"I PRESS TOWARD THE MARK."

FROM THE GERMAN. Ab, tell me not of gold and treasure, Of pomp and beauty here on earth! There's not a thing that gives me pleasure Of all the world displays for worth, Each heart will love and seek its own:

My goal is Christ, and Christ alone! In Him I find mine exultation, My fairest visions of delight; I feed mine eyes, mine expectation, On Him alone, my rest, my Light! Each heart will seek and love its own: My goal is Christ, and Christ alone!

The world and her pursuits will perish; Her beauty's fading like a flower; The brightest scheme the flesh can cherish Are but the pastimes of an hour. Each heart will seek and love its own: My goal is Christ, and Christ alone!

Against his tower there's no prevailing; His kingdom passes not away; His throne abides, despite assailing, From henceforth unto endless day. Each heart will seek and love its own: My goal is Christ, and Christ alone!

His riches are too vast to measure; His countenance is as the sun; Apart from Him there's naught of treasure; He is the Changeless, Living One. Each heart will seek and love its own; My goal is Christ, and Christ alone! However rough the road and dreary,

His glory marks me out the way; Howe'er in need, distressed and weary, His strength, His grace are as my day. Each heart will seek and love its own: My goal is Christ and Christ alone! And though a pilgrim I must wander, Still absent from the One I love, He soon will have me with Him yonder His own eternal joy to prove. Triumphantly I therefore own, Miscellancous.

My goal is Christ, and Christ alone!

"Well,-mother, mother!"

"What now, Jane?" "May I take down all the books from the shelves and put them up better? I know I can put them up right again. May I, mother?"

"Yes, you may; but do not talk to me now, because I am engaged." Jane went to work, making a great noise in taking down and putting up the books. Instead of clearing one shelf at a time, and filling it again before she cleared the next, she took down all the books at once, and as she stood on a chair to replace them, she must needs jump down for each parcel, as she set them up again.

"O, Jane!" her mother would now and then exclaim, as the volumes came tumbling upon the floor, "do be a little more careful, and try to make

"There, mother, just come and see how much better that looks," she would say, each time she had filled a shelf. If her mother did not attend at once, she would go on calling, " Mother, mother," until at last, becoming quite tired of being interrupted, her mother bade her leave the room as it was, and sit down to her sewing. Jane felt mortified and grieved at the reproof thus given, and could scarcely repress her tears. "Why, what is the matter, Jane?" said her mother, laying down her book, and seeing her sorrowful look. This question brought the tears at once into Jane's eyes.

"Why, mother," she answered, "I was putting the book-shelves to rights as well as I could, when you spoke to me, and-and I was going "-

"Well, you did them very well, and I should have been glad if you finished them, but you made so much bustle about it, and talked so much, that I could not go on with my reading. I have never spoken to you seriously about this fault, but it is one that you must try to overcome. You are a very lively, active little girl. I should be sorry if you were indolent and dull; but when you have anything to do, I wish you to do it with as little noise and bustle as possible. Now, I will show you the difference between the bustling and the quiet way of doing things. Let me see, what shall I do? O! there is the hearthrug which is out of order."

One edge of the rug was turned under, and Jane's mother walked to the fireplace, stooped down to the rug, and with one or two strokes of her hand spread it even, and smoothed out the fringe. "There, that is the quiet way of doing the thing;

now I will show you the bustling way."

Her mother then hurried to the fire place, pulled away the chairs that stood near, rattled the shovel and tongs, then turned over the rug in such a manner as to cause a great puff of smoke and dust from the fire, and then in the same fussy style spread it down again.

"That is the bustling way of doing it," said her mother, sweeping up the hearth, and brushing off the ashes that had settled upon the chimney piece. "Now I will show you how annoying it is for persons to talk and disturb others while they are engaged. Let us suppose that you have lost your it slowly, squeezing the lemon and adding more thimble, and that I am going to look after it for sugar as the acidity increases from being brought vou." POLITENESS THAT PAID.

" Commercial Mail and German News!" shouted, a ragged little fellow one afternoon lately, as he rushed through the street-car in which we had just taken a seat. " Commercial, sir?" said he, turning toward us, and planting a horribly muddy bare foot flat upon our newly polished boots. We felt provoked, and raised a hand to push the boy off, but he was too quick for us. Starting back he bowed politely, and in the blandest possible manner said, "Please excuse me, sir. I am really very sorry; I could't help it-that big gent shoved me. Tell us where your office is boss, I blacken mornings-call and shine 'em up for nothin'," sir." We were so much plaesed and struck with this display of ready politeness, and despite the dirt, his pleahim to call next morning. On the following morning a strange boy entered our office, with a blacking-box swung over his shoulder and a card in his hand. Said he, eyeing our boots, "be you the gent as give 'Tinsey' this ere card?" "Who is "Tinsey?" we asked. "The fellow that sloshed yer boots in the car last night. His mother's awful sick, and he's got to stay and mind his little sister. He says he's sorry he couldn't come and give ye's a shine himself; but 'Tinsey' and me often goes whacks; and I'll shine' em for you just the same free gratis for-nothing." This helped to confirm the good opinion we had formed of the news-boy, and so we asked boot black to tell "Tinsey," as he called him, that when in it was convenient for him, we should be pleased to have him call. Two or three days afterward "Tinsey" called, ragged and Prices, which gives Strangers and Persons Ordering b barefooted as before. Ayer's Cathartic Pills, for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the safest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which est, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the corruptions of the system expelled, obstructions removed and the whole machinery of life restored to its healthy activity. Internal organs which become clogged and sluggish are cleansed by Ayer's Pills, and stimulated into action. Thus incipient disease is changed into health, the value of which change, when reckoned on the vast multitudes who enjoy it, can hardly be computed. Their sugar coating makes them pleasant to take, and preserves their virtues unimpaired for any length of time, so that they are ever fresh, and perfectly reliable. Although searching, they are mild, and operate without disturbance to the constitution, or diet, or occupation.

Full directions are given on the wrapper to each box, how to use them as a Family Physic, and for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colie and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhoea, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back, and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints diseased. For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression, a large dose should be taken, as it produces the desired effect by symmetry. pathy.
As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and boweis, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "athousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The en-riched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints. and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and nvalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERU-

Th. de Saussure, and are now able to furnish some further details. Professor Soret, in delivering a most interesting report. passed in review the operations of the Industrial section, reference to Commerce, laying great stress upon the npetition that has taken place in the manufacture of ometers. This competition was instituted with the ject of testing the workmanship and precision of chronometers turned out by Genevese manufacturers, and none but those adopted for pocket use were admitted. They were deposited in charge of the authorities at the Observa-tory, and underwent the most searching ordeal possible to be applied to pocket instruments of this class. The jury specially retained to decide the difficult question as two eided in favor of Messrs. J. M. Badollet & Co. This firm having carried off the sole prize by exhibiting a chroometer which fulfilled in the highest degree every conlition required, crowned their first success by gaining nonorable mention for two other chronometers.
