OPEN THE DOOR.

Open the door for the children, Tenderly gather them in ; In from the highways and hedges, In from the places of sin, Some are so young and so helpless, Some are so hungry and cold; Open the door for the children, Gather them into the fold.

Open the door for the children, See ! they are coming in throngs; Bid them sit down to the banquet, Teach them your beautiful songs: Pray you the Father to bless them; Pray you that grace may be given ; Open the door for the children, "Of such is the kingdom of Heaven."

Open the door for the children; Take the dear lambs by the hand; Point them to truth and to goodness, Send them to Canaan's land, Some are so young and so helpless, Some are so hungry and cold; Open the door for the children, Gather them into the fold.

MOTHER'S CURTAINS.

"What are you doing in that corner, Josie?" said Annie Gray, for, coming in to call her sister out to roll hoop, she found her sitting in the corner of their mother's room, with her bright face resting on her two little brown hands, very quiet and thoughtful.

"I want to earn some money," said the little girl, "and I don't know how."

" Earn money for what ?" "I want to earn enough to buy curtains for mother's window." "O Josie ? A girl eight years old to earn money enough for that ! What put them into your head ?' "Mother did herself. She wants them so much,

And when I asked her why she didn't buy themshe said, 'Because I have so many little mouths to feed, and so many little bodies to keep warm and comfortable. We've enough for that, thank God, but we have nothing to spare for fancies, and the curtains are only a fancy of mine.' And I felt so sorry, Annie,' cause mother did look as if she'd like her fancy very much. But since yesterday I've felt worse than ever about it; for when that telegram came to say that Aunt Clara was so sick, and mother must come to see her, and she was getting ready in such a hurry, I saw her open that box which shuts with a spring, and take some money out of it; and she said to father. 'How fortunate it is that I have this money, now that you are so hard pressed. I have been putting away a dime every week to see whether I could spare it to buy some muslin curtains for our room. There is a dol-Wouldn't it be lovely if we could earn money enough to buy some ?"
