BY MISS JOSEPHINE POLLARD. A little way-I know it is not far To that dear home where my beloved are; And yet my faith grows weaker, as I stand A poor, lone pilgrim in a dreary land, Where present pain the future bliss obscures. And still my heart sits, like a bird, upon The empty nest, and mourns its treasures gone; Plumed for their flight,

And vanished quite. Ah! me, where is the comfort ?-though I say They have but journeyed on a little way !

A little way-at times they seem so near, Their voices ever murmur at my ear; To all my duties loving presence lend, And with sweet ministry my steps attend And bring my soul the luxury of tears. 'Twas here we met, and parted company; Why should their gain be such a grief to me? This sense of loss!

'This heavy cross !'

Dear Saviour, take the burden off I pray, And show me Heaven is but-a little way. These sombre robes, these saddened faces, all The bitterness, and pain, of death recall; Ah, let me turn my face where'er I may, I see the traces of a sure decay; And parting takes the marrow out of life. Secure in bliss, we hold the golden chain, Which death, with scarce a warning, snaps in twain;

And never more, Shall time restore The broken links ;- 'twas only yesterday They vanished from our sight-a little way!

A little way !- this sentence I repeat, Hoping, and longing, to extract some sweet To mingle with the bitter-from Thy hand I take the cup I cannot understand, And in my weakness give myself to Thee! Although it seems so very, very far To that dear home where my beloved are, I know, I know,

It is not so: Oh! give me faith to feel it when I say That they are gone-gone but a little way !

merry one-all Grandpa Seymour's family for three generations, and Mr. Morgan's two brothers, and his sisters with their families. And what a tablefull at dinner! The great extension-table was drawn out to its full extent, and another table laid parallel to it and just as long; for everybody said it would spoil all the good if the children must wait-and there were so many of them! Tom Seymour, and Fred and Harry Morgan, almost ready for college, and then a host of bright-eyed boys and girls, all the way down to little Winnie Mason, who was just four months old to-day, and who lay in ORNMEAL. Now landing from schr. Martha A .her mother's arms kicking and crowing at everybody and everything, like the happy baby she was. As for Charley Morgan, he was as happy as a boy ten years old well could be, among a crowd of mischievous cousins and with a prospect of unlimited fun and frolic before him. A great brown turkey in the centre with unctuous streams of gravy trickling from his sides, surrounded by a huge roast of beet, and a spare-rib that must have come from a prize hog: a flaky chicken-pie, big enough to have held twice the four-and-twenty black-birds of nursery renown, and a great platter of broiled venison, and all the interstices filled up with mounds of snowy potatoes, golden squash, mashed turnips, etc., etc.; to say nothing of such trifles as dishes of ruby cranberry sauce, quaking forms of jelley, piles of pickles-well, it's of no use at all to try to enumerate-why, all this was not much more than the beginning !

"Well, mother," said Grandpa Seymour, turning to the happy looking old lady by his side, when they were all fairly at work, amid a chorus of mer. ry voices and a great rattling of dishes, "don't you think you'll have to give up to Mollie as far as Thanksgiving dinner is concerned?"

"Well, I don't know," said grandmother, laughing. "Daughter has done pretty well; but then you know she was always quick to learn, and I have taken a great deal of pains to teach her how to be a good cook."

"That's right, mother, stand up for yourself!" said Mrs. James Seymour; "but though, of course, certainly outdone all the rest of us. Everything is splendid! But do tell me how you made such pickles? I never did see anything equal to them in the way of sourness !"

"They are whiskey-pickles, my dear," said Mrs. Morgan. "I think, myself, that no others are quite as good as they are. Try some of these brandied peaches; sister Jane put them up for me last mer, and they are very nice indeed."

At last the company ceased from their labor for few moments while dessert was brought in. Such an array of pies and puddings! UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AS Chartered by Congress, in 1868, with a capital of ompany doing a Life Insurance business exclusively Beside this immense capital, the Company have invested premium reserve to meet maturing Policies of seven indred and sixty-six thousand dollars, making their total sets to January 1st, 1881, one million seven hundred and xty-six thousand dollars. Their liabilities to same date vere $807,389, or in other words, they have more than two llars assets for every dollar of liabilities. This success owing to the facts that their business is conducted upon e only common sense plan-" so much insurance for so ich moncy"-and that the Company's financial manageent has been economical and cautious

In this Company there are none of the bewildering unainties and disappointments of "notes," "dividends," ce., &c., &c., which enter so largely into the business ans of Mutual Companies. The insured buy what they ay for-Insurance. They are not called upon to insure hers, but they are insured by the Company Instead of charging thirty per cent. more than is necesry to cover possible losses, the National charges the net ost of Insurance and risks its capital to cover any extra nortality. Mutual Companies MAY not need to use this xtra thirty per cent.; in that case it is returned to the oliev-holder and mis-called a "Dividend." The National nes not need any extra guarantee, its capital being sufcient, and consequently its rates are from 25 to 30 per gestion, Costiveness, &c. Prepared by ent, lower than those of Mutual Companies. The National's Policies are more liberal than any issued the Provinces, allowing residence or travel anywhere in perate climates. No extra Premiums, Policy-fees, rmits, or extra charges, except upon the half-dozen ocy-holders. All others are for "Policy-holders the lot a few large English Oaks, weigh

Also-A small lot of RED INK PENS, for Ruling, -do DECAUSE they preserve health, save time, save money, and the churning is all done in 5 or 10 minutes. You will then believe what I assure you is true, viz.: That I have for sale the best churn ever invented—Kitchen's Patent Rotary Double Dasher. This churn has two Dashers, each revolving in an opposite direction It is useless to attempt a description of this churn in an advertisement, it has to be seen to be appreciated. It is estimated by practical farmers that it will produce one-tenth more butter from the same quantity of cream than any other churn now in use The public are respectfully requested to call at my store, examine the article, and select for ELY PERKINS, Fredericton, April 23, 1870.
