. on west coast of Africa. American government expressed willingness, but difficulties arose on account of neutral and belligerent rights which could not be overcome, but in present altered state of things, Her Majesty's Government had renewed the application to United States, stating that cruisers employed in that service would be received with every privilege and courtesy which belonged to a friendly nation, and that former difficulties no longer existed. No representation had been made as to co-operation on Cuban coast, but if they assented to co-operate on African coast, he had no doubt they would also cordially cooperate on Coast of Cuba.

London Times editorially trusts that there is nothing in Alabama affair which need cause apprehensions of rupture either now or at any future time. The American commercial marine has indeed suffered, but such a calamity must be expected when a maritime and trading state enters into contest with an energetic and active enemy. It is with a clear conscience that the Government which declined every invitation to interfere in war, even by offers of meditation, now compensation where it has done no wrong.

in the hands of the proper authorities for investigation. The letter is mailed in this city, and bears the signature of "Grape Vine," Steamer Heather Bell destroyed by fire here this A Washington correspondent says that Gen. Steele

Boston, June 6. The departure of troops North and West from Washington continues with vigor. > Boston, June 7. The Cincinatti Commercial's Chattanooga despatch states, that leading Southern journals are endeavouring to reconcile the people to the loss of their slaves. Large quantities of cotton are coming to the light in Montgomery, Alabama.

The Alabama delegation left Washington on their return yesterday, without having obtained permission to re-assemble the Legislature.

A Provisional Governor will be appointed.

Mrs. Lincoln has received a letter of condolence from the Empress Eugenie of France.

It is understood that Mrs. Jefferson Davis has expressed a wish to go to Europe. Cotton has declined to 42 @ 43c.

Breadstuffs and provisions also show a decline in New York markets.

The Herald's Columbia (S. her death did she fully realize that God for Christ's sake she sent for her brother and sisters, talked treely to them about religion, and told them to prepare to meet her in heaven; and not do, as she had done, putting off salvation until a death bed. O, said the dying sister, it is a hard place to prepare for death; then, clasping her hands toge-ther, she said, I feel at peace with God and all below. I am going a long joarney, never to return. I feel no pain now—all is peaceful. Afterwards she repeated these lines :

"My heavenly home is bright and fair, Nor pain, nor death, can enter there, Its glittering towers the sun outshine, That heavenly mansion shall be mine."

The day previous to her departure the Lord manifested himself to her in a blessed manner. O how she deplored keeping back her heart from God so long. it was not until SILKS ; SHAWLS ; DRESS GOODS : she gave up all, that she obtained the pardoning love of Jesus, and was enabled to repeat these lines quite distinctly.

Jesus, lover of my soul, Let me to thy bosom fly, While the tempest still is high, Hide me, O, my Saviour, hide, Till the storm of hife be past, Safe into the haven guide, O receive my soul at last.

Our dear young sister lingered until the following morn-ing, her last desire was, that the teachers of the school should be presented with her likeness as a token of her dying love ; her affectionate mother said do you know my dear that death is near. Yes, mother, was the reply, I shall soon be home O, said she, I never loved you all so much as I do now. Just as death had taken hold of her she said, mother, all is dark, pray; the mother kneeled down and offered up her child in prayer. In a few minutes her countenance was beaming with a heavenly light. Joy assed over her soul, and she exclaimed all is light, all is light. Biding her father good-bye, she fell asleep in Jesus.
