THANKFULNESS.

BY A. A. PROCTOR. My God, I thank Thee, who hast made The earth so bright; So full of splendor and of joy, Beauty and light; So many glorious things are here Noble and right!

I thank Thee, too, that thou hast made Joy to abound;

So many gentle thoughts and deeds Circling us round, That in the darkest spot of earth

Some love is found.

I thank Thee more, that all our joy Is touched with pain; That shadows fall on brightest hours; That thorns remain;

So that Earth's bliss may be our guide, And not our chain.

For thou who knowest, Lord, how soon Our weak heart clings,

Has given us joys, tender and true, Yet all with wings, So that we see, gleaming on high, Diviner things !

I thank Thee, Lord, that Theu hast kept The best in store;

We have enough, yet not too much To long for more; A yearning for a deeper peace, Not known before.

I thank Thee, Lord, that here our souls, Though amply blest, Can never find, although they seek, A perfect rest-Nor ever shall, until they lean

On Jesus' breast.

BREAD UPON THE WATERS. A SKETCH FROM LIFE.

"Ah, Jacob, now you see how all your hopes are gone. Here we are, worn out with age-all our children removed from us by the hand of death, and ere long we must be the inmates of the poor-house. Where, now, is all the bread you have cast upon the

The old, white-haired man looked up at his wife. He was, indeed, bent down with years, and age sat tremblingly upon him. Jacob Manfred had been a comparatively wealthy man, and while fortune had smiled upon him, he had ever been the first to lend a listening ear and a helping hand to the call of distress. But now misfortune was his. Of his four boys not one was left. Sickness and failing streegth found him with but little, and they left him penni-

An oppressive embargo upon the shipping business had been the first weight upon his head, and other misfortunes came in painful succession. Jacob and his wife were all alone, and gaunt poverty looked them coldly in the face. "Don't repine, Susan," said the old man. "True, we are poor, but we are not yet forsaken." "Not forsaken, Jacob? Who is there to help us

Jacob Manfred raised his trembling finger toward "Ah, Jacob, I know God is our friend; but we should have friends here. Look back and see how many you have befriended in days long past. You have cast your bread upon the waters with a free hand, but it has not returned to you,"

"Hush, Susan, you forget what you say. To be sure I may have hoped that some kind hand of earth might lift me from the depths of utter want; but I do not expect it as a reward for anything I may have done. If I have helped the unfortunate in days gone by, I have had my full reward in knowing that I have done my duty to my fellows. O, of all the kind deeds I have done to my suffering fellows, I would not for gold have one of them blotted from my memory. Ah, my fond wife, 'tis the memory of good done in life that makes my old age happy. Even, now, I can hear again the warm thanks of those whom I have befriended, and again I see their smiles." "Yes, Jacob," returned the wife, in a lower tone,

"I know you have been good, and in your memory you can be happy; but, alas! there is a present upon which we must look-there is a reality upon which we must dwell. We must beg for food, or starve!" " Beg !" he replied with a quick shudder.

" No, Susan-we are-He hesitated, and a big tear rolled down his furrowed cheek.

" We are what, Jacob ?" "We are going to the poor-house!"

"O, God! I thought so!" fell from the poor wife' lips, as she covered her face with her hand. "I have thought so, and I have tried to school myself to the thought; but my poor heart will not bear it!"

"Do not give up, Susan," softly urged the old man, laying his hand upon her arm. "It makes but little difference to us now. We have not long to remain on earth, and let us not wear out our last days in I useless repinings. Come, come."

"But when-when shall we go?"

"Now, to-day."

"Then, God have mercy on us!" "He will," murmured Jacob.

It was you who brushed off the evil, and who first led me to the sweet waters of moral life and happiness. I have profited by the lessons you gave me in early life, and the warm spark which your kindness lighted up in my bosom has grown brighter and brighter ever since. With an affluence for life I have settled down to enjoy the remainder of my days in peace and quietness. I heard of your losses and your bereavements. Come, I have a home and a heart, and your presence will make them both warmer, brighter and happier. Come, my more than fa-

SPARE MOMENTS.

A lean, awkward boy, came one morning to the door of the Principal of a celebrated school in England, and asked to see him. The servant looked at his shabby clothes, and taking him for a beggar sent bim round to the kitchen. The boy did as he was told, and soon appeared at the back door. "I should like to see Dr. - ," said he. "You want a breakfast more like," said the servant, "and I can give you that without troubling him," "Thank ou," said the boy : " I should have no objection to a bit of bread, but I should like to see Dr. ____, if he | LOUR .-- 100 brls., landing ex brigt Theresa. "Can I see Dr. - ?" asked the boy again, after eating his bread and butter. "Well, he's in the library, if he must be spoken to; but he does like some time to himself," said the girl in a peevish tone. She seemed to think it very foolish to admit such an ill-looking lad into the doctor's presence; however, she wiped her hands, and told him to follow her. Opening the library door, she said, "Here's somebody, sir, who much wishes to see you, and so I let him JUST RECEIVED IN STORE, FROM THE

We do not know how the boy introduced himself, or how he opened his business; but we know that after a while the Principal laid aside the book he was reading; took up some Greek books, and began to ex. 10 Chestnut Tables, 7 Centre Tables, Mahogany and Black amine the new comer. The examination lasted some time. Every question which the doctor asked was readily answered. "You certainly do well," said the Principal, looking at the boy from head to foot over his spectacles. "Why, my boy, where did you pick up so much learning ?"

"In my spare moments," answered the boy. Here was a poor, hard-working boy, with few chances for schooling, yet nearly fitted for college by simply improving his spare moments.

Another boy, who often passed a book-stall, stopped when he had a few moments to spare, and looked with earnest eyes on a Greek Testament. A gentleman who noticed him said, "Why, you do not know Greek, my poor boy." "Yes, I do, a little," was the reply. It was then found that the boy, though one of poor family, had, under great difficulies, advanced himself some way in the Greek tongue. Such was his beginning. He grew up to be a learned Bishop of the Church of England. Truly, are not spare moments the "gold dust of time?" How they should be treasured! and yet how are we apt to spend them? What can you show for them? Look and see. These boys could tell you how much can be laid up by wisely improving them; and there are many other boys, I am afraid, in jail, in the house of correction, in the gambling house or tippling shop, who, if you asked them when they began their evil courses, might answer, nighly satisfactory results were shown :-"In my spare moments." "In my spare moments I gambled money away." "In my spare moments I began to smoke and drink." "In my spare moments I drifted away with bad companions."

Be careful how you spend your spare moments. Temptation always bunts us out in small seasons like these, when we are not busy. He gets into our hearts, if possible, in just such gaps. There he hides, planning all sorts of mischief. Take care then Child's Companion.

EPITHELIOMA, OR CANCER OF THE LIP Cured by Rogers & Co.'s Medicines !

Read what Dr. Read says: Windson, April 16, 1866. MESSRS. ROGERS & Co. : Gents. :- In reference to the case of Epithelioma of the Lip, in which I used your Ointment, I beg to say that the patient entirely recovered, and has continued well ever since. I have also used the Medicine in some cases of obstinate Skin Diseases, with much benefit. I believe it to be a valuable remedy in many otherwise intractable cases, H. H. READ, M. D.

> AND STILL THEY COME! STORMONT, Guysboro', April 17, 1866,

MESSRS. ROGERS & Co. : Gents:-Your Medicine has made another wonderful cure. Thomas Cooper, Esq., of Lachabor Lake (storekeeper), got some for his wife, who had been afflicted with Scrofula for seven years, and nothing she got from the doctors did her any good. Mr. Cooper says her face was in a dreadful state with running sores, but is now well. As he expressed it, "It made a total cure of her."

JOHN SMITH. Engineer and Millwright. CAUTION! CAUTION! CAUTION THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to caution the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmless compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale.

It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.:—It washes all fine things, such as Muslin Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c.; cleaning Sponges,

BLACKSMITH WORK, of all kinds, executed promptly,

Plans and arrangements for all work executed in Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teasphonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and The Subscribers have received the greater portion Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child enting it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time—saves WOOLLENS, FLANNELS, BLANKETS. your clothes—saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpassed; for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improves them--by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flannels become white and soft like new. White things are much improved, and keep their color, even if put by for months. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery on a Washing Day, with Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal.
