NOVEMBER 9, 1866.

The Morning Freeman is deficient in memory in representing us as "denouncing the execution of strong, healthy bodies, cultivated moral natures, and criminals as judicial murder." We are not in sympathy with that morbid philanthropy which would only all ordinary branches, giving special attention events are in the future and you know not how soon make murderers and outlaws judicial pets. The to such special courses as were necessary for their man who wilfully and deliberately takes the life of another without cause, is, in our opinion, worthy of death, and we believe the Word of God and the in- through by twenty, when the youths would all enter terests of society require that he should suffer the the army for six months, in order to become trained extreme penalty of the law.

The Freeman is quite indignant at our remarks last week relative to the condemned Fenians in Toronto, and denounces the Intelligencer as "thirsting for blood." We fear the "thirsting" referred to is on the other side; at least our contemporary has 26th, under the auspices of the United Kingdom Alstrong sympathy for the men who, unprovoked and without cause, sacrificed the innocent lives of "the Canadian youths;" and seems exceedingly anxious most cordial and enthusiastic. that clemency should be shown them. Our opinion, however, is, that any thing short of the extreme penalty of the law to these men, would be a greater provinces, than even the miserable attempt of a Fenian invasion was.

The letter addressed by Secretary Seward to Mr. Bruce, relative to the Fentan prisoners, finds no parallel in the correspondence of Earl Russell, referred effects of a nervous fever. to by the Freeman. We frankly confess that we regard Mr. Seward's letter as a piece of great impertinence, and, we have no doubt, was intended more for purposes which do not appear on its face, rather army. The fire originated in a grog-shop kept by a man named Trudel, and who, it seems, contrary to law, kept his house open all night to drinkers, and it was from that spot that the fire started, to lay in ashes St. Roch and Boisseauville. At the first alarm, the fire-brigade was promptly on the spot, and worked with success, when some monsters, not men, cut with axes four of the best and newest hose.

From this statement it appears that but for the sale of liquor there would have been no fire. Moreover, this liquor was sold on Saturday night, and the tavern kept open all night till Sabbath morning contrary to law. Had the police or some courageous citizens done their duty, the tavern would have been closed at a proper hour, and no fire would have taken place. Finally, the fire would have been subdued but for some "monsters" unknown who cut the hose. Not unlikely those monsters, who were at hand so early in the morning to do the mischief, were the very same with whom the fire originated, and who were under the influence of liquor. An awful appeal to the whole Province of Canada, in behalf of the cause of temperaace and a prohibitory liquor law, is the Quebec fire! -Montreal Witness.

LA'MERT, of 37 Bedford Square, London, Member of ne Royal College of Surgeons of England; Doctor of Me-icine of the University of Rostock, &c., begs to inform sit, and may be consulted on all cases of Nervous and Physical Debility, and Local or Constitutional Weakness, daily, for a limited period only, at 182 St. James' Street, corner of Wentworth street,) St. John. The great experience derived by Dr. L. La'Mert both, whilst assisting Dr. Samuel La'Mert, of London, in his extensive Practice, and in the various Hospitals of Continenal Europe, affords an ample guarantee, to those seeking advice, of being under the care of a legally-qualified Practitioner. Dr. L. La'Mert's name is to be found in the 'Melical Register,' published under the Authority of the Medical Council of Great Britain, and is, consequently, not to be classed with the names-in many cases assumed-of a horde of adventurers, who, through the public press seek o impose upon the credulous and unwary, by the publication of pretended qualifications and the advocacy of specirice, that he has arrived in St. John, on a Professional vi-fics, that are never beneficial, and in most cases positively DR. La'MERT'S Work on " Nervous and Physical Debility, its Causes, Consequences, Treatment and Cure," with an Essay on "The Physiology of Marriage," is intended to nlighten thousands on important subjects, in regard to which they are entirely ignorant, and may be had in St. ohn, price 50 cents, or free by post for 60 cents, of Messrs. Chubb & Co., Prince Wm. street, or from DR. LA'MBRT, who may be consulted daily from 10 till 1, and from 7 till 9. Consultation fee (either personally or by letter) $5.
