HOPE IN CHRIST.

BY V. G. RAMSEY I said at morn, my feet to-day Shall walk in wisdom's pleasant way, Its hours, like threaded pearls, shall be From every stain and shadow free, A chaplet for the Master meet, And I will lay it at his feet.

But now, alas, at eventide, I see my chaplet scattered wide, The hours I should have kept so fair Are stained with sin, and marred by care, But empty-handed as before, I come my failure to deplore!

A spirit whispers, " Why again Resolve, thou wilt but strive in vain-Too blind to walk the narrow way, Thy sinful feet forever stray; Too weak to stem the rushing tide, Thy bark must with the current glide.

'Tis not for thee, when He appear, Thy Lord's approving words to hear; The gifts He gave thee have not grown, Thou scarce canst give Him back His own; Then hope no more the crown to wear, But wrap thy future in despair.'

Like Peter, sinking in the sea, Jesus, my Lord, I cry to thee! Stretch out thy mighty arm to save, And snatch me from the whelming wave; Though weaker than the bruised reed, Thy grace is equal to my need!

Not what I am, but what thou art, With hope inspires my fainting heart; The soul, which, ruined, thou hast sought, And from its hopeless thraldom bought With toil and blood, a countless cost, Thou wilt not suffer to be lost!

So will I strive with faith and prayer, Nor in my weakness e'er despair, Though broken, soiled and incomplete, The pearls I lay before thy feet, Yet, washed with tears, perhaps thy grace Will give them with thy gems a place.

POISONED FUN.

Young readers, you know there are poisoned drinks for sale at saloons in abundance, and foolish persons, old and young, to buy them, and poisoned candies, too. But did you ever notice that a great deal of the fun we see is also poisoned? I have seen four kinds of poison in it. 1. Falsehood. The talk of many fun-makers is very highly seasoned with this. They seem to think the more false the more funny. Some of it they call jesting or joking; or they tell you they said it "only in fun." Nevertheless, it is really falsehood, and as such it is poisoned. The destroyer, Satan, has used it to injure men ever since he deceived our mother Eve in the garden of Eden. I do not think that you can find a single person that uses it, or is fond of the fun it makes, whose soul is in good health. This poison is injuring all such persons, and to many of them it will soon prove fatal. You know what the 5 and 7 Change Avenue, - - Boston. has been cleared out. good book says of "all liars."

2. Obscenity. This is a filthy poison, and I do not like to say much about it; but I know that, vile as it is, many mix it with their fun, and so poison themselves and others by it. Beware of it!

3. Profunity. Quoting Bible expressions in a trifling or sneering way, or using uncommon forms of swearing or cursing, or ridiculing religious people or their practices, seems very funny to many persons, Prompt and Liberal Settlement of Losses. both old and young. When they want to make fun they put in some such profanity to season it.

4. Cruelty. One boy knocks off another's hat, and runs away with it, or spatters his clothes. One girl snatches another's pencil, or comb, and hides it; or one vexes another about a poor dress, or an old bonnet, or about some awkward action or mistake in speaking; or one laughs to another about some friend: in these and many other ways, some persons To increase further the Proportion of Profits take pleasure in injuring or vexing others. They defun almost wholly of such cruelties. But it is dreadfully poisoned fun. It makes those that love it like the enemy whose delight it is to do evil.

Now I like good fun, and like to have other people, especially the young, enjoy it, and plenty of it; but poisoned fun-young readers, what do you think about it? Is it best to make it? If we eat poison it ANNUAL INCOME, nearly $800,000 Sterling. commonly harms only the body; but can we take of these poisons without harming the precious souls? Then when you make fun do not mix any of these things with it; and, when you seek to have fun made by others, go where they do not mix poison with it. Child at Home.

"SHE DOESN'T TALK ANY."

"I don't like my Sunday-school teacher," exclaimed a bright, intelligent little girl of some nine or ten years, in the presence of an older friend. Don't like your Sunday-school teacher! Why, what does that mean, Lizzie. "She is a very kind and pleasant lady," remarked her friend. "I know that; but she doesn't talk any. She only hears our lesson out of the Question Book. I think a Sunday-school teacher ought to talk to us," was the reply. Now Lizzie was a very lively, mirthful child, "full of her fun," as we say, never apparently having a serious thought, yet she was not satisfied with her teacher, because she did not "talk" to her class.

It was not common conversation she wanted to hear, for this teacher always had some pleasant word for her scholars whenever she met them. BEAUTIFUL RIVER.

Shall we gather at the river, Where bright angels feet have trod, With its crystal tide forever, Flowing by the throne of God?

On the margin of the river, Washing up its silver spray, We will walk and worship ever,

All the happy golden day. Ere we reach the shining river, Lay we every burden down; Grace our spirits will deliver, And provide a robe and crown.

At the smiling of the river, Mirror of the Saviour's face, Saints whom death will never sever, Lift their songs of saving grace.

Soon we'll reach the silver river, Soon our pilgrimage will cease; Soon our happy hearts will quiver. With the melody of peace.
