arms around her friend and strove to comfort her. "What shall I do, Emma? I did not think he would get drunk !" and Alice shuddered as the words passed her lips.

"See him at once," said Emma, " talk to him kindard, and if he will not give you some surety of abstinence in future, break off the engagement; it will be hard, I know, but better that than a life of misery." A few days passed, and again Emma was sitting

A week later and the fashionable Miss Linfield gave a splendid party, to which, of course, Charles Raymond was invited, as well as our young friends Alice and Emma. Wine passed freely at the suppertable, and young Raymond, who was usually somewhat reserved, became at first witty and lively, then almost boisterous, while his flushed face and imperfect articulation told the observer he had taken too

Alice saw it all; and disappointed and sick at heart she strove to persuade him to return home. "But no! he was having too good a time, it was al! nonsense to think of going home so early;" and he commenced singing noisely, "I won't go home till morn-

Alice turned sadly away, and seeking Emma, poured into her sympathizing ear an account of her trouble and mortification.

"Come out this way, away from the crowd, and we will consider what is best to be done," said Emma; and they turned toward a room which appeared to be empty. Passing the door of the supper-room they looked up, and there stood Charles Raymond alone, just in the act of pouring out a glass of wine; while his hand was so unsteady that the red drops were freely scattered around. Alice was speechless; but Emma sprang forward and grasped his arm just as he was raising the glass to his lips.

"Charles Raymond, stop!" exclaimed she in a commanding voice. Complete astonishment rendered him, for a moment, powerless to resist, and he put the glass down.

In a moment, however, he recovered from his surprise, and once more taking up the glass he said moodily-" What business is it to you, Emma Howard? I have a right to drink when I please !" "No!" said she firmly, " you have no right to mar, by beastly intoxicatian, the form which God has made in his own image! You have no right to bring down your parents' gray hairs with sorrow to the grave! You have no right to break the heart of my nearest and best friend, and make her whole life a wilderness of sorrow! Look upon her!" and she drew the weeping Alice to her side. "Look upon her whom you have professed to love, who in a few days is to become your wife, and say if you have a right to bring so much misery upon one whose whole life, before she knew you, was one unruffled stream of happi-

"A great deal she cares about it," said he contemptuously. I knew my own danger before she did, and would have joined the Good Templars but for her. She who was afraid I would disgrace myself by joining an organization of temperance, will not think it disgraceful for me to drink a few glasses of wine!' and again he raised the glass to his lips.

"Stop, Charles, I implore you!" said Alice, stepping forward, "I acknowledge my own wrong and withdraw all my objections. O, Charles! THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND L CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to car tion the public against spurious imitations of his high celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmle compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and other deadly mixtures so common to be found among washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Cryst if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid safe.

It will be found invaluable for the following domes purposes, viz.:—It washes all fine things, such as Mus ice, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c,; cleaning Spong Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes H Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, it immediately removes all condensed perspiration the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the fr Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, a unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child en DLASTIQUE SKIRTS. - Received this day from Moning it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose; time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introdu into this country which has effected such a wonderf ge upon Washing Days It saves your ti your clothes -saves your money; and it does not in the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel. wear and tear of labor, and improves every article was Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpuss for Laves, and fine fabries, it is unequalled. It does n njure the color of Prints, but strengthens and impro hem-by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Fla nels become white and soft like new. White things much improved, and keep their color, even if put by months. Thousands of Families made happy ! No mis on a Washing Day, with Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal. JOHN ARMSTRONG & CO
