THE RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCER

THE LOVE OF GOD.

Human affection is strong, human love devoted. When disease and suffering come to and prostrate their victims, to see a careworn, anxious face watching with sad weeping eye, the many changes of the sick one, ever ready to supply the least want, to alleviate the anguish and promote the happiness of the suffering one these things point to the devotedness of human affection, the strength and light in his holy service. power of human love. But what is all this comstill remained. And when, after ages, the world had become a vast theatre of iniquity, the unsearchable love of God was displayed in giving the promised Shiloh for a guilty, helpless race, a means of escape from his kindling anger—the Lamb to bear
