"I am pretty sure it was something about Jesus," she said, "but I can't remember much."

"Is it not true, my child, that having ears to hear, you have not heard?" he said, sadly. Opening a Bible and turning to John, twentieth chapter and thirty-first verse, he read, ". but these are written that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing ye might have life through his name .' This beautiful passage was the text, from which our pastor preached to us of salvation from sin and eternal life through Christ, and this message from heaven, you heard as if you heard it not. You have ears to hear these great truths which are indispensible to your salvation. You have a memory capable of retaining them, and reason which enables you to reflect, and to comprehend their importance, and yet I fear you are not using these great and precious gifts so as to benefit yourself or to glorify God."

Tears came to Jennie's eyes, and throwing her arms around his neck she whispered, "Dear papa, 1 did not know I had been so wicked. I will try, next Sabbath, to hear aright."

"You need not wait till next Sabbath. Every hour brings opportunities which, if they are abused, will return to reprove and condemn us. I see woman sewing without a needle. THE HINDU BOY'S PRAYER.

A missionary tells as that he was once walking in his garden, when a poor Hindu boy, who belonged to the mission school, came after him and MENEELY & KIMBERLY, in a very gentle voice, said:

"If you please, sir, make me a Chrstian." The missionary was quite surprised by what he heard, and said to the little heathen boy: "I cannot make you a Christian, my dear child, but God can. You must ask God to forgive your sins for Jesus Christ's sake, and to send His Holy Spirit to live in your heart."

Not a long time after, the same little boy came to the missionary, and said, with a soft voice and "The Lord Jesus Christ Himself has come to live
