> BOYS, LEARN TO DO THINGS. BY REV. ASA BULLARD,

Henry Bell was brought up on a farm. His "Why, Carrie, my darling what are you saying! Betsey did not like to have the ill mannered boys lather was a physician, but he had a large farm on gant books ever issued by the American press a litting which he worked more or less, when professional gift for lover or friend; an attractive or nament for the duties would allow, and he taught all of his seven boys to work; and not one of them, even those in essional life, has ever regretted this early train-

Henry, from his boyhood, had a great desire to do everything he saw any one else do. He liked spend his play hours with the tools in his father's shop, making hows and arrows, sleds, boxes, etc., which he learned to make very neatly. In those days each family had their boots and noes made at home. A shoemaker, or a cobbler, as he was then called, came with his bench on his houlder, and spent days, and even weeks, making all the boots and shoes of the family for a year, Those occasions were full of interest to Henry. He begged the privilege of going into the chamber. he marks they mark'—and so on everywhere—just with the shoemaker, and learning his trade. He very soon learned to peg and sew and make himself imes in after years, during his college vacations, IT when his knowledge and skill in mending old boots and shoes were of more use to the family than of ers and others that he is prepared to receive orders for

This knowing how to do things, which Henry so early learned, has been an unfailing source of pleasure, as well as a practical benefit, to him all his life. For the forty years he has had a home of his own, there has been scarcely a week, or even a day, when his knowing how to do things has not been of his service to him. decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into addivity, so that a inew growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sedicate ment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning grey or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only 5 benefit but not harm it If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, I nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume. Prepared by Dr. J. C.
