Among the Ships .- The storm of yesterday, and last evening together with the preceding severely cold weather, has been very hard on ships and seamen. Several vessels which left port last week have been obliged to return, and those that came in deeply laden are iced up quite heavily. The cold weather appears to have been very general, as shown by late despatches from Northern Europe.

Yesterday afternoon, the schooner Osseo came into the harbor, coal laden, from Philadelphia. Her carge, with the ice which had accumulated about her deck, made her set very deep in the water; and had she been in the Bay long, after the wind hauled south, those on board would have had a serious night of it. The head of her main topmast was broken.

During the afternoon the barque Kate Troop and the brigantines Salve and Alice returned to port .-The Kate Troop and Salve left the harbor on Saturday last, and both were forced to return on account of heavy weather and excessive cold. On endeavoring to come to just off Reed's Point, the barque grazed the wharf, and on her way, after an 23rd near Amiens, taking a thousand prisoners, anchor was let go, she gave the Emperor a very and commenced to pursue the French in direction narrow berth, and finally brought up in a berth at the Custom House wharf. tained, she is quite leaky. The ship Sovamset, the American vessel recently purchased by Messrs. Oulton Bros., is being overhauled and refitted at Robertson's wharf.

The steamer Emperor was detained by severe weather, in Digby Basin, until seven o'clock on ported at about 800. Sunday morning. She left at that time, and arrived at her wharf here about four o'clock Sunday afternoon. On her last trip east, the Steamer New York picked up no less than four ship-wrecked crews. The American Government, unlike that of Great Britain, seldom recognises services of this description performed by vessels sailing under its flag. The pilot-boat Tayior ran in from sea yesterday, The Anchor Line Steamer Sidonian, Capt. McKay, from Marseilles, 25 days out, for New York, arrived
