He afterwards gave Mr. Ashmun a card to adsible to get at the full facts of the case, but it appears mit himself and friend early next morning to converse that a young man entered the President's box from further about it. Turning to Mr. Colfax he said: the theatre during the last act of the play of "Our the theatre during the last act of the play of "Our "You are going with me and Mrs. Lincoln to the American Cousin," with pistol in hand, and shot the theatre, I hope," but Mr. Colfax had other engage-President in the upper part of the breast, or perhaps ments, expecting to leave the city the next morning. in the neck, and instantly jumped from the box upon He then said to Mr. Colfax; "Mr. Sumner has the the stage, and immediately disappeared through the side scenes and the rear of the theatre, brandishing Richmond to hand to the Secretary of War, but I a dirk knife and dropping a kid glove on the stage. The assassin was followed across the stage by a entleman who sprang out from an orchestra chair. He rushed through the side door into an alley, thence to the avenue, and mounted a dark bay horse, which he apparently received from the hand of an accomplice, dashed up to F street, thence toward the back part of the city. The escape was se sudden that he effectually eluded pursuit. - The assassin cried sic semper tyrannis, in a sharp clear voice, as he jumped Rathbone was not aware of the presence of the ass. ssin in the box until he heard the pistol, when turning, he saw the man within six feet of the President. The Major sprang towards and seized bim. The man struggled, and at the same time made a thrust at the Major's heart with a knife. The Major received the blow on his left arm and shoulder, and at once again sprang for him as he leaped from the box. He cried stop that man," and thinking it impossible for him to escape from the crowd below, turned to the President. The President had not changed his position, dark eyebrows; wears a large seal ring on his little except that his eyes were closed, and his head slight- tinger; when talking inclines his head forward and ly bent forward. About 10 o'clock a man rang the door-bell, and the call having been answered by the colored servant, he sician, with a prescription, at the same time holding in his hand a small piece of folded paper, and saying, in answer to a refusal, that he must see the Secretary, as he was entrusted with particular directions concerning the medicines. He still insisted on going up, although repeatedly informed that no one could enter the chamber. The man pushed the servant aside and walked heavily towards the Secretary's room, and was there met by Frederick Seward, of whom he demanded to see the Secretary, making the same representation which he did to the servant. What further passed in the way of colloquy is not known, but the man struck him on the head with the billy, severely injuring the skull and felling him almost senseless. The assassin then rushed into the chamber, and attacked Maj. Seward, Paymaster of the U. S. Army, and Mr. Hansel of the State Department, and two male servants, disabling them all. He then rushed upon the Secretary, who was lying in bed in the same room, and inflicted three stabs in the neck, but sebled profusely.

THE LAST DAY OF THE PRESIDENT. As everything pertaining to the last hours of the late President must be interesting to the public, the following incidents of the last day of his life have been obtained from several sources:

His son, Captain Lincoln, breakfasted with him on Friday morning, having just returned from the capitulation of Lee, and the President passed a happy hour, listening to all the details. While at breakfast he heard that Speaker Colfax was in the house, and sent word that he wished to see him immediately in the reception room. He conversed with him nearly an hour about his future policy as to the rebellion, which he was about to submit to his Cabinet. Afterwards he had an interview with Mr. Hule, Minister to Spain and several Senators and Representatives.

At 11 o'clock the Cabinet and Gen. Grant met with him, and in one of the most satisfactory Cabinot meetings held since his first inauguration, the luture policy of the Administration was harmomously and unanimously agreed upon. When it adjourned, Secretary Stanton said he felt that the Government was stronger than at any previous period since the rebellion commenced. In the afternoon the President had a long and pleasant interview with Gen. Oglesby, Senator Yates, and other leading critizens of his State. In the evening, Mr. Colfax called again at his request, and Mr. Ashmun, of Massachusetts, who presided over the Chicago Convention of 1860, was

Mr. Ashmun alluded to the gavel which he still had, and which he had used at Lincoln, who was also in the parlor, rose to go to the theatre. It was half an hour after the time they had intended to start, and they spoke about waiting half an hour longer, for the President started with much reluctance, as Gen, Grant had gone North, and he did not wish the people to be disappointed, as they had both been advertised to be there. At the door he stopped and said : "Colfax, do not forget to tell the people in the mining regions, as you pass through them, what I told you this morning about the development when peace comes, and I will telegraph you at San Francisco." He shook hands with both gentlemen with a pleasant "good-bye," and he left the Executive Mansion, never to return to it alive. DESCRIPTION OF THE ASSASSINS.

This new book will be found superior to all similar works, in many points essential to its success as a popular Instruction Book in Vocal Music and Collection of Melodies for the Young. The elementary department contains just those peculiar elements that altract and retain the attention of children. The Songs are not old and time worn—sung through a dozen books—but new and sparkling, adapted to all occasions, and alive with the Spirit of the Times. A large number have been written expressly for this work. The Melodies are equally good. and include very many Compositions never before published. All who have examined this work predit for it a sucess that of any similar publication. Price 50 cents a copy $5.00 a dozen. Spectruon pages containing several choice pieces will be sent to any one on application.

WARREN'S COUGH BALSAM! HAS BEEN FOUND BY EXPERIENCE TO BE THE BEST REMEDY for the various diseases of the Lungs and Throat, such as Diptheria, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Croup, Influenza, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, or luflammation of the Lungs, and Whooping Cough. IN THESE COMPLAINTS, this Medicine has no superior; and while thus efficacious, it is perfectly safe to administer to persons of all ages. At all times of the year this Balsam is found useful, especially in the Autumo, Winter, and Spring; and many Colds and Coughs, which, if neglected, might prove fatal, may be cured at once by a few doses of this invaluable remedy. The Cough Balsam possesses the two fold advantage of being at once valuable as a curative, and invaluable as a preventive of all the diseases of the Throat, Lungs, and In DIPTHERIA, this Balsam has proved itself unexpectedly efficacious. When given at the first onset of the pestilence, it checks it at once; and in many cases it is elieved by those who have taken it, to have saved their In ASTHMA, however violent and distressing, this Bal-In BRONCHITIS and PNEUMONIA it relieves the irri-

This insidious BAKER'S FLOUR.—To arrive, via Portland, from Mon-disease, coming literally "like a third in the night," may be speedily and effectually arrested by a few timely doses In WHOOPING COUGH, it moderates the paroxysms, prevents the disease from assuming its severest and dangerous form, and shortens its course.

Every family should keep it in the house, and thus avoid the dangerous delay occasioned by sending out for the medicine, when needed for immediate use. The best recommendation for a good medicine, is found in its use. If the following certificates from persons who have used it, do not give you confidence in it, try one boitle for yourself, and you will be convinced. It will cost you but Thirty Five CENTS, and may save you as many dollars in time and doctors' bills.

I have used it myself, also in my family and Department, ELIJAH LOW, Provost Marabal. happy to receive your kind support, pledging myself to advance the general interests of our city, and to protect you Surgeon, Dr. Dyman, of Boston, to whom I presented a bottle.
