LOVE.

O God! where'er my wand'ring thoughts may stray,
In shades of night or in the brilliant day,
Muse on thy goodness in thy footstool here,
Or trace thy glory in the heavens clear,
Ploughing the ocean, court the dashing spray,
Explore thy wonders through the milky way,
Yea, though thy saints should be my sacred guides,
And point to where thy majesty resides,
Declare thy greatness through all solar spheres,
Or tell where thine omnipotence appears,
To search new systems, though we take our flight,
And drink in knowledge from their orbs of light—
Yet all is gloom and darkness there above,
And here below without a sense of love.
But O! what sacred joys our souls inspire!
What rich effusions fill our pure desire!
Even though in darkest midnight we may walk,
Or commune with the poorest of thy flock;
Although in humblest cottage we may dwell,
What wonders do the little florets tell!
When rays of love beam from thy sacred throne,
And when thy favor o'er them all is shown.
Lord, thou hast loved, when we were poor and lost—
By Satan tempted and by scandal tossed,
Then let not mountains of our sins exclude
Those rays through which thy glory best is viewed.
O for abiding evidence of love
To cheer our path in every way we move;
O shine upon us in thy love again,
And free us from this aching void and pain.

"HONOUR THY FATHER AND MOTHER."

A STORY FOR CHILDREN.

A few weeks ago, one bright sunny Sunday morning, a minister was sent for, to go and see a young man who was in great distress. He went immediately with the messenger, down one street after another, till they reached the jail. They entered the yard, the keeper unbolted the great iron door, and admitted them to the gloomy-looking building; then he unlocked another smaller door, which, as soon as the minister was admitted, swung heavily back on its iron hinges, and the great bolt sprang to its place in the rough stone wall.

Within this little cell was a young man, apparently not more than twenty years of age. The minister expressed surprise at finding so young a person in such a place, when he replied, "I have been listening to the church bells this morning, and it seems but a little while since I was an innocent, happy Sunday-school scholar. If I had continued to attend there, I never should have come to this place. But I told mother a lie. One Sunday morning a companion came for me to go fishing. Mother heard him ask me, and told me to go to Sunday-school; but I deceived her, and went with this friend. It was the first time I ever deceived her—oh, that it had been the last!

"Sunday after Sunday I still deceived her, until I had learned to be so wicked I had no more love for Sunday-school, and but little for her.

"My father was dead, and I did not want to be governed by anybody.

"Oh, my wretched, hard heart! that could ever have been willing to leave that gentle mother, whose prayers seem ringing in my ears even now, and I seem to see her tearful eyes as she begged me to forsake my evil companions, and listen to her wishes and counsels. But I went on, until in a moment of rage, under the influence of drink, I committed the crime which brought me here. My poor mother's heart I had broken, and she died, sorrowing for her wicked, erring son. Go to Sunday-school scholars, and tell them a voice from the jail warns them to obey their parents."

Now we wish our little friends just to think over the faults which led to this young man's misfortunes.

The first commandment that he broke was that which says, "Honor thy father and mother." This is a command which seems particularly made for children; for as soon as they can tell right from wrong, they can learn to obey. It is a duty to God, for he has given you your kind parents to watch over and take care of you, and he it is who commands you to obey them, and if you love him you will gladly do what is well-pleasing to him.

Then, it is your duty to your parents, to reward all their love by obeying them in all things. You never can know the care and anxiety they have felt for you. How they watched your cradle when you were a helpless baby; how your mother, night after night, bent over your pillow, herself worn out by your fretful cries. Then, as you grow older, with what tenderness does she watch your childish pleasures and desires!—how your kind father provides for every want! And when you begin to show that you have a wicked heart, an angry temper, and a disobedient will, what pain you inflict upon those loving hearts!

When at night you are quietly sleeping, you little know how many anxious sighs are breathed for you; how many tears of sorrow when you have done wrong; how many prayers go up from your bedside, that your sins may be forgiven, and that you may be a Christian child, and grow up to be good and useful.

To be obedient, is to have respect to all the wishes of your parents, to honor them not merely from fear of punishment, but to be a loving, true-hearted child, yielding a ready and cheerful obedience.

Children sometimes think it is hard they must submit and cannot do as they wish; but they forget that unless they learn to obey their parents, they cannot obey God; unless in childhood we learn to yield perfect obedience, it will be harder still in later years to give our unrestrained wills to God, who always claims our best services.

THE CHILD OF THE CAPTIVITY.

Far away in the East stood a fair palace. Groves of palms and tamarinds were about it. In the gardens that surrounded it, the senses became intoxicated by the mingling of innumerable sweet odors that arose from the flowers. Roses hung their blushing heads over the artificial canals by which the grounds were irrigated. Jetting fountains filled the air with a delicious coolness. The songs of unseen birds echoed through the groves, and stirred the leaves with melody.

The palace was worthy of such beautiful environments. It was the palace of a king,—the place chosen at which to pass the time when nature is most joyous, and spring comes smiling in to say, "How do ye?" The portico and flat roof of the mansion were ornamented by vases of marble, enriched with precious stones, that flashed back the rays of an Eastern sun. On entering the building, one beheld the walls covered with amber, gold, silver, and ivory wrought into basso-relievos. The household furniture was bestudded with the same profusion of gems. The crimson of the ruby mingled everywhere with the golden brilliancy of the topaz, and the green of the emerald blended with the purple light of the amethyst.

In the state-room stood a throne of solid gold, canopied by a grape-vine most curiously moulded, the trunk and branches being adorned by jewels of almost inestimable value; while the grapes also of precious stones, hung in glittering clusters.

The prince sat upon his throne, and before him stood his cup-bearer. My story says nothing of the comeliness of the cup-bearer; yet it is to be supposed that he was remarkable for grace and beauty; because, in the first place, he was chosen for an office of trust about the person of the Sovereign, and eastern kings surrounded themselves by all that could minister to the delight of the senses: in the second place, he belonged to a people who were noted for their charms of person and dignity of manner.

Well, the young cup-bearer stood before the King. The cup was in his hand, and the sparkling contents sent back, in broken reflections, the beauty of the burning jewels. He was habited in the rich dress that became a court, and the snowy folds of his turban confined curls that were heavy with odorous ointment. But his face was pale from fasting, and his eyelids swollen by the tears he had shed. He could not repress his sadness. The agony of his heart was reflected in his countenance. The attention of the King was excited, and his sympathy awakened. With more consideration than is generally evinced by Eastern monarchs for their subjects, he inquired the cause of so much sorrow.

The young man was at first afraid to tell the King. He was a captive. Languishing far from the land of his birth, he had heard that his native city, his own beautiful city, had been destroyed; that the walls had all been broken; the gates burned; and those of his relations and friends who had been left there were in a state of suffering. No wonder he was sad; for the finest things in the world cannot make us happy, and ought not, if those we love cannot be happy with us. But, worst of all, the splendid temple, which had been built for the worship of God, was injured and defaced.

But, although the cup-bearer feared when the King asked him the occasion of his grief, he determined to confess it ingenuously at once. He told him that his native city was in ruins. The King then asked him what he should do for him? This affrighted him more than ever, for he did not know but that, if he made an improper request, he might be thrown into prison, or have his head cut off. Instead, then, of answering immediately, he commenced praying silently to God; and, when he had offered up his prayer, he asked permission to return to his own country, and build again the walls of the city, and the houses, and to make the temple grand and beautiful.

That was a great deal to ask, and I suppose the King did not like to part with his cup-bearer; yet he sacrificed his own wishes, and permitted him to go, appointing him governor of his country. He also supplied him with timber out of the royal forest, with which to rebuild the city. Do you know why the King was so kind to him? Well, I cannot say precisely; but the story that I heard related that the Queen was sitting by his side. And, no doubt, God also moved his heart.

You may rest assured that this captive youth was not long preparing to start. He travelled over the burning deserts, beneath the hot sun; but—he was going home, to the place where he had played in childhood. At last he saw the grey houses, and the walls; and then, there is the same old gate through which he had passed so often when a boy!

"And then he saw the very house,
The house where he was born;
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn."

At first he revealed his intentions to no one; but in the night-time he arose, and went all around the city to look at it by moonlight. How sadly changed from the place he had left so long ago! All broken and battered down, it shone in the pale night-beams like a mournful dream!

When he came back, he proposed to all the nobles, and the priests, and the people, that they should again build the city. He also told them of the promises of the Sovereign. Then their hearts leaped with joy, and they all commenced building as fast as possible. There were some very wicked men, their enemies, who tried to stop the work; but the cup-bearer was full of hope and courage. He appointed some of the men to work, while others stood by, and held their bows and arrows and spears for them; and the builders girded on their swords, and worked away as if they were not afraid of anybody. And still they prayed as they builded, and God protected them. And at last the city was finished. There stood the temple, one of the most glorious structures the world ever saw. Then was the "law of the Lord" brought forth; and while it was read, all the people stood up, and said, "Bless the Lord!"

The cup-bearer was governor of the country, and wisely and happily did he govern. He grew to be a great man; so great, that although it has been more than two thousand years since he lived, the world has not yet forgotten him. But I must not forget to tell you his name. It was Nehemiah.—Early Days.

THE DRUNKARD'S CHILD.

I am a drunkard's little boy,
All friendless and alone,
I pass each hour without one joy,
I lay all night and moan.

I tremble through the livelong day,
With fear lest father come,
And when I hear his step, I pray
God to protect our home.

My mother starts and turns so pale,
I'm frightened more and more,
To see the drunkard's loathsome form,
Fall on our mildewed floor.

I weep, and weep, till tears are dry,
My hot head reels with pain,
I clasp my mother's neck and cry,
We ne'er shall smile again.

The sneer may mock my rags forlorn,
And riches frown on me,
The very sunshine laugh in scorn,
Oh, what is that to see!

Look at my mother's broken heart!
My Father's perjured soul!
Then shriek, and weep—in terror start!
Yea, curse the drunkard's bowl.

With hope they say the world is bright,
On me it never smiled,
But darkness like a starless night,
Enfolds the drunkard's child.

Ah! yes, one little gleam of light,
Shone out from heaven above,
Lit e'en for me one taper bright,
It was a mother's love. MRS. MATER.

A LESSON FOR BOYS.—The present King of Hanover, in his early youth, was remarkable for his candid and open disposition. Playing one day, along with the young Count L——, in the principal drawing-room of the palace, they heedlessly upset and destroyed a very valuable ornament, which the Duchess had expressly charged them neither to touch nor go near. On her return, her Royal Highness discovered the accident, and demanded how it happened.

"I," said Prince George, stepping boldly forward, "I did it."

On being afterwards asked why he had taken the whole blame on himself, when his companion was equally in fault, he replied,

"Because I was the oldest, and ought to be punished most; and because," he added, "I looked in L——'s face, and I thought he was going to deny it and say what was not true."

THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to caution the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmless compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale.

It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.:—It washes all fine things, such as Muslin, Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c.; cleaning Sponges, Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspoonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eating it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time—saves your clothes—saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpassed; for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improves them—by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flannels become white and soft like new. White things are much improved, and keep their color, even if put by for months. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery on a Washing Day, with PICKSTONE'S Cleansing Crystal.

The New York Tribune says, "the reason why Drake's Plantation Bitters are so universally used, and have such an immense sale is, that they are always made up to the original standard, of highly invigorating material and of pure quality, although the prices have so largely advanced," &c.

The Tribune just hits the nail on the head. The Plantation Bitters are not only made of pure material, but the people are told what it is. The Recipe is published around each Bottle, and the bottles are not reduced in size. At least twenty imitations and counterfeits have sprung up. They impose upon the people once and that's the last of them.

The Plantation Bitters are now used in all the Government Hospitals, are recommended by the best physicians, and are warranted to, produce an immediate beneficial effect. Facts are stubborn things.

NEW BEDFORD, MASS., Nov, 24, 1865.

DEAR SIR—I have been afflicted many years with severe prostrating cramps on my limbs, cold feet and hands, and a general disordered system. Physicians and medicine failed to relieve me. Some friends in New York who were using Plantation Bitters, prevailed upon me to try them. I commenced with a small wine glassful after dinner. Feeling better by degrees in a few days I was astonished to find the coldness and cramps had entirely left me, and I could sleep the night through, which I had not done for years. I feel like another being. My appetite and strength have also greatly improved by the use of the Plantation Bitters. Respectfully, JUDITH RUSSELL."

If the ladies but knew what thousands of them are constantly relating to us, we candidly believe one half of the weakness, prostration and distress experienced by them would vanish. James Marsh, Esq., of 158 West 14th St., N. Y., says, "he has three children, the first two are weak and puny, his wife having been unable to nurse or attend them, but that she has taken Plantation Bitters for the last two years, and has a child now eighteen months old which she has nursed and reared herself, and both are hearty saucy and well, The article is invaluable to mothers," &c

Such evidence might be continued for a volume. The best evidence is to try them. They speak for themselves. Persons of sedentary habits, troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, diabetes, &c., will find speedy relief through these Bitters.

Every bottle for exportation and sale out of the United States, has a metal cap and green label around the neck.

Beware of refilled bottles. See that the cap has not been mutilated. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon, is an imposter We sell it only in bottles.

Sold by principal dealers throughout the habitable globe.

THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 92 Lombard-street, London, and Royal Insurance buildings, Liverpool.
Chairman of the London Board.—SAMUEL BAKER, Esq.
Chairman in Liverpool.—CHARLES TURNER, Esq.
The Royal Insurance Company is one of the largest Offices in the kingdom.
At the Annual Meeting held in August 1859, the following highly satisfactory results were shown:—
FIRE DEPARTMENT.
The most gratifying proof of the expansion of the business is exhibited in the one following fact—that the increase alone of the last three years exceeds the entire business of some of the existing and of many of the recently defunct fire insurance companies of this kingdom.
The Premiums for the year 1855 being..... £130,060
While the Premiums for the year 1858 are.... 196,148
Showing an actual increase of..... 66,088
or upwards of 50 per cent. in three years.
The recent returns of duty made by Government for this latter year (1858) again show the "Royal" as more than maintaining the ratio of its increase as stated in former years. Only one among the London insurance offices exhibits an advance to the extent of one-half the increase of the Company, while all the others respectively fall far short of the moiety of its advance.
LIFE DEPARTMENT.
The amount of new Life Premiums received this year is by far the largest received in any similar period since the commencement of the business, and must far exceed the average of amount received by the most successful offices in the kingdom. The number of policies issued in the year was 832, the sum assured £387,752 6s. 8d., and the premium £12,354 8s. 4d. These figures show a very rapid extension of business during the last ten years. Thus:—

Years.	No. of Policies.	Sums Assured.	New Premiums.
1848 ..	98	£48,764 17 0	£1,380 9 1
1850 ..	190	95,650 9 11	2,627 4 7
1852 ..	422	181,504 10 6	5,828 5 10
1854 ..	408	161,848 13 4	4,694 16 0
1856 ..	703	297,560 16 8	8,850 3 11
1858 ..	832	387,752 6 8	12,354 3 4

The remarkable increase in the business of the last four years is mainly consequent upon the large bonus declared in 1855, which amounted to no less than £2 per cent. per annum on the sums assured, and averaged 80 per cent. upon the premiums paid.

Partnership Assurances.
Short Term Assurances.

THE "City of Glasgow Life Assurance Company" was established in 1838, by special Act of Parliament. It has now been conducted with much success for 25 years, which is attributable not only to the perfect security which it affords for the due fulfilment of every contract, but likewise to the Company's extensive and influential connexions and to the liberality of its dealings.
The Premiums are equitably graduated. The Profits are distributed with a due regard to the claims of all classes of Policy-holders.
The last declaration of Bonus was made 20th January, 1864, which is the close of the Company's financial year, when a Bonus at the rate of one and a half per cent. on the sums assured was declared for the past year. In place of the surplus being annually divided, the profits will in future be ascertained and allocated quinquennially. Policies participate from the date of their issue, but the Bonuses do not vest until they have been five years in existence. A HINT TO THE WORTHY CITIZENS OF NEW BRUNSWICK—BE WARNED IN TIME!

ALL parties purchasing my Pills and Ointment for their several complaints, are respectfully warned against purchasing either Pills or Ointment purporting to be my preparations, that have a United States Stamp around the Boxes or Pots. There is no Treaty between the people of the States and the Home Government, therefore an American Stamp does not protect my preparations. There are no stamps upon my Canadian style of Pills or Ointment coming from the United States. I rely only for protection on the water mark in the book of directions around each Pot or Box. Before you purchase them, see that there are no U. S. Stamps upon the Box of Pills or Ointment. Purchase none that have United States stamps on.

PARAFFINE OIL.—Just received: 10 brls best Paraffine Oil. For sale by J. F. SECORD,
Nov 8.—piv King square.

MRS. S. A. ALLEN'S WORLD'S Hair Restorer.
AND ZYLOBALSAMUM.
The great unequalled Preparations for Restoring, Invigorating, Beautifying, and Dressing the Hair,
Rendering it soft, silky, and glossy, and disposing it to remain in any desired position; quickly cleansing the scalp, arresting the fall, and imparting a healthy and natural color to the Hair.
It NEVER FAILS to restore GRAY HAIR to ITS ORIGINAL YOUTHFUL COLOR.
IT IS NOT A DYE,
But acts directly upon the roots of the Hair, giving them the natural nourishment required, producing the same vitality and luxurious quantity as in youth.
Rev. Mr. THACHER, of New York, in a letter, says: "My age is sixty. One year ago my hair was very gray, and falling. I used Mrs. S. A. Allen's World's Hair Restorer according to directions, and now my hair is restored to its natural color, and has ceased to fall.
"The Zylobalsamum I have found the best and most agreeable hair-dressing I have ever used."
FOR LADIES AND CHILDREN
Whose Hair requires frequent dressing, the Zylobalsamum has no equal.
No lady's toilet is complete without it.
Sold by Druggists throughout the World.

Mrs. S. A. Allen's ZYLOBALSAMUM.
The Science of Health
EVERY MAN HIS OWN PHYSICIAN.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.
AND
HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.
DISORDERS OF THE STOMACH, LIVER, AND BOWELS.
The Stomach is the great centre which influences the health or disease of the system—abused or debilitated by excess—indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostration are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The Liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, &c. The Bowels sympathise by Costiveness, Diarrhœa and Dysecetery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach, and the liver, lungs, bowels and kidneys participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.
ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM
Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent; to these the Ointment is especially antagonistic—its modus operandi is first to eradicate the vermin and then complete the cure.
BAD LEGS, OLD SORES, AND ULCERS.
Cases of many years standing, that have pertinaciously refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful unguent.
ERUPTIONS ON THE SKIN,
Arising from a bad state of the blood or chronic diseases, are eradicated, and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses many of the cosmetics and other toilet apnliances in its power to dispel rashes and other disfigurements of the face.
PILES AND FISTULA.
Every form and feature of these prevalent and stubborn disorders is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this emollent; warm fomentations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.
Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

Bunions,	Rheumatism,	Sore Heads,
Burns,	Ringworm,	Sore Throats,
Chapped Hands,	Salt Rheum,	Sores of all kinds,
Chilblains,	Scalds,	Sprains,
Fistula,	Skin Diseases,	Stiff Joints,
Gout,	Swelled Glands,	Tetter,
Lumbago,	Sore Legs,	Ulcers,
Mercurial Eruptions,	Sore Breasts,	Wounds of all kinds.
Piles,

☞ CAUTION!—None are genuine unless the words "Holloway, New York and London," are discernible as a Water-mark in every leaf of the book of directions around each pot or box; the same may be plainly seen by holding the leaf to the light. A handsome reward will be given to any one rendering such information as may lead to the detection of any party or parties counterfeiting the medicines or vending the same, knowing them to be spurious.
 Sold at the Manufactories of Professor HOLLOWAY 80 Maiden Lane, New York, and by all respectable Druggists and Dealers in Medicine throughout the United States and the civilized world, in pots and boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents and $1 each.
☞ There is a considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
N. B.—Directions for the guidance of patients in every disorder are affixed to each pot and box.
☞ If the reader of this Advertisement cannot get a box of Pills or Ointment from the Drug Store in his place, let him write to me, enclosing the amount, and I will mail a box free of expense. Many dealers will not keep my medicines on hand, because they cannot make as much profit as on other persons' make.
Dealers in my well known medicines can have Show Cards Circulars, &c, sent Free of Expense, by addressing Thos Holloway, 80 Maiden Lane, N. Y. June 18.
