" MAKING UP."

For several mornings Mrs. Morton had noticed that something went wrong with her little May. She seemed happy as a lark at the breakfast table, but went reluctantly, as if she had no heart to go.

"No such a thing," said May indignantly. "May Morton," said Alice, looking as solemn as her round, rosy face would let her, "didn't 1 hear you with my own ears, telling Bessie Potter that I was the most mischievous little thing you ever saw? "When ?" demanded May, feeling strange and helpless as if she were in a nightmare. "Last week, a Thursday, in your seat," said Alice,

"just before the bell rang for school to begin." May looked blank for a minute, and then she burst into a laugh. Alice turned angrily away; but May caught her by the arm; and choking down her laughter as fast as possible, she said, "Alice, don't you know I named my new canary bird Alice, after you? I was telling Bessie Potter about her, and how she tore her paper to pieces, and scattered her seed all over the floor."

Alice stared and drew a long breath. May's eyes twinkled again; and both little girls forgot their grievances in a peal of hearty laughter, ending in an affectionate shake and hug.

"There, Alice," said May afterward, "If ever we get put out again, let's speak about it the first thing. Perhaps it will be something as funny as this."

I have told this story for the sake of other children, large and small. Many a pleasant day is spoiled, and many unkind, painful feelings are caused by little mistakes, which a few words would set right. True love is not too proud to speak first. It is pride that prevents; and, if we could see pride in all its selfish ugliness, we should make haste to tread it under foot. - Selected.

THE LITTLE CONSCIENCE.

It was a quiet Sabbath evening among the granite hills, and as the twilight gave place to darkness, and the stars one by one showed their sparkling faces, I retired to a chamber with my little prattler of some four or five years, to talk with him, and seek to direct the little mind in its unfoldings. I was endeavoring this evening to give him some idea of the com- Has been called from our midst in the tomb to lay. mandments, which he was learning to repeat; and in order to explain the meaning of the words "Thou shalt not steal," used little stories as familiar illustrations. Many a question he asked which I could hardly answer, such as—" Mother, would I be a thief | And entered the portal of angels' abode. if I took something that I knew folks wanted out of the way?" At last, after hearing his prayers, I left Ah, well we remember the days that are gone, him to think over the subject, and for a half hour his | When her voice in sweet harmony joined with our little prattle about the "thief" could be heard, as he communed with himself, and then he was hushed in In the songs which we sung, when our hearts were as the land of childhood's sweet dreams.

to roll it with, just like Georgy Holbrook's." I assured him he should have a hoop, but it was not convenient to get it that day. wrong, but thought I would not notice it, but let it come out, as I felt sure it would; so I answered him : WEED "Well, darling, you have a hoop, and such a nice one-go and play with it in the yard, and have a good time."

He started, and then came back with: "You didn't kiss me, mother, when I came home." Giving me the desired kiss, he took his hoop into the yard. I stood at the window and watched his movements. He would roll it a little ways, and then take it up and look at it, as though it went wrong; he evidently seemed to be thinking of something besides the enjoyment of his play. Soon the hoop and stick were carefully put away in the shed, and he came in and seated himself by my side, with : "Please read to me, or tell me a story, mother.

think I'm too tired to play any more to-night. I told him a long story about a little boy that did wrong, and did not tell his dear mother; how unhappy he was, and how wretched it made her when she knew it. He seemed very uneasy, and then said:

"Now please, mother, tell me one funny story; not a true one like, you know, but just one to make me laugh, like those cousin Mary told me," (alluding to some of the "Mother-Goose Stories" that a friend had amused him with.)

I told him I could not tell him any of that sort, for I did not think they would make him feel happy. Well, tea-time came, and then his hour for rest. I Agent, should be addressed, went to his chamber as usual to hear his prayers, and I thought the little heart that had done wrong would tell me the trouble that I could see filled it. But conscience had not whispered quite enough, and I forbore to question him. When I gave him the good-night kiss, he said: "You do love me, don't you, mother?"

"Certainly, I always love my darling little boy." "Well, God loves me too, don't he, mother?"

"Yes, darling, he always loves good children; but when school-time drew near, she became restless. If they do wrong, it grieves him very much. No Wonder !- A young man was recently executed at Newport, Ky., for burglary and murder. In his last speech, on the gallows, he said : " My father was a church member, and so was my mother, but they never gave me any advice. They went to church every Sabbath, but they left their religion at the church. They never explained to us the doctrines of the Bible." If the dying testimony of that young man To increase further the Proportion of Profits was true, it not only explained his own sad history. sands of christian parents in the land. No wonder their religion becomes a subject of mockery, when the child never marks any evidence of their regard for its truths but bare profession. In the church they profess to believe that their children have souls, yet they utterly neglect their salvation. If the force of this argument, which our fallen nature so promptly grasps, is overcome by the efforts of the minister, it is a wonderful affair. Were the parents deliberately to concentrate all their influence on the mind of the child to efface every good impression made upon it, they could employ no means more effectual than profound indifference. CAUTION! CAUTION! THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst | the city, with a careful Hostler always in attendance pounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, if you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale. It will be found invaluable for the following domestic rposes, viz.:-It washes all fine things, such as Muslin Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c,; cleaning Sponger Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Soft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pan. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teasphonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and Gums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a tumbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life. A child eating it by mistake, will not be injured. If you have not used this Cleansing Crystal, lose no time in obtaining it. Nothing has ever been introduced into this country which has effected such a wonderful change upon Washing Days. It saves your time-saves our clothes-saves your money; and it does not injure the most delicate hands. Pickstone's Cleansing Crystal makes washing a pleasure, reduces the cost of fuel, the wear and tear of labor, and improves every article washed. For Linens, and heavy washes, it cannot be surpassed; for Laces, and fine fabrics, it is unequalled. It does not injure the color of Prints, but strengthens and improve nels become white and soft like new. White things are much improved, and keep their color, even if put by for months. Thousands of Families made happy! No misery Sold by most respectable Grocers and Chemists, in Packets THREE CENTS EACH, sufficient for 20 Gallons of water, or Tweive for Thirty Cents, also in Boxes containing 144

s derived from its cures many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. crofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofu they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every sec-

ion of the country, that the public scarcely need to e informed of its virtues or uses. Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tuber-cles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief and active symptoms. plaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARIL-LA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions of visible forms of Scrofulous disease.
