WE MISS THEE STILL. We miss thee oft at evening's hour, When all is bushed and still; And for thy footsteps wait no more, Father, we miss the still.

We miss thee at the Four of prayer; We miss thee round the board; Alas! we miss thee everywhere! Thy voice no more is heard.

The Father called, thy work was done; Thy spirit home was borne; Thy course on earth forever run,

And we are left to mourn. But yet we mourn thee not as those Of whom no hope is given;

We trust that when this life shall close, We all shall meet in heaven. Though now the family tie is rent.

And we are scattered wide, We hope when e'er the summon's sent, To meet at Jesus' side. There we shall meet with kindred dear, Around the throne on high,

Nor separation cause a fear, To mar our perfect joy.
