TRUST.

Rock of my strength, to Thee my faith is clinging Assailed by doubt, beset by care and fear, Smiling through tears, and in my sorrows singing, I hear thy welcome words, 'Be of good cheer.'

What tho' my foes break out in bitter taunting? What though their curses crown my humble head? Yet while their insults they at me are flaunting, My Saviour says, "Tis I, be not afraid."

If God be for me, who can be against us? Who shall condemn if He my soul approve? Since Christ in heaven makes intercession for me, How can I doubt the fulness of His love?

Who shall divide me from that deep affection Felt by the living Father for His own? Who shall disturb me under His protection, Resting in God, and trusting Him alone? Not all the angel hosts that have existence,

Not all the powers of darkness and of death, Not lapse of ages, nor the bounds of distance, Can pluck me from this resting-place of faith.

Not pain or trouble, sorrow or affliction, Famine or peril, nakedness or sword, Can rob me of that heavenly benediction, The love of God in Jesus Christ our Lord. -N. Y. Christian Advocate.

"I can't get up, and O! how can I possibly get down!" he gasped forth. For the first time since he had began his ascent, Roger glanced downards, and, heated as he was, the glance made him shiver with fear. The lonesome road looked so terribly far below him, his brain seemed to reel at the sight, and he dreaded to gaze down again. To get down, poor Roger felt was quite as impossible now as to clamber up higher; he could not see where to set his foot, and if he should slip and fall, he knew that he would be dashed to pieces! It was horrible to the boy to find himself standing half-way up the great cliff, on a ledge but six inches broad, with not so much as a bunch of grass to hold by, and so tired that he felt ready to drop! To add to Roger's misery, it seemed to him that the ledge on which his life depended was not itself very firm. He fancied-perhaps it was only fan- fire insurance companies of this kingdom. cy-that it was beginning to tremble under his weight! Roger dared not shake it by changing his posture from standing to sitting, as he would otherwise gladly have done; he was almost afraid to shout out for help, lest the vibration caused by his voice wretched boy whom it now supported!

Roger's position soon grew to be one of agony! He called at last, loud and more loudly; but no sound was heard in reply but the echo of his own voice from the rock. The spot was so little frequented, that no one might pass by for hours, and for how many minutes longer would his power of endurance or the strength of his little ledge last! Roger had cried in vain for help from man; at last he gasped out a broken prayer to God. But the boy had hitherto cared little for religion, and he had no right to "Hurrah! "Don't be afraid; we've got up another way to the op of the cliff with a famous long rope, and we're my mother bade me get, and you and I will set to making a noose at the end, that you may slip it round you and be safe."

"If it does not come soon, all will be over with me!" cried poor Roger.

Down came the noose over the rock, within sight the boy, but alas! not within reach of his hand. The projecting crag kept it full seven feet distant from Roger, who could no more touch it than if it had been seven miles off instead! "I can't reach it; O, what shall I do!" yelled out Quickly the rope was drawn up; another dreadful Bolt, with impatience: "if your mother tells you to pause succeeded; then something dark came suddendo a thing, you do it as if your life depended upon it. Engineer and Millwright. CAUTION! CAUTION! THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to caution the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmless compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale.

It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.: - It washes all fine things, such as Muslin ice, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c,; cleaning Sponges, Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspnonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water ; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eating it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no hange upon Washing Days. It saves your time-saves your clothes-saves your money; and it does not injure for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not njure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improve them--by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flannels become white and soft like new. White things are Medicines; 4 casks and 8 cases Fine DRUGS and CHEmuch improved, and keep their color, even if put by for nonths. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery on a Washing Day, with Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal.
