Six years extension of time is allowed, the first payment of principle to be in December, 1876, but the first payment of interest to be in December, 1875, a departure from the original plan. The smaller debts, such as temporary liens, wages, the lewett & Pitcher notes, are to be settled at once. It is a sin qua non on the part of the creditors of the business that the creditors on railway accounts shall give the same extension of time as they.do; and there is every reason to believe that this will be done. The splendid unencumbered estate which Messre. E. D. Jewett & Co. possess, and Friday. which they were enabled to place at the disposal of their creditors, greatly facilitated a settlement. It is understood that the properties used for stricty private proposes are left by the creditors as guns they were.
