Our Succour might be made. Was ever love with this akin, To suffer and forgive ! We hate and scorn each other's sin: We loathe the hearts that beat within, We loathe the lives we live.

"We cannot reach Christ's Fortieth Day, "Tis true:" Nor can we bare Our souls to gaze of other clay, As could the Sinless One. His way Our weakness cannot share.

For sinning soul can e'er endure What Christ alone endured, Nor fast, nor watch, however pure, Nor strenuous pain, can e'er ensure What Christ alone ensured.

But sinning men may lowly bow Beneath contrition's scourge; And woman's voice petition low With stain of ashes on her brow, That Christ her guilt will purge;

For lust of flesh, for lust of eye, We tell our sin and shame; For pride of life we daily die; While we the Tempter's power defy By whisper of his name.

Then purified our lips may be His mercy to implore: On tempted men, just such as we, For priestly raiment that we see The spotless robes he wore.

For hearts more large and tender still To them He died to save: For wisdom all their hearts to fill; For vision clear; submissive will; For bearing meek and grave.

The tempted Christ besides us stands That we his grace may claim. We bow; we pray for cleaner hands And purer hearts 'neath sacred bands To minister his name.

WONDERS OF LIGHTNING.

A flash of lightning, says the Evening Post, rush es through space at such a rate that it might go from the earth to the moon in one second. Then what time is allowed a man's nerves to transmit to the brain the impression of a stroke of lightning? and what time has the brain to understand such a crash? Absolutely none! The flash occurs, and bears out this deduction, for Professor Tyndal, in his "Fragments of Science," gives the following circumstance:

"On June 30, 1788, a soldier in the neighborhood of Manheim, being overtaken by rain, placed himself under a tree, beneath which a woman had taken shelter. He looked upward to see whether the branches were thick enough to afford the required protection, and in doing so was struck by lightning, and fell senseless to the earth. The woman at his side experienced the shock in her foot, but was not struck down. Some hours afterward the man revived, but remembers nothing about what occurred, save the fact of his looking up at the branches. This was his last act of consciousness, and he passed from the conscious to the unconscious without pain."

Professor Tyndal relates thus his own experience: "Some time ago I happened to stand in the fifteen large Leyden jars charged beside me; sold low to close, by through some awkwardness on my part I touched march 8 a wire leading from the battery, and the discharge went through my body. Life was absolutely blotted out for a very sensible interval, without a trace of pain. HEALTH! TIME! MONEY! WHY SHOULD IBUY KITCHEN'S PATENT CHURN? TECAUSE they preserve health, save time, save money, and the churning is all done in 5 or 10 minutes. You will then believe what I assure you is true, viz.; That I have for sale the best churn ever invented-Kitchen's Patent Rotary Double Dasher. This churn has two Dashers, each revolving in an opposite direction. It is useless to attempt a description of this churn in an adverisement, it has to be seen to be appreciated. It is estimated by practical farmers that it will produce one-tenth more butter from the same quantity of cream than any other churn now in use.
