NO SECT IN HEAVEN.

Talking of sects till late one eve,
Of the various doctrines the Saints believe,
That night I stood in a troubled dream,
By the side of a darkly flowing stream.

And a "Churchman" down to the river came
When I heard a strange voice call his name,
"Good father, stop; when you cross this tide
You must leave your robes on the other side."

"I'm bound for Heaven, and when I'm there,
I shall want my book of Common Prayer;
And though I put on a starry crown,
I should feel quite lost without my gown."

Then he fixed his eyes on the shining track,
But his gown was heavy, and held him back.
And the poor old father tried in vain
A single step in the flood to gain.

I saw him again on the other side,
But his silk gown floated on the tide;
And no one asked in that blissful spot,
Whether he belonged to "the church" or not.

Then down to the river a Quaker strayed,
His dress of a sober hue was made:
"My coat and hat must be all of gray,
I cannot go any other way."

Then he buttoned his coat straight up to his chin,
And staidly, solemnly waded in,
And his broad-brimmed hat he pulled down tight
Over his forehead, so cold and white.

But a strong wind carried away his hat,
A moment he quietly sighed over that,
And then, as he gazed to the farther shore,
The coat slipped off, and was seen no more.

As he entered Heaven his suit of gray
Went quietly sailing—away—away,
And none of the angels questioned him
About the width of his beaver's brim.

Next came Dr. Watts, with a bundle of Psalms
Tied nicely up in his aged arms,
And hymns as many, a very wise thing,
That the people in Heaven, "all round," might sing.

But I thought that he heaved an anxious sigh,
As he saw that the river ran broad and high,
And he looked rather surprised as, one by one,
The Psalms and the Hymns in the wave went down.

And after him, with his MSS,
Came Wesley, the pattern of godliness,
But he cried, "Dear me, what shall I do?
The water has soaked them through and through."

And there on the river far and wide,
Away they went down the swollen tide.
And the saint astonished, passed through alone,
Without his manuscripts, up to the throne.

Then, gravely walking, two saints by name
Down to the stream together came,
But as they stopped at the river's brink,
I saw one saint from the other shrink.

"Sprinkled or plunged, may I ask you friend,
How you attained to life's great end?"
"Thus, with a few drops on my brow."
"But I have been dipped, as you see me now.

And I really think it will hardly do,
As I'm 'close communion,' to cross with you;
You're bound, I know, to the realms of bliss,
But you must go that way, and I'll go this."

Then straightway plunging with all his might,
Away to the left—his friend to the right,
Apart they went from this world of sin,
But at last together they entered in.

And now, when the river was rolling on,
A Presbyterian church went down;
Of women there seemed an innumerable throng,
But the men I could count as they passed along.

And concerning the road they could never agree,
The old or the new way, which could it be,
Nor even a moment paused to think
That both would lead to the river's brink.

And a sound of murmuring long and loud
Came ever up from the moving crowd,
"You're in the old way, and I'm in the new,
That is the false, and this is the true,"—
Or, "I'm in the old way, and you're in the new,
That is the false, and this is the true."

But the brethren only seemed to speak,
Modest the sisters walked, and meek,
And if ever one of them chanced to say
What troubles she met with on the way,
How she longed to pass to the other side,
Nor feared to cross over the swelling tide,
A voice arose from the brethren then:
"Let no one speak but the holy men;
For have ye not heard the words of Paul,
'Oh, let the women keep silence all!'"

I watched them long in my curious dream,
'Till they stood by the borders of the stream;
Then, just as I thought, the two ways met,
But all the brethren were talking yet,
And would talk on till the heaving tide
Carried them over, side by side:
Side by side, for the way was one,
The toilsome journey of life was done,
And priest and Quaker, and all who died,
Came out alike on the other side.

No forms, or crosses, or books had they,
No gowns of silk, or suits of gray,
No creeds to guide them, nor MSS.,
For all had put on Christ's righteousness.

Miscellaneous.

LILLIE'S TALK ABOUT THE ANGELS.

"Mamma," said little Lillie Edwards, one day, as she was sitting sewing by her mother's side, "it may seem strange for me to say it, but I should really feel afraid to be very good."

"Afraid to be good! I think you mean afraid to be naughty," replied Mrs. Edwards.

"No, I don't mean that, mamma," said Lillie; "but I would not like to leave you and papa now, even to go to heaven; and whenever little girls are very good, God almost always makes them angels, and I don't want to leave you, mamma. Would you like God to take me away to heaven?"

Mrs. Edwards looked into the dear little face that was turned so earnestly towards hers, and thought how very desolate home would seem without her darling; then said, as she kissed the little one, "No, Lillie, I should not like to have God take you away from me; and yet if he thought it were best, I should try to submit, but my little daughter is mistaken when she thinks that good children almost always die. It does indeed seem that whenever little girls are very good, God makes them almost angels; but then it is because they are ever ministering in the world. I should not like to have you want to die when God so plainly shows that He wishes you to live; but would not my darling love to be like a little angel upon earth?"

"Yes, indeed, mamma," replied Lillie; "but how could I be one?"

"Think for a time, and then tell me what you remember to have read about angels in the Bible," said Mrs. Edwards.

Lillie thought a little while, and then replied, "I remember when the angels appeared to the shepherds, who were watching their flocks at night, and told them not to be afraid, for Jesus was born in Bethlehem; O, mamma! did not a beautiful angel come and comfort Hagar in the desert, when she was feeling so very sad, and for fear little Ishmael would die?"

"And what happens in heaven when any one is sorry for having done wrong, and determines, with God's help, to forsake sin?" asked Mrs. Edwards.

"Oh! I know, mamma!" exclaimed Lillie; "for it was my verse last Sunday; you mean, "There is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner that repenteth.""

"Now we can see what a little girl must do in order to be like them," said her mother. "And first, let me ask you to whom all the angels belong?"

"They are God's," replied Lillie, "so I must be his little girl before I can be like them, and the angels always obey God, don't they, mamma?"

"Yes, that is right; and now let me see if you cannot take each of the examples you have given, and tell me how you can be like those angels," said her mother.

Lille hesitated for a moment, but determined to try, and replied, "I remember first about the angels telling the shepherds that Christ was born, and I might tell little children about Jesus, who died to save them, and who would love to make them his. Then, when Hagar was feeling so very sad, the holy angel comforted her; and so I ought to try and make people happy when they are sad. Then, mamma, then—when I hear that a little girl has begun to love Jesus, I ought to feel very happy, so as to be like the angels in heaven; but oh, I could never, no, never, be so good."

"Not at once, nor in your own strength," said Mrs. Edwards; "but there is One who is 'more ready to hear than we are to pray,' and who would love to help my little daughter to be his ministering child."

"Yes, I know Jesus will," said Lillie, "and I mean to ask Him to help me begin this very day; and then, whenever I commence to feel angry and sulky I will think of Jesus, and pray more than ever to be made good."

So from that time Lillie became a ministering child. —Children's Friend.

AN INTELLIGENT PONY.

A few days ago, my attention was attracted by seeing, in a street close to this, a pretty little horse in a milk cart, trotting across the road and drawing up at a particular door. Presently he was followed by the man in charge, who had no sooner placed himself in communication with the person by whom the door was opened, than the horse set off again and drew up, as before, at a house somewhat further on, which was promptly opened as soon as the servants below heard the sound of the wheels and the stoppage of the carts at the accustomed hour. I spoke to the driver, and asked whether the horse knew every house in his walk. He told me "Yes," that he was familiar with them all. If a new customer was added, the horse soon included him in his calls; and if one left or discontinued his orders, he in a very short time ascertained the fact, and passed his door unnoticed. The arrangement between the driver and the horse is signally conducive to the economy of time; for, instead of the two trudging together from house to house, knocking at each, and waiting till the door is opened and the milk delivered, the intelligent action of the horse carries him over the intervening distances whilst the man is settling his affairs with his customers. Finding that the man and the cart are in the service of the dairyman who supplies my family—Mr. Field, of No. 47, Warwick-street—I took the liberty to call on him, and inquired the story of this interesting little animal. He told me that he had him for about five years; that he bought him cheap, because he then bore the character of being vicious and a jibber; and he very soon discovered that the character he bore he most richly deserved, for, rather than draw the milk-cart on four legs, his impulse was to upset it by standing erect upon two. It occurred to Mr. Field that such eccentricities must have been the result of bad treatment; and having less reliance on the whip than on the influence of kindness, he tried the latter, and most successfully. He began by coaxing the horse out of his sulks, by offering him a slice of bread, and sometimes a lump of sugar. The creature soon showed his appreciation and gratitude for both, but manifested a marked preference for a chestnut now and then; and thus a complete revolution was speedily produced in his disposition and conduct. So far from resenting and revolting against employment in the cart, he began to exhibit not only a perfect appreciation of the purposes for which the cart was wanted, but a spontaneous desire to contribute his unsolicited share in the service. The plan of moving ahead in advance of the driver was entirely its own conception; it was never taught or directed to do so; but in time, as its performance of its daily duties attracted the attention of the neighborhood, the notice the horse received, and the attention bestowed on him from door to door, were so thoroughly relished as to stimulate its exertions to the utmost. All that the driver has to do is to say over his shoulder, "Go on, Jerry!" and away he trots with the cart to the next house. But the driver told me I had not seen half the performance of Jerry, for he not only went of his own accord from house to house, but where he could reach the door he contrived to knock at it and to call up the inmates to attend to him. In order to witness this last exploit, I went the following day, at the stated hour for the delivery of milk, and I saw the wise little horse trot up alone to a door in Coburg-row, Pimlico; I saw him cautiously approach the curb-stone, taking it in front, so that the wheel of the cart might not get upon the raised footpath; and then with his nose he raised the knocker and let it fall twice, and waited till the door was opened, when he was rewarded by a slice of bread and a pat on his glossy neck while he was eating it.—Sir F. Emerson Tennent, in Land and Water.

Sabbath School Answers.—A Sabbath school teacher, instructing his class on that portion of the Lord's Prayer, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," said to them: "You have told me, my dear children, what is to be done—the will of God; and where it is to be done—on earth; and how it is to be done—as it is done in heaven. How do you think the angels and happy spirits do the will of God in heaven, as they are to be our pattern?" The first child replied, "They do it immediately;" the second, "They do it diligently;" the third, "They do it always;" the fourth, "They do it with all their hearts;" the fifth, "They do it altogether." Here a pause ensued, and no child appeared to have an answer; but, after some time, a little girl arose and said: "Why, Sir, they do it without asking any questions."

Finishing It.—A new church was being built in the vicinity where little Milton H—— lived. The work went on very slowly, and sometimes stopped for days. At last Milton's patience was exhausted. "I do wish," he said, "they would finish that church." "Ah!" said his grandmother, "don't be in too big a hurry. The world wasn't made in one day." "I know it wasn't," Milton replied, "but when the Lord commenced to make it, he never stopped until he finished it."

THOMAS W. SMITH,
Fredericton, June 12. Proprietor.

THE ROYAL INSURANCE COMPANY, 92 Lombard-street, London, and Royal Insurance buildings, Liverpool.

Chairman of the London Board.—Samuel Baker, Esq.
Chairman in Liverpool.—Charles Turner, Esq.

The Royal Insurance Company is one of the largest Offices in the kingdom.

At the Annual Meeting held in August 1859, the following highly satisfactory results were shown:—

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The most gratifying proof of the expansion of the business is exhibited in the one following fact—that the increase alone of the last three years exceeds the entire business of some of the existing and of many of the recently defunct fire insurance companies of this kingdom.

The Premiums for the year 1855 being........£130,060
While the Premiums for the year 1858 are.... 196,148
Showing an actual increase of................ 66,088 or upwards of 50 per cent. in three years.

The recent returns of duty made by Government for this latter year (1858) again show the "Royal" as more than maintaining the ratio of its increase as stated in former years. Only one among the London insurance offices exhibits an advance to the extent of one-half the increase of the Company, while all the others respectively fall far short of the moiety of its advance.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

The amount of new Life Premiums received this year is by far the largest received in any similar period since the commencement of the business, and must far exceed the average of amount received by the most successful offices in the kingdom. The number of policies issued in the year was 832, the sum assured £387,752 6s. 8d., and the premium £12,354 3s. 4d. These figures show a very rapid extension of business during the last ten years. Thus:—

| Years. | No. of Policies. | Sums Assured. | New Premiums. |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1848 .. | 98 | £48,764 17 0 | £1,380 9 1 |
| 1850 .. | 190 | 95,650 9 11 | 2,627 4 7 |
| 1852 .. | 422 | 181,504 10 6 | 5,828 5 10 |
| 1854 .. | 408 | 161,848 13 4 | 4,694 16 0 |
| 1856 .. | 703 | 297,560 16 8 | 8,850 3 11 |
| 1858 .. | 832 | 387,752 6 8 | 12,354 3 4 |

The remarkable increase in the business of the last four years, is mainly consequent upon the large bonus declared in 1855, which amounted to no less than £2 per cent. per annum on the sums assured and averaged 80 per cent. upon the premiums paid.

IN SHARES OF $200 EACH.
Entrance Fee 50 cents, and Transfer Fee 50 cents each per Share.
Subscribed Capital, - - - $250,000.
And is being constantly increased.

THIS Society will consist of an indefinite number of Shares of the ultimate value of $200 each. In the issue of this Stock peculiar inducements are offered to capitalists and others seeking a perfectly safe and remunerative rate of Interest, free from the anxiety and doubt incident to investments requiring constant watchfulness, and to enable every one who can save from their income to invest periodically that portion of their savings which overlaps current charges in a common Fund.

Money is received on Deposit from those who do not wish to invest periodically, for which Interest is paid in January and July, at the rate of Six per Cent. per Annum.

Advances are made to members (only) to buy, build, or redeem property, upon the security of approved Real Estate, repayable by easy monthly instalments.

Present amount advanced to members, $151,300.

Investing Shares may be taken up at any time, to mature in ten years. Bonus profits belong to these Shares.

THE "NEW IMPROVED SPINNING MACHINE"

HAS, with all the latest improvements, been triumphant in the late Provincial Exhibition, having secured the First Prize. This Machine is adapted for Spinning Wool making yarn, single or cross-banded; also, double and twisted. The operator will sit down to the work, which is only pleasant pastime. This Machine is becoming deservedly popular for all kinds of Spinning in families. The operator can do double the work in a day on this Machine as she can on the old Wheel, and do it with less labour.

☞ NOTICE. ☜

THE NEW DOMINION SPINNING MACHINE.

THIS MACHINE is also adapted for Spinning and making Yarn, single or cross-banned, and double and twisted. The operator will sit down to the work, which is exceedingly simple, and suitable for old or young, there being such ease in its working, and can do nearly as much work on it as on the one above named, and the yarn much better, there being such good management in the twist.—This Machine is complete in invention, magnificent in its working, neat in size and form. The Patent for this Machine was applied for on the 20th January, 1868, by J. W. Holder and D. H. Spragg. Call and examine before purchasing elsewhere, as we know of none so well adapted for the Country. These Machines are manufactured and sold at Main Street, Indiantown, by J. W. HOLDER, W. WHITTAKER, and M. & E. & T. & D. H. H. SPRAGG.

Price of the New Improved Spinner, $12; Price of the New Dominion Spinner, $7.

THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to caution the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmless compound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale.

It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.:—It washes all fine things, such as Muslin Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c.; cleaning Sponges, Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspoonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eating it by mistake, will not be injured.

If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time—saves your clothes—saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpassed; for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improves them—by its use they retain their original brilliancy. Flannels become white and soft like new. White things are much improved, and keep their color, even if put by for months. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery on a Washing Day, with Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal.
