NO MAN LIVETH TO HIMSELF. He was formed to be a social being. He has vidual constitutes a part of one great family, under the same head, bound by the same laws, and having one and the same purpose as the end of living. Thus situated and conditioned it becomes his duty, and should be his pleasure, to endeavour to promote the good of his fellowren, and thus render it a pleasure for them to live, and living a pleasure to himself. No man can live to the true pleasure of any man. That spirit which heart, and is no part of our original constitution as coming from the hand of the wise and beneficent Creator. ### A LESSON FOR CHRISTIANS.

Christians are not nearly so earnest in their efforts to stay the tide of iniquity that is sweeping away every day so many of their fellows. Why are they so careless ? Do they not see the ruin that is being done all about them? They cannot but know it; but they do not seem to feel the necessity of working to rescue crushed and dying from the power of the destroyer. A writer finds in the has attended it, a lesson for all Christians. He asks-what is the secret of their success?

The weapons of their warfare are few and simple, faith, prayer, importunity, backed by the might of an intense enthusiasm. But the secret of their conquests over one of the strongest ramparts of Satan's kingdom seems to me to consist in their piano, or any other musical instrument." profound conviction of the necessity of success.
