PERSONAL EFFORT.

There is something for every Christian to do. The Lord wants that thing done. The good of some soul depends on its being done. Is any one prepared to take the responsibility of failing to do what is required? A fearful responsibility surgly! every one there is work, and they who are faithful has his work to do. So has each tollower of Christ. From far and near the tidings come, "The Spirit of God is in our midst." Jesus of Nazareth is passing by. It is a time for Christians to be in earnest and win souls. Each one should see that his own heart is kindled afresh with the love that makes his uppermost thought and desire go out in prayer and effort for others. "How many," says Dr. Tyng, " are waiting for a kind word of sympathy and help. They only want your hand extended, and they are ready to be led to the Saviour. The days of seed-sowing and instruction have made ripe many souls for the Kingdom of God. It is good to meet in the great congregation; it is pleasant to see the increased interest and attendance at the prayer-meeting; but these are only helping hours for our work. Some one is waiting for us. It may be the members of our Sundayschool class. We ought to see every one of these and find just where they stand. Our duty is unaccomplished if we fail to press home upon them the need of a present decision.

Speak to your neighbor. You have often planned and helped each other in friendly ways regarding temporal matters, do not fail to let him know your anxiety regarding his spiritual interests. Are there young people in your community away from home and parental influence? Make it your duty and privilege to find them out. When Christians awake to such personal effort, then the day of the Lord is near. The door of mercy is ever open. It is given to us to speak the word of warning, and affectionately and prayerfully to lead dying men to it, that they may enter in and live."

THE GRACE OF GIVING.
