A BIT OF A SERMON.

Whatso'er you find to do, Do it, boys, with all your might; Never be a little true, Or a little in the right. Trifies even Lead to heaven, Trifles make the life of man ; So in all things, Great or small things, Be as thorough as you can.

Let no speck their surface dim-Spotless truth and honor bright! I'd not give a fig for him Who says any lie is white! He who falters, Twists or alters Little atoms when we speak, May deceive me, But believe me

To himself he is a sneak ! Help the weak if you are strong, Leve the old if you are young; Own a fault if you are wrong,

If you're angry hold your tongue. In each duty. Lies a beauty If your eyes you do not shut;

Just as surely And securely As a kernel in a nut!

Love with all your heart and sonl, Love with eye and ear and touch : That's the moral of the whole, You can never love too much !

"Tis the glory Of the story

In our babyhood begun: Hearts without it (Never doubt it) Are as worlds without a sun !

If you think a word will please, Say it if it is but true: Words may give delight with ease When no act is asked from you, Words may often Soothe and soften,

Gild a joy or heal a pain;

ingly : " always be a good boy and do as mother tells you, and then you won't get into trouble." At the same time time he cast a reproachful look at his wife.

the second s

"Don't hurl your looks at me," she exclaimed. "Either the boy has been naughty and deserved punishment, or he hasn't. Now which is it ? Tell me. He may have been naughty; I don't say he hasn't. But I do say he's full young for such marks as these," pointing to the weals on his back and

"That's right. You encourage him. It would'nt be you if you did'nt. I pull one away, and you pull the other. There's nothing like teaching a child to mind betimes. He's never too young for that." "Discretion is needed, Janet; no child of the age of this one ought ever to be punished in this style. It's little short of cruel."

"You shut up, and say any more in his hearing if you think proper. As though I didn't know as much about the management of children as you. If he doesn't do as I tell him another time, I'll give him double as much as I've given him to day. Do you hear, Charley ?"

Charley only answered by a closer hold of his father.

But Mr. Watkins was a powerful man. Me thrust her aside and sternly commanded her to leave the child alone.

"I shall do something desperate if you exaspe rate me; mind that," she shrieked rather than uttered. "A mother to be browbeaten in the face of her own child ! You brute !"

MRS. WATKINS'S WAY OF GOVERNING HER CHILDREN.

WHAT IS A MOTHER'S TRUE EMPIRE ?

"Be quiet, Charley, or I'll make you," called out Mrs. Watkins to her son Charles, a little fellow of about three years old.

Thus commanded, Charley stopped the rather loud, but not unmusical, childish singing, in which he had been indulging; but with the hush of his voice came the irresistible desire to be busy with his hands. For both hands and voice to be still was more than could be reasonably expected in such a juvenile. Until his mother spoke he had been sitting on the floor, very good indeed, sufficiently amused by his song. April 1. A. LOTTIMER. CHURNS! CHURNS! CHURNS! HEALTH! TIME! MONEY!

Why Should I Buy Kitchen's Patent Churn? BECAUSE they preserve health, save time, save money, and the churning is all done in 5 or 10 minutes. You will then believe what I assure you is true, viz. : That I have for sale the best churn ever invented -- Kitchen's Patent Rotary Double Dasher. This churn has two Dashers, each revolving in an opposite direction. It is useless to attempt a description of this churn in an adver-isement, it has to be seen to be appreciated. It is estimated by practical farmers that it will produce one-tenth more tter from the same quantity of cream than any other churn now in use The public are respectfully requested to call at my store, examine the article, and select for hemselves. "Now I'll tell you what," shesaid, drawing him to her with a shake; "if you don't stop that noise directly, I'll give you something to cry for."

And he knew she would. He didn't doubt it at all. The noisiness of his grief subsided; but it was followed by a suppressed sobbing, that seemed almost chocking.

Mrs. Watkins was irritated. What had just taken place was, in one form or other, of almost daily occurrence, and no particular expression or usual excitement. It was her prevailing tone and temper from Monday morning until Saturday night. Of course her irritability therefore was far more formidable. "Stop this moment, when I tell you." she exclaimed; passionately grasping his small arm in most unmotherly fashion. "Stop, I say." She might as soon have told the storm to still its raging. Of course he only sobbed the more.

Her face grew white with passion. What could have made it so? Surely not the pathetic grief of her almost babe.

She dealt him one or two heavy blows ; far, far too heavy for his little frame; and pushed him from her with a violence that was shocking to behold, exclaiming, "I'll teach you to mind what I say, or I'll know the reason why."

At this moment her husband entered.

"Heyday, what's the matter?" he cried, stoop ing to pick up his boy, who threw his arms around his neck, and hid his face in his bosom, renewing his grief almost doubly, as he felt the strong protecting clasp of his father around him.

"What's the imatter? Matter enough," replied Mrs. Watkins. "He's been a naughty boy, defying his mother; and I've been giving him what he de- TISHING, FISHING-ON KENNEBECASIS .- A good serves. I'll teach him to mind what I say." "Hush, hush, Charley," said Mr. Watkins sooth Jan. 12
