LEAVE IT TO GOD. Be it a doubt? all doubts He solves;

Questions which thought in vain revolves, He settles with a nod. Be it a fear? He has the balm, Which every human fear will calm;

Leave it to God!

Leave it to God! Be it the weight of daily care? Bring Him the burden; He will bear Alone the tiresome load. Be it the restless, anxious thought

For future years? By faith be taught-Leave it to God? Be it the battle of this life?

He fought it once, and won the strife, Who earth's rough ways has trod. Be it the foc, who triumph vaunts? Jesus had foes, and bore their taunts; Leave it to God!

Leave it to God! Be it the loss of worldly wealth, Or yet, the sorer loss of health ? All losses he makes good ; In every loss there is some gain, Some seed of grace in every pain; Leave it to God!

Leave it to God! Be it the heavy weight of guilt? The blood of Christ was freely spilt, And sin atoned by blood. Be it the littleness of faith? Ask and be full, the promise saith; Leave it to God!

Leave it to God! Be it a dread to yield this breath, That life-long bondage, fear of death, The pang, the worm, the sod ? He conquered death, who victory gives, He liveth, and who in Him lives, Leaves all to God !

CLARA'S TROUBLE.

What do you think it was? She was poor? No. Sick? No. Homely, and the girls laughed at her? No. Ill-natured, and made unhappy by that No. Well, what was it? Read on and see.

She was sitting with her mother, Mrs. Montague, in the back parlor of their splendid house in Belleville Avenue. It was two weeks since she had come home from Misses Price's boarding-school, and there were five weeks more of vacation.
