WORK FOR CHRIST.

Hark the voice of Jesus calling, Who will go and work to-day; Fields are white, the harvest waiting, Who will bear the sheaves away?

Loud and long the master calleth, Rich rewards he offers free; Who will answer, gladly saying Here am I, O Lord, send me.

If you cannot cross the ocean, And the heathen lands explore, You can find the heathen nearer-You can find them at your door.

If you cannot give your thousands, You can give the widow's mite; And the least you do for Jusus, Will be precious in his sight.

If you cannot speak like angels-If you cannot preach like Paul, You can tell the love of Jesus-You can say he died for all.

If you fail to rouse the wicked With the Judgment's dread alarm, You may lead the little children To the Saviour's waiting arms.

While the souls of men are dying, And the master calls for you, Let none hear you idly saying-There is nothing I can do.

Gladly take the task he gives you, Let his work your pleasure be; Answer quickly, when he calleth, Here am I, O Lord, send me.

hour, laying plans for the future; and James begged forgiveness of her he had wronged. "It is not too late to prove my love and strength,' said the penitent man, and so it proved. In one year from that day, two beautiful silver cups were brought home by the happy father, one for Belle's fourth birthday, the other for the wife who had saved him. Mary's bore the inscription: "An angel saw me falling, and lifted me up." Belle's was also neatly engraved; "A little child shall lead them."

Years have passed since then, and the happy couple in the vigor of life, on each recurring birthday of Belle, who is now a young lady of eighteen, relate to her the little trial of their married life, and the great happiness that has grown from self-denial and justice.

The good wife and mother has kept the silver bright, and not a meal has been eaten at home, but these cups were on the table where James could be reminded of promises he had made and so faithfully

DAISY'S CROSS.

"Must I, mamma?" It was a very mournful tone in which these words were spoken, while Daisy held up before her mother's eyes a much-worn dress. The tucks had been let down one after another to meet the growing wants of their little owner. It had been badly torn at the pleasant berrying party last year, and Mrs. Strong had just spent a busy hour in repairing it again. But Daisy's eyes were brimming full of tears as she thought of wearing it still another year. Visions of her little playmates, neatly dressed in the prettiest of new prints, danced before her eyes; and she already saw the curious glances directed toward her old, worn dress, which, as she had one day over. heard a thoughtless one among them say, "looked

SPEIGHT'S PATENT DESIDERATUM GLUE POT T has hitherto been found in using any of the Domestic I Glue Pots now before the public, that they have gen erally caused disappointment, for the Flue as soon as suf gross Simpson's Cattle Spice within the short period we ficiently heated, as speedily becomes chilled, owing to the cooling of the small quantity of water which can be used reason we have not looked out for any yet, but we have use of "SPEIGHT'S PATENT DESIDERATUM GLUE no hesitation in saying in a general way, that it gives en- POT," where the Family Night Light not only dissolve tire satisfaction, and doubt not after having been before | the Glue, but will keep it in a hot and liquid state for several hours, and the necessity and manifest inconven ience is therefore obviated of having to place the Glu-Pot on the bars of a hot grate or over a gas jet, as has been usually recommended, and is absolutely necessary in the use of any other Glue Pot. Another great improvement is the inner cup of porcelain which can be at any time re moved for cleaning, and will be found equally useful for dissolving Gum, Isinglass, Gelatine, or any other adhesive agent.

The advantage of having a Glue Pot, the separate parts of which can be removed and cleaned, and when neces sary renewed, is sufficient alone to recommend the article to public use, and altogether will be found of a character uensely superior to any other of the Domestic Glue Pots hitherto supplied, and will be admitted as a Deside-RATUM IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD, SHOP, OR COUNTING HOUSE.
