DISASTERS IN THE STORM .- A correspondent writes that during the terrific gale on the night of the 17th inst., there were six vessels driven ashore in Lepreau 🐉 Harbor. One of them was the Willing Maid, Captain her health. Brown. She narrowly escaped being a total wreck, and the crew were saved from drowning by the prompt assistance rendered by Captain Sloan and Buchanan in supplying them with lines in the hour of their peril. The crew of the "Maid" are deeply grateful to these gentlemen for assistance rendered, and to the inhabitants of Lepreau for kindness received at their hands. The five other vessels, we are told, were got off shore without much damage. - Ib.

AYERS CHERRY PECTORAL

IS a Soothing expectorant prepared to meet the urgent need of a safe and reliable cure for diseases of the throat and lungs. A trial of many years has established the fact, that t is more efficacious in pulmonary affections, than any other remedy. Its efficacy has now come so generally known, that it is justly regarded in any countries as a medicine of indispensable necessity. n Great Britain, France, and Germany, where medical ence has reached its highest perfection, it is prescribed domestic practice, and constantly used in the armies, in ospitals and other public institutions, where it is regarded the attending physicians as the most speedy and agreeble remedy that can be employed. Scarcely any neighorhood can be found where well known cases of diseased angs, which had baffled the efforts of the most skilful and xperienced doctors, have been prematurely cured by it. These results are the most convincing proofs of the superior curative properties of this preparation; and to them e authors point with peculiar satisfaction. While it is nost powerful against confirmed diseases, it is extremely gentle as a medicine in infancy and youth, being qui harmless to even the youngest, when administered judi-

This health-restorer accomplishes even more by prevenon than cure. If taken in season it heals all irritations f the throat and lungs, whether arising from Colds or oughs, or from other causes, and thus prevent that long ain of painful and incurable diseases, which would arise rom the neglect of them. Hence no family should be vithout it. Influenza, Croup, Hoarseness, Whooping ough, Pleurisy, Incipient Consumption, and other affecons of the breathing organs, give way before this preeminent combination of medical virtues. Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass, and old by all bruggists and dealers in medicine everywhere.
