"Forbid them not" "The Master has come over Jordan," Said Hannah, the mother, one day; "He is healing the people who throng him; With a touch of his fingers, they say; And now I shall carry the children,

Little Rachael, and Samuel, and John, I shall carry the baby Esther, For the Lord to look upon." The Father looked at her kindly,

But he shook his head and smiled; "Now who but a doting mother Would think of a thing so wild? If the children were tortured by demons, Or dying of fever t'were well, Or had they the taint of the leper,

Like many in Israel." "Nay do not hinder me Nathan: I feel such a burden of care, If I carry it to the Master. Perhaps I shall leave it there. If he lay His hands on the children, My heart will be lighter, I know,

For a blessing for ever and ever

Will follow them as they go. So, over the hills of Judah, Along by the vine-rows green, With Esther asleep on her bosom, And Rachael, her brothers between Mong the people who hung on His teaching, Or waited His touch and His word, Through the row of proud Pharisees hastening She pressed to the feet of her Lord.

"Now, why should'st thou hinder the Master." Said Peter, " with children like these?" " See'st not how, from morning till evening, He teacheth, and healeth disease?" Then Christ said, "Forbid not the children, Permit them to come unto me!" And he took in His arms, little Esther,

And Rachael, he placed on His knee. And the heavy heart of the mother Was lifted all earth-care above, As He laid His hands on the brothers, And blessed them with tenderest love As He said of the babes in His bosom. "Of such are the kingdom of Heaven; And strength for all duty and trial, That hour to her spirit was given.
