There is, no doubt, that the ed, but dissent from the article will be indulged. same feeling that has all along actuated the leaders of the Fenian movement, has been, and is, at the bottom of the Red River trouble; it being stated that United States and Fenian emissaries have been busy in stirring up the strife. Mr. McDougall has probably reached Ottawa by this time. The Dominion Government is doing everything to settle the difficulty. The Vicar General of Quebec, has gone to aid other

The following statement is reported to have been made by Governor McDougall: He says: Reports written from Pembina are false in many respects. They were written by Stultsman. All manner of false reports were in circulation among the Red River half breeds to induce them to take up arms against him. Among other ridiculous reports one was that he had killed two priests on his at 8 o'clock. Strangers visiting the city are cordially in way up, and had insulted the Bishop and other high | vited to attend. personages, whom he says he never saw. The Catholic priests used all their influence against him, and, more than all else, gave a practical turn to the insurrection. He was accordingly met by a delegation when he reached the border, and informed he must not enter the Territory. When he did enter he was met by a party of twenty armed horsemen and ordered back, no insulting language being used. The Governor said he was not, of course, prepared to use force. His party consisted of non-combatants, there being ladies among them, and also genthemen visiting the country having no connection with the Dominion. There was according ly no alternative but to return to the American side. He concedes that the real origin of the difficulties lie in the fact of the dissatisfaction of the Hudson's Bay Company's agency in the Red River Territory with the division of the private profits made by the officers of the Company in England. This has existed for some time, and has been a source of controversy. at Winnipeg. The Dominion knew only the officers same, beg to say to such as wish to contribute, that in England in the transfer.
