THE INFANT'S DREAM.

many years since :

O cradle me on thy knee, mamma. And sing in the holy strain

That soothed me last, as you fondly prest My glowing cheek to your soft white breast ; For I saw a scene while I slumbered last, That I fain would see again, mamma, That I fain would see again.

I fancied I roamed in a wood, mamma, And rested me under a bough, When near me a batterfly flaunted in pride, And I chased it away through the forest so wide, Till the night came on, and I lost my guide, And I knew not what to do, mamma, And I knew not what to do.

My heart grew sick with fear, mamma, And loudly I called for thee,

When a white-robed maiden appeared in the air, And flung back the curls of her golden hair, And kissed me softly ere I was aware, Saying, Come, pretty babe, with me, mamma, Saying, Come, pretty babe, with me.

My tears and fears I quelled, mamma, As she led me far away, Till we entered the door of a dark, dark tounb, And passed through a long, long vault of gloom, Then opened my eyes on a land of bloom, And a sky of endless day, mamma, And a sky of endless day.

And heavenly forms were there, mamma, And lovely angels bright;

They smiled when they saw me, but I was amazed, And wondering round me, gazed and gazed, While songs were heard, and sunny robes blazed, All fair in the land of light, mamma, All fair in the land of light.

And soon came a shining throng, mamma,

Of white-robed babes to me; Their eyes looked love, their sweet lips smiled, They marvelled to see an earth-born child, And gloried that I from earth was exiled, Saying, Here ever blest shalt thou be, sweet babe, Saying, Here ever blest shalt thou be.

Do you mind when sister Jane, mamma, Lay dead a short time ago?

be; and yet we hear thoughtless girls say that a man is not to be the less esteemed because he has been " a little wild and dissipated." An uncongenial match, once formed, may demand mutual forbearance and The following beautiful piece is said to have been tolerance, but can never yield happiness. On the the production of a Wesleyan minister in Ireland, other hand, once placed by a binding obligation by the side of a man of this character, have you trained yourself to deal with him wisely ? Have you that sweetness of temper which can win him, and those womanly virtues which can enforce his respect ? The mere learning of your school days, and the outside accomplishments in which you have prided yourself, are poor aids in the healing of domestic strifes.

When "engaged to be married"-or, we should say, before you take this first step, you should well weigh the question, whether you possess the qualifications to make a home happy-to fix the attachment of a husband by a temper so well controlled, an information so intelligent, a management so discreet, a manner so bland and affectionate, and principles of religion so grounded, that when personal beauty begins to fade, and domestic cares and griefs intervene, you will possess an influence which will make home still the brightest spot on earth. For want of this seif-training, many-alas, how many !- find marriage the beginning of real sorrows, instead of a refuge of peace. Who has not heard of gay bridals speedily followed by serious misunderstandings, alienations, neglect, mutual dislike, and separations ? There are in such cases, faults on both sides, which better preparation, before the inevitable step, would have prevented. Hence it is that we never hear the announcement, "Engaged to be married," that we do not project our thoughts into the future, and ponder the probabilities of a happy union ; whether the young voyagers have the proper ballast for their barque, an unfailing compass, a suitable experience to trim their sails for propitious breezes, and a previous knowledge of the dangers to be encountered on the untried ocean over which they are to sail. - Phila. Presbyterian.

MAXIMS FOR THE MANAGEMENT OF CHILDREN.

"When the ground is soft and gentle, it is time to sow the seed; when the branch is tender, we can train it easiest; when the stream is small, we can best turn its course.

1. Begin to train your children from the cradle. From their earliest infancy inculcate the necessity of obedience-instant unhesitating obedience. Obedience is very soon understood even by an infant. Read Pro, xxii. 6; Eph. vi. 1, 2; Col. iii. 20.

2. Unite firmness with gentleness. Let your children understand that you mean exactly what you say. Gen. xviii. 19 ; 1 Sam. iii. 13 ; 1 Tim. iii. 4.

When you gazed on the sad but lovely wreck With a full flood of wee you could not check, And your heart was so sore you wished it to break, But it lived, and you still sobbed on, mamma, But it lived, and you still sobbed on ?

But, O! had you been with me, mamma,

In the region unknown to care, And seen what I've seen, you would not have cried, xiv. 29; xvi. 32. Though they laid sister Jane in the grave when she died,

For blest with the blest, and adorned like a bride, Sweet sister Jane was there.

Do you mind the poor old man, mamma,

Who came so late to our door ? The night was dark, and the storm was loud, His heart was meek, though his soul was proud, And his ragged old mantle served him for a shroud Ere the midnight watch was o'er, mamma, Ere the midnight watch was o'er.

Do you mind the weight of woe, mamma,

Made heavy each long-drawn sigh, As he told how he went to the baron's stronghold, Saying, O! let me in, for the night is so cold ; But the rich man cried, Go sleep on the wold, For we shelter no beggars here, old man,

For we shelter no beggars here?

Do you mind how the heavenward look, mamma, Flashed through each trembling tear, As the good man sat in papa's old chair, While the rain ran down from his thin grey hair As fast as the tear of speechless care Ran down from his glazing eye, mamma, Ran down from his glazing eye?

Well, he was in glory too, mamma,

As blessed as the blessed could be ; He needed no alms in the mansions of light, For he walked with the patriarchs clothed in white, place." John vi. 12; 1 Cor. xiv. 40. Nor angel nor seraph had a crown more bright, Or a costlier robe than he, mamma, Or a costlier robe than he.

Now sing, for I fam would sleep, mamma, And dream as I dreamed before, For sweet was my slumber, and sound was my rest When my soul in the mansion of life was a guest, And the world I would give, if the world I possessed Again that land to see, mamma, Again that land to see.

7. Do not be always correcting your children; and never use violent or terrifying punishments. A boy had been guilty of lying and stealing. His father talked with him on the greatness of his sin, told him he must punish him, represented to him the consequences of sin as far worse than his present punishment, and then chastised him. These means were made a blessing to the child, and from that time he shunned both falsehood and dishonesty. A few angry words and violent blows would have produced no such effect. Prov. xiii. 24; xxii. 15; xxix. 15; Eph. vi. 4.

8. On no account allow them to do at one time what you have forbidden under the same circumstances at another. Exod. xx. 12; Prov. vi. 20-22.

9. Teach them early to speak the truth on all occasions. If you allow them to deceive in small matters, they will soon do it in greater, till all reverence for truth is lost. Prov. xii. 19, 22.

10. Be very carefai what company your children keep. "He that walketh with wise men shall be wise : but a companion of fools shall be destroyed." Prov. xiii. 20.

11. Make your children useful as soon as they are able, and find employment for them as far as possible. Prov. x. 4; xviii. 9; xix. 15; 2 Thess. iii. 10.

13. Never suffer yourself to be amused by an immodest action; nor, by a smile, encourage those seeds fruits of vice and misery. -Eph. v. 11, 12.

14. Encourage your children to do well; show them you are pleased when they do well. Prov. i. 8, 9. 15. Teach your children to pray by praying with and for them. Maintain the worship of God in your family, if you desire his blessing to descend on you and yours. Josh. xxiv. 15; Psa. ci. 2. 16. Impress upon their minds that ETERSITY is be-

The Stomach is the great centre which influences the health or disease of the system abused or debilitated by excess—indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostra-tion are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side Ac. The Bowels sympathise by Costiveness, Diarrhosa and Dysectery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach, and the liver, langs, bowels and kidneys participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent ; to these the Ointment is especially antagonistic-its modus operandi is first to eradicate the vermin and then complete the cure.
