A HEART CRY

z petru.

AND ITS ANSWER. Out of the depths, oh Lord, Out of the depths I cry to thee. Down through the gathered blackness, Send thy saving love to me.

Thick shadows gather round me, And I cannot see thy face ; Oh ! have mercy on my weakness, And sustain me by thy grace.

I am weary of the fighting. Oh ! so weary of the sin, Which, despite my bitter struggles, Lurks, unconquered still, within.

Jesus 1 Master, save me, save me ! I have lost the narrow way, Take my tired hands, groping blindly, Lead me into perfect day.

Lead me into quiet pastures, Where the healing waters flow ; Spare the rod, in mercy spare me, Lest I fall beneath the blow.

Art thou weary, oh 1 my daughter, Weary thus soon of the way Which you vowed to tread so bravely, With my help from day to day?

Though the clouds do gather round you, So you cannot see my face, Do you fear to trust my kindness, Where my hand you cannot trace ?

Do you think your cross too heavy For your failing strength to bear? Then look up once more to Calvary, See me bleeding, dying there.

Cease not, faint not, in the stroggle With temptation and with sin, By my strength, my child, you'll conquer, And the victor's glory win.

Heed not, then, the gathered blackness, Through the clouds press bravely on, Knowing Christ but leads your footsteps By the path himself hath gone.

Follow close those guiding footsteps, Through temptation, want and woe, And my love shall surely bring thee Where the healing waters flow.

In my presence changed, forever, Shall the cross be for the crown ; At my footstool, all thy burdens, Thou shalt lay forever down.

were not without effect. After weeping and protest-ing her innocence, and weeping and again protesting, our threatenings seemed to alarm her and followers. Shirts, Under Clothing, Shirt Fronts and Collars of A. & T. GILMOUR, 25 King street, (North Side ) my threatenings seemed to alarm her, and falling on every description, at very low prices, at the her knees, she said, "Father I did take the apple." April 16

Never shall I forget that moment. My child confessed that she was a liar, in my presence ! Suppressing the emotion, I retired, and Mary, rising from her position, ran to her mother, and in a paroxysm of grief cried out : "Mother, I did not take the apple; but father has made me confess that I did."

Here was a new aspect of affairs. Lie multiplied upon lie. Could it be possible? My dear Mary, who had never been known to deceive us-so affectionate-so gentle-so truthful in all the past-could it be possible that she was a confirmed liar! Necessity was stronger than the tenderness of the father. I chastised her for the first time in my life-severely chastised her ! It almost broke her heart-and I may add, it almost broke mine also.

Yet Mary was innocent! After events proved that the negro was the thief. She had conjured up the story of the garret, knowing that Mary would not rate of Interest, free from the anxiety and doubt incident deny having been there, and to make the circumstances strong against her, had strewn apple rinds on the periodica ly that portion of their savings which overlaps floor. I never think of the event without tears. But it has taught me a useful lesson, and that is, never to threaten a child into a lie, when it may be it is telling the truth. The only lie I ever knew Mary to tell me, I myself forced upon her by threatenings. It has also fixed in my mind the determination to employ no servant in my family, when I can possibly do without. - Hall's Journal of Health.

"JUST GOING TO."

" Now, mother, isn't Hal too provoking ?. He promised to take me strawberrying with him, and now he's gone and left me," cried Jessie, winking back her tears. "Our Hal broken his promise!" Her mother looked as if she could hardly believe it. "Why no mother, I suppose not exactly. You see, he said I might go, if I would be ready at two when he started off as hard as he could run. There he is now, a long way down the other side of the common," she added with a little sob. "And it is a quarter past two. Why didn't you get ready in time ?" "I didn't think it was so late; besides I was going as soon as I finished Dolly's apron. But Hal said the rest were waiting, and he could not stop another minute," "And you don't blame him, Jessie 1 He had no right to keep the other children waiting, any more than you had to keep him. I am sorry that you have lost your afternoon's pleasure just because you were behind the time, but you can do nothing now MOCASSINS, in all styles, Iron Shoes-Largest Stock kept

A LESSON TO PARENTS.

I had been married fifteen years. Three beautiful daughters enlivened the domestic hearth, the youngest of whom was in her eighth year. A more happy and contented household was nowhere to be found. My wife was amiable, intelligent and contented. We were not wealthy; but Providence had preserved us from want; and we had learned that " contentment without wealth, is better than wealth without contentment."

It was my custom, when returning home at night, to drop into one of the many shops that are constantly open in the business streets of the metropolis, and purchase some trifling dainties, such as fruit or confectionary, to present to mother and the children. I need not say how delighted the little ones were at this expression of paternal consideration. On one occasion I had purchased some remarkably fine apples. After the repast, half a dozen were left untouched, and my thrifty companion forthwith removed them to the place of deposit, where it was her custom to preserve the remains of our nick-nacks. A day or two after, when I had seated myself at the table to dine, she said to me, smilingly, "So father has found the way to my safety-box, has he ?" I was at a loss to understand the meaning, and desired her to explain.

"Have you not been in my drawer ?" " What drawer ?"

"The upper drawer in my chamber bureau. Did you not take therefrom the largest of the pippins I had put away from the girls ?" "No-I did not."

"You did not?" "Not I! I have not seen an apple since the evening I purchased them."

A slight cloud passed over the countenance of my wife. She was troubled. The loss of the apple was in itself nothing; but we had carefully instructed our children not to appropriate to their use any article whatever of family consumption without permission; when the demand was at all reasonable, it had never been denied them ; she was loth to suspect any one of them of the offence ; we had a servant girl in the family, but as she was supposed to know nothing of the apples, my wife hesitated to charge it upon her. She at length broke silence by saying :

"We must examine the affair. I can hardly think one of the children would so act. If we find them guilty, we must reprove them. Will you please look into it ?"

The girls were separately called into my presence ; the eldest one first.

" Eliza, did you take from your mother's drawer an apple ?" " No, sir."

"Maria, did you take from your mother's drawer an apple ?" " No, sir."

"Mary, did you take from your mother's drawer an apple ?" "No, sir."

" It must have been taken by the servant; call her to me," said I, addressing my wife.

"Nell, how came you to take from the drawer of sake. Amen. - The Child's World. your mistress, without permission, the largest of the went out of the room, saying, "Jessie, dear, look after the baby, and don't let him go out of your

"Yes, mother, I'll watch him. Here, Birdie, come and see what Jessie has got."

Baby took the china doll she gave to him, tasted of its head, pounded the floor with it, as a cat would a mouse, and then crept off on an exploring expedition. Presently, Jessie heard a crash, and a cry that room, and there sat baby Dick on the floor, covered with bits of broken glass, and a little stream of blood &c.; 50 doz. bottles Table Salt; 3 brls. Ginger; 2 cases running down his white forehead. He had pulled over and broken a vase on his own head. His screams soon brought their mother, and while she was bathing the wound, Jessie stood by, saying, "I had missed him, and was just going after him, when I heard him cry. Poor little Dick !"

to go," was the sober answer, " he would have been draught; 25 boxes Extract Logwood; 1 ton Redwood; saved this sad wound."

When Jessie's mother went up to bed with her sale at market rates. that night, she asked, "Has this been a pleasant day to my little girl ?"

'No, mother, it has been the worst kind of a day. In the first place, I was late at school, this morning, and that put me out of humor for the whole forenoon ; then I couldn't go with Hal ; and worst of all, poor baby got hurt. Hasn't it been a day of misfortunes ?" you were 'just going to' do instead of doing it." said, "but I never mean to be late."

"Of course you don't. But the mischief is, my dear child, that you feel as if it were all well enough is a great mistake; 'just going to' amounts to nothing. Do it; don't stop to mean to do it;---and Mrs. Richmond spoke so earnestly that Jessie looked up in her face and said ;

"Why, mother, what makes you care so much about it? Do you think I am so very bad ?"

Her mother took her in her arms, and answered, "I am sick at heart, Jessie, because I am afraid 'just going to' will spoil your whole life. It cheats you of your pleasures, and hinders you from your duties; and sometimes, Jessie, I am terribly afraid when my darling comes to heaven's gate at last, and her Father asks, 'My child, did you give your heart to me down on earth ?' my poor child will have to say, "O Lord, I always meant it; I was just going to when the angel of death took me away." "

The last words sank to a whisper, and Jessie feit hot tears dropping on her head. She sank on her knees and prayed earnestly, "O Lord Jesus, please cure me of my naughty faults. Make me do right the first minute, without waiting to be just going to. Hitherto among the Largest ever Declared by

CAUTION! CAUTION! CAUTION! THE Proprietor of PICKSTONE'S WASHING AND CLEANSING CRYSTAL, deems it his duty to caution the public against spurious imitations of his highly celebrated Washing Crystal, which is the most harmless impound extant. It is free from Lime, Vitriol, and all other deadly mixtures so common to be found amongst washing compounds. Try Pickstone's Washing Crystal, f you want ease, comfort, and economy in washing, which washes every thing, and has rapid sale. It will be found invaluable for the following domestic purposes, viz.:--It washes all fine things, such as Muslin Lace, Crotchet Work, Baby Linen, &c,; cleaning Sponges, Combs, and Brushes; removing stains from the hands, and grease from Carpets, Cloth, Flannel, &c. It makes Hard Water Noft, and may be used with good effect in Baths, as it immediately removes all condensed perspiration from the skin. A small quantity should also be used in the foot pap. It forms a cooling and cleansing wash for the head, by dissolving a teaspnonful of the Crystal in a quarter of a pint of water ; and for cleansing the Mouth, Teeth, and jums, it is quite a luxury, by adding a teaspoonful to a umbler of water. It renders linen beautifully white, and unlike other preparations, at the same time preserves the DYE STUFFS DYE WOODS, Ac.-2,561 lbs. Extract fabric. It contains nothing injurious to life.
