REPORT OF THE JOINT HIGH COMMISSION-THE TREATY.

WASHINGTON, May 8. - The following is an authoritative official statement of the result of the labors of the Joint High Commission :- The Treaty is to be known as the Treaty of Washington for the adjustment of claims of inquiry alleged by the United States on account of the escape of Confederate cruisers from British ports and depredations committed by those vessels during the late rebellion in this country.

A tribunal of arbitration is constituted, to consist of five arbitrators, one appointed by the United States, one by Great Britain, and the other three each by a designated sovereign of Europe or America. The treaty establishes special rules of National duty and obligation in addition to the generally received public law, which, although not admitted by the British Commissioners to have been in force at the time, are yet, it is agreed, to retract and to govern the decision of the tribunal.

The arbitration of this tribunal may either award damages in the detail or in the gross, at its discretion, or it may refer this duty to a board of assessors sitting in the United States, who shall report from time to time, the payment to be ac-

The British Government frankly expresses its regret for the occurrence of the incidents complained of by the United States.

The adjudication of all other claims of citizens of the United States against Great Britain or of the subjects of Great Britain against the United States, during the same period—that is, from the 13th of April, 1861, to the 9th of April, 1865, an ordinasy mixed Commission is provided, to sit at Washington, with an umpire, to be appointed if necessary by a designated friendly power. This limitation of time is material in substance, for it confines reclamation against the United States to incidents of the war. It is accompanied also with a declaration on the part of the British Commissioners to the effect of excluding claims on account of the slave property. Great Britain does not recognize the claims of Ler subjects for the seizure of cotton in cases where the) took up their abode in the South, as they became abject to the contingencies of war. In regard to the Fishery Question, in addition to the liberty alveady secured to them by the treaty of 1848, the fahermen of the United States shall have the liberty to take sea fish on the sea coast and shores and in the bays, harbors and creeks of the Provinces of Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick and the colony of Prince Edward Island and the islands adjacent without being restricted to any distance from the shore, with permission to land upon such coasts, shores and islands and also upon the Magdalen Islands for the purpose of drying their nets and curing their fish, subject, of course, in this respect, to the local rights of private property; and same liberty is granted to British subjects on the Eastern coasts and shores of the United States north of the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude.

This liberty is not to include, on either side, shell fish or salmon or the shad fisheries or other fisheries in rivers and at the mouths of rivers. It is also agreed further that fish oil, and fish of all kinds, except of the inland lakes and their rivers, and except fish preserved in oil, the product of the fisheries of the United States or the Dominion of Canada or Prince Edward Island, shall be admitted | ment. into each country respectively free of duty. The privileges thus conceded to the United States are obviously most important ones.

It is asserted by the British Government, but not admitted by the United States, that the privileges accorded to the United States are of greater value than those accorded to the subjects of Great Britain; and to prevent and avoid controversy on this point, it is agreed that a mixed Commission, with an umpire appointed by a designated friendly power, shall determine whether there shall be any compensation for such alleged excess of privileges, and, if so, how much ought to be paid by the United States.

Next comes the various questions of navigation and commercial transit which are disposed of by declaring the navigation of the rivers St. Lawrence, Yucan, Porcupine, and Stillerie forever free and open to the citizens or subjects of both countries, by providing for the equal use of the Welland, St. Lawrence, and other Canals in the Dominion on the one hand, and Lake Michigan and the St. Clair Flats Canal on the other, by providing for the free transit of merchandise to and from as well in the British possessions as in the United States, and abolishing the provisional export duty on American lumber on the river St. John. All provisions concerning the fisheries and commercial transits are, of course, made contingent upon their being approved by the Congress of the United States, the Parliaments of Great Britain and Canada, and the Legislature of Prince Edward Island.

By these various stipulations all the privileges of fishery, navigation and transit accorded to the United States by the Treaty of 1850 are once more obtained, and in a better form and without the burdensome conditions of that treaty in the matter of reciprocal importations.

The balance of the treaty relates to North-Western

H. W. CHISHOLM,

THE NATIONAL Life Insurance Company

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA W AS Chartered by Congress, in 1868, with a capital of ONE MILLION DOLLARS, every dollar of which was paid in before commencing business.

This capital is four times as large as that of any American Company doing a Life Insurance business exclusively Beside this immense capital, the Company have invested a premium reserve to meet maturing Policies of seven hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars, making their total assets to January 1st, 1881, one million seven hundred and sixty-six thousand dollars. Their liabilities to same date were $807,389, or in other words, they have more than two dollars assets for every dollar of liabilities. This success is owing to the facts that their business is conducted upon the only common sense plan-"so much insurance for so much money"-and that the Company's financial management has been economical and cautious. In this Company there are none of the bewildering un-

&c., &c., &c., which enter so largely into the business plans of Mutual Companies. The insured buy what they pay for-Insurance. They are not called upon to insure others, but they are insured by the Company, Instead of charging thirty per cent. more than is necessary to cover possible losses, the National charges the net cost of Insurance and risks its capital to cover any extra mortality. Mutual Companies MAY not need to use this axtra thirty per ceft.; in that case it is returned to the Policy-holder and mis-called a "Dividend." The National does not need any extra guarantee, its capital being sufficient, and consequently its rates are from 25 to 30 per cent. lower than those of Mutual Companies. The National's Policies are more liberal than any issued in the Provinces, allowing residence or travel anywhere in temperate climates. No extra Premiums, Policy-fees,

The National is the only Company which has made the required deposit at Ottawa for the SOLE benefit of Canadian Policy holders. All others are for "Policy-Holders Five cents per day will insure a young man a thousand dollars, IN GOLD, payable to him at the age of sixty, or to his representatives should be die sooner. Four cents a day will insure a man, aged 25, for one thousand dollars, payable to his wife or children at his death, wherever that may occur. What easier way is there to make such a provision? Is it not worth your while to investigate? Agencies are established throughout the Lower Provinces where the fullest information will be cheerfully given. Should there be none to whom you can conveniently apply

Permits, or extra charges, except upon the half-dozen occupations generally recognized as EXTRA hazardous.
