

Long Reach, on Saturday last. The woodcock had gone ashore, and the two men, in attempting to throw an anchor from a small boat, upset it and being unable to swim, both were drowned.

...The Eastport Standard learns that a meeting of the directors of the Shore Line Railroad will be held this week, to consider the question whether the construction of the road will go on, or whether the project will be abandoned.

...The body to be examined for inquest, as his life was threatened, and without this under the circumstances, his body cannot claim the privilege.

...The fire in the case originated in the box or enclosure, in which the shoes and clippings of the store were from time to time placed, and that such depositing of ashes in such a place, and in such a manner, was certainly not prudent, and exhibited, on our minds, great carelessness and negligence on the part of the occupiers of the building.
