Whatever you are, be frank, boys! "Tis better than money and rank, boys; Still cleave to the right, Be lovers of light,

Be open, above-board, and frank, boys. Whatever you are, be kind, boys! Be gentle in manners and mind, boys;

The man gentle in mien, Words, and temper, I ween, Is the gentleman truly refined, boys. But, whatever you are, be true, boys!

Be visible through and through, boys; Leave to others the shamming, The "greening" and "cramming," In fun, and in earnest, be true, boys! -Henry Downtown in Leisure Hour.

Cheer.

BY NORMAN MACLEOP, D.D.

Courage, brother! do not stumbie,' Though the path is dark as night; There's a star to guide the humblecust in God, and do the right.

Let the road be long and dreary, And its ending out of sight, Foot it bravely, never weary-Trust in God and do the right!

Perish policy and cunning; Perish all that fears the light; Whether losing, whether winning, Trust in God, and do the right!

Some will hate thee, some will love thee; Some will flatter, some will slight; Cease from man and look above thee-Trust in God, and do the right!

Simple rule and safest guiding, Inward peace and inward light; Stars above our path abiding-Trust in God, and do the right!

"Gather the Wheat into my Garner."

Where did'st thou reap to-day my soul? My soul, where did'st thou reap? The fields are ripe on either hand; The needy ones above the stand; The Christian may not sleep.

What hast thou reaped to-day my soul: Worthy the words "Well done?" A burden sweet of garnered sheaves, Or but a few dry, withered leaves, Marking thy "Harvest home?"

How hast thou reaved to-day my soul: How hast thou reaped to-day? The work is great, the field is wide, The faithful few are by thy side; Press on, and do not stay.

Would'st thou not reap, my soul, to-day? Would'st thou not bring the best? The day is long, the sun is high; Would'st thou, then, lay thy burden by And seek for ease, for rest?

Go find thy work, my soul to-day, And finding, do it well; Put in thy sickle, sharp and bright; Work on through all the morning light; When night comes you can tell?

Three Words of Strength.

There are three lessons I would write-Three words as with a burning pen, In tracings of eternal light Upon the hearts of men.

Have hope! Though clouds environ now, And gladness hides her face in scorn, Put thou the shadow from thy brow, No night but hath its morn.

Have faith! Where'er thy bark is driven-The calm's disport, the tempest's mirth-Know this-God rules the host of Heaven, Th' inhabitants of earth.

Have love! Not love alone for one, But man, as man, thy brothers call. And scatter, like the circling sun, Thy charities on all.

Thus grave these lessons on thy soul--Hope, faith, and love-and thou shalt find Strength when life's surges rudest roll, Light when thou else wert blind.
