Poetry. and a stand of the second THE KING OF THE CRADLE. Draw back the cradle curtains, Kate, While watch and ward your'e keeping, Let's see the monarch lie in state, And view him while he's sleeping : He smiles and clasps his tiny hand As sunbeams in come streaming, A world of baby fairy-land He visits while he's dreaming.

Monarch of pearly powdered puff Asleep in nest so cosy, Shielded from breath of breezes rough By curtains warm and rosy ; He slumbers soundly in his cell, As weak as one decrepid, Though King of Coral, Lord of Bell, And Knight of Bath that's tepid !

Ah, lucky tyrant! Happy lot! Fair watchers without number, To sweetly sing beside his cot, And hush him off to slumber ; White hands in wait to smooth so neat His pillow when it's rumpled, On couch of rose-leaves, fresh and sweet, Not one of which is crumpled !

Will yonder dainty, dimpled hand-Size, nothing and a quarter-E're clasp a sabre, lead a band To glory and to slaughter ? And, may I ask, will those blue eyes-.Jedie In baby patois " peepers "----E're in the House of Commons rise, And strive to catch the Speaker's.

> Will that fair brow o'er Hansard frown, Confused by lore statistic? Or will those lips e're stir the town From pulpit ritualistic ? Impossible, and yet, mayhap-Though strange, quite true it may be-Perhaps Nero once was fed on pap, And Beales was once a baby.

Though rosy, dimpled, plump and round, Though fragile, soft and tender, Sometimes, alas ! it may be found The thread of life is tender ! A little shoe, a bitten glove-Affection never waning, The shattered idol of our love-Is all that is remaining !

Then does one chance, in fancy, hear with telescopes in their hands, striving to find out he vessel, and see in what direction it lay. They oon made out that it was a ship beaten on the rocks, bout two miles away. Then there was a cry, "The Lifeboat! the Lifeoat! Man the Lifeboat!" and away ran the brave [Has received ex Steamers ' Venezia,' ' Acadia,' ' Pantheon ailors to fetch it out of its house, and wheel it down o the shore. They did not stay to bid their wives and hildren "good bye;" they just caught up a few waerproof things and a life belt, and away they ran, rying who could be first. In a very few minutes 45 ae boat was pushed off; but the sea was so rough hat for a long time they could not get far away. Ince the boat rolled over, and the men were thrown nt; but they managed to scramble in again, and 20 ared very little for the ducking.

A DESCRIPTION OF A DESC

As they were trying to row toward the wreck, it rew so dark that they often lost sight of it; but still hey kept on thinking nothing of their own trouble, i nly hoping that they might save some people from rowning. Those who were watching from the shore 1 aw the lifeboat sometimes on the top of a high wave, nd then quite hidden by the dark waters, so that arry and John thought she must be lost; but preently up she came again, and they could see that he was all right. But the people on the wrecked hip, which was broken to pieces and fast filling with vater, sent up a great cry to God that He would help the lifeboat men to come and deliver them. And at ist the wreck was reached. But the storm was ragng so all the time, that the men were afraid to go too ear for fear their boat should be knocked to pieces by the ship. So they threw some ropes to the poor feople in the sinking ship, and they caught hold of it, nd were dragged nto the lifeboat.

In the ship was a man with his little boy. The poor child clung to his father, and was crying bittery, and begging to be saved. As soon as the lifeboat was near enough, the father tied a rope around the little boy. But, as he had to be dragged through | Has received by late arrivals a large Stock of the water, he screamed, and was so frightened, that t nearly killed him. But the sailors in the lifeboat uid the poor child down in the boat, and tried to help the others. But, though the little boy was aved, I am sorry to say his father was not, for he lost the rope and fell into the sea, and the dark waters rolled over his head. The brave men did not leave the spot until they found his body, and it, was lifted into the boat, and everything done that could be to restore him; but his head had been badly hurt, and, though they rubbed him, and tried to make him warm, it was all of no use, for he was gone to that other land you have all heard about, where "there is no more-sea," and where people cannot be drowned any more.

John and Harry saw the poor man carried on shore, and his little boy crying beside him; and the DRESS GOODS ext day they went to see him buried. The poor li tle orphan boy cried as if his heart would break. He had come from a foreign country, and he did not know any one in England, and had no one to care for him.

washes every thing, and has rapid sale. It will be found invaluable for the following domestic rposes, viz. :- It washes all fine things, such as Muslin ce, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c,; cleaning Sponges Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard ater Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspnonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water ; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eat-

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time-saves your clothes-saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpassed for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improve hem-by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flan-iels become white and soft like new. LITTLE TALES FOR LITTLE READERS.

THE WRECK.

John and Harry were staying by the seaside, and, as it was in the winter time, the wind blew a great deal, and the sea was very rough. So that although they were rather brave boys they could not help feegreat. But they had some fine days, and then it was and build houses, and collect basketfuls of shells and _ |0g!" sea-weeds. They loved to dry the sea-weed and stick it on white paper with gum, and before they went home they had a great many different sorts. They learnt the names of some of them-kelp, bladderwrack, sea-grass and sea-lettuce, and a great many I was about. I was intent on working out a sum, others. And the shells pleased them just as well. and requested the boy who sat next to hand me an Of course they found large numbers of limpets and cockles, and whelks ; but by diligent searching they | see." found others more rare and prettier. One day it was so stormy that the boys could not go out at all. The much about it, because that could have done no I omit the punishment. good, and would only make themselves and all about a five-shilling piece each. You know that is a very did, after consultation, as follows : large piece of money, and these boys were very proud to possess so much-all their own, too, that they must receive the threatened six blows of the ferule ; might do just what they liked with.

"It is a great deal of money," said John.

"Yes, it is-more than I ever had before," said Harry. " What shall you do with yours ?" "I shall buy a new pocket-knife-that will be a shilling; and a little walking-cane-that will be oneand-ninepence ; I shall have shilling donkey-ridethat will be two-and-nine; and a two-shilling box of paints-that will be four-and-nine; and threepence shaded his eyes, and, telling the boys to go to their left for pocket-money. "What shall you do with seats, said he would think of it to his dying day; but yours ?"

And do you think that the poor little orphan boy was left to starve? No; for God cares for the orphans, and when he came away from his father's grave, a gentleman spoke kindly to him, and took him away to the orphan's home, where he would have plenty of good food to eat, and warm clothes to wear. and when he was old enough be taught some trade by which he could earn his own living. And so the poor little boy, whose father and mother were both dead, found kind friends to care for him after all. Harry and John did not spend their five-shilling piece as they had intended; for, after what they had seen, they only kept a shilling for themselves, and gave two shillings to the lifeboat and two to the home for little orphan children. - Chats by the Sea.

VERDICT OF A JURY OF BOYS.

When Dr. Nathaniel Prentice taught a public school in Roxbury, he was very much a favorite; but his patience, at times, would get very much exhausted by the infractions of the school-rules by the schoars. On one occasion, in rather a wrathy way, he threatened to punish with six blows of a heavy leling a little frightened at night, for the noise was so rule the first boy detected in whispering, and appointed some as detectives. Shortly after, one of the great fun to run about on the sands, and dig holes, detectives shouted, "Master John Zigler is whisper-

> John was called up, and asked if it was a fact. John, by the way, was a favorite both with his teacher and schoolmates.

"Yes," answered John. "I was not aware what arithmetic that contained the rule which I wished to

The Doctor regretted his hasty threat, but told John that he could not suffer him to whisper, or eswind was so strong that they would have been blown | cape the punishment ; and continued. "I wish 1 off their feet, and perhaps carried against a house and | could avoid it, but cannot without a forfeiture of my much hurt. Boys do not like to be obliged to stay word. "I will," he continued, "leave it to any in doors all the time, but they tried not to grumble three scholars you may choose to say whether or not

John said he would agree to that, and immediately them miserable. I must tell you that they had one called out J. S., and T. D., and D. P. D. The Docthing which very greatly cheered them, and that was tor to'd them to return a verdict; which they soon

> "The master's word must be kep inviolate. John but it must be inflicted on voluntary proxies; and we, the arbitrators, will receive the punishment by receiving each of us two of the blows."

John, who had listened to the verdict, stepped up to the Dootor, and with outstretched hand exclaimed, Master, here is my hand : they shan't be struck a blow ! I will receive the punishment." The Doctor, under pretence of wiping his face, the punishment was never inflicted. DEACON HUNT.-He was naturally a high-tempered man, and used to beat his oxen over the heads, as all his neighbors did. It was observed that, when he

I dare say you will think that twopence out of five sing;" so they formed a ring around the drunkard. 1848

" The drink that's in the drunkard's cup. Is not the drink for me.'

The storm grew worse and worse as the day wore So sweetly did they carol this simple rhyme, that on, and the winds blew stronger than ever, and you the poor man hiccoughed out, "Sing again, little never saw such waves-they dashed up against the girls, sing again." They sangagain. Then the little rocks, and rolled along the beach, and rose sometimes maiden pressed him to sign the pledge. "I've no nearly as high as a house. John and Harry watched ink and no desk," urged the drunkard. "Please sir," them while the rain and the spray beat against the said the child, "I've a pencil, and if you will lend window. Presently between the sound of the waves me your hat, that will make a desk." The hat did they heard another dismal one-it was a gun, and make a desk, and that drunkard, reformed by a child,

The sailors heard it, and they ran down to the pier ' rance. - Youth's Temp. Banner.

ness is exhibited in the one following fact-that the increase | through any other monetary institution in the Province. alone of the last three years exceeds the entire business of some of the existing and of many of the recently defunct fire insurance companies of this kingdom.

The Premiums for the year 1855 being £130,060 While the Premiums for the year 1558 are.... 196,148 Showing an actual increase of 66,088 or upwards of 50 per cent. in three years.

The recent returns of duty made by Government for this latter year (1858) again show the "Royal" as more that maintaining the ratio of its increase as stated in former years. Only one among the London insurance offices exhibits an advance to the extent of one-half the increase of the Company, while all the others respectively fall far short of the every month. ty of its advance.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

rne amount of new Life Premiums received this year is by far the largest received in any similar period since the ment of the business, and must far exceed the in the kingdom. The number of policies issued in the year to was 832, the sum assured £387,752 6s. 8d., and the premium business during the last ten years. Thus :--
